THE FORTY-SIXTH REPORT
OF
THE DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC
RECORDS.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY,

I RESPECTFULLY beg leave to submit to Your Majesty my Annual Report of the proceedings in the Public Record Office for the year 1884: pursuant to the Acts 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94., § 17, and 40 & 41 Vict. c. 55.

I. FAC-SIMILES OF NATIONAL MANUSCRIPTS, &c.,
BY PROCESS OF PHOTOZINCOGRAPHY, &c.

These operations have been continued during 1884, at the Ordnance Survey Office, Southampton, under the superintendence of Mr. William Basevi Sanders, an Assistant Keeper of Records; details will be found in Mr. Sanders's Report for 1884, submitted to Your Majesty in the Appendix I. to this Report (No. 3).

II. CALENDARS AND TRANSCRIPTS.

The progress in the Calendars in 1884 is also mentioned in § XI., and in Appendix I., No. 6.

A further portion of the Calendar of the Patent Rolls in this Office is submitted to Your Majesty (Appendix II., No. 2), being for the fifth year of Edward I., calendared by Mr. Frank Scott Haydon, an Assistant Keeper of Records.

In Appendix I., Nos. 1 and 2, are Lists of Presentations on the Patent Rolls of Charles II. to Bishopricks, Deaneries, Prebends, and other Religious Preferments, during his reign; compiled by Mr. Albert Thomas Watson, Superintendent of the Workmen of the Public Record Office. The List will be very useful to persons seeking for information of the nature described.

In my Forty-fifth Report to Your Majesty (§ II.) it is stated that the Third Part of the sixth Volume of Mr. Rawdon Brown's Calendar of the Venetian Records, was left unfinished at the time of the Editor's death (25 August 1883), but that arrangements had been made for its completion. The Volume has since been completed and published. In the same Report, it was stated that Mr. Brown had bequeathed by his Will to this Office a collection of manuscripts contained in 20 Portfolios and 156 bound Volumes; and that an English Inventory of these valuable Papers was in preparation. The Inventory has been made by Mr. Ernest George Atkinson, a Clerk in this Office, and is presented to Your Majesty in this Report (App. II., No. 3).

The Volumes of Calendars published in 1884 were:—

(1.) The Eleventh Volume of the Calendar of Domestic State Papers during the Commonwealth, edited by Mrs. Everett Green, extending from 1 June 1657 to 30 April 1658. Among the interesting events illustrated by documents in this Volume are the refusal by Cromwell of the kingship, and the ceremonial of his installation as Protector; the discontent of the army officers; the death and funeral of Admiral Blake; the creation of the new House of Lords; and the rising hopes of the exiled Royalists. Many new details are furnished of the lives led by the Princes Charles and James at foreign courts; while among the miscellaneous papers are many of great value for the student of social and local history.

(2.) The Sixth Volume of the Calendar of State Papers, Colonial Series, edited by Mr. W. Noel Sainsbury, of the Public Record Office, containing abstracts of documents dated between 1 January 1625 and 31 December 1629, relating to the East Indies, China, and Persia. Among important matters concerning that period here illustrated are the negotiations with Holland arising out of the massacre of Amboyna, and the vindictive feeling against the Dutch residents in London, which it was feared would lead to serious outbreaks; the sea fights between the Portuguese and the East India Company's ships; the depressed condition of the Company's affairs, necessitating a petition to Parliament for some kind of encouragement. The documents in this Volume concerning China are scanty, but those dealing with the development of English trade with Persia have a wide interest.

(3.) Part III. of the Sixth Volume of the Calendar of State Papers and Manuscripts relating to English affairs in the Archives of Venice, &c.; edited by the late Mr. Rawdon Brown. More than one-third of this Part is occupied by the Index to the entire Volume. The abstracts of documents contained in it range in date from 4 November 1557 to 24 December 1558; with an Appendix describing miscellaneous documents of various dates between 1363 and June 1557. Much of the correspondence in 1557 and 1558 is from the Venetian ambassadors in France, and at Rome and Brussels; there are also many valuable letters of Cardinal Pole.

Of the Calendar of Spanish Papers, Vol. V., Part I., was in the press, commencing with the year 1534.

The illness and death of Mr. H. S. Sweetman was mentioned to Your Majesty in my Forty-fifth Report (§ 2). It was also stated that Mr. Gustavus Frederick Handcock, a Clerk in this Department, had continued the Index to the Volume in progress at the time of Mr. Sweetman's death, and it is expected to be shortly completed at press.

Of the Calendar of State Papers printed for sale, three Volumes were published in 1884, making a total of 175 Volumes published; 356 copies of the series were sold in 1884, making the total number of Volumes sold amount to 14,948. The state of the Calendars at the end of 1884 will be found in the Appendix I. (No. 6).

Other operations in regard to Foreign Documents will be found in § IV.

III. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

Seven additional Volumes of this series were published in 1884, making a total of 186 Volumes already published; 1,600 Volumes were sold in that year, making a total of 42,262 Volumes sold. A list of those works published in 1884, and of those in progress at the end of 1884, is given in the Appendix I. (No. 7).

IV. RESEARCHES, &c., IN FOREIGN DOCUMENTS.

In addition to the operations previously mentioned on the Venetian and Spanish Documents, the following researches, &c., have taken place, during 1884, on Documents in Rome, Stockholm, Denmark, and Paris.

Rome.—Mr. William Henry Bliss has continued his researches in the Libraries and Secret Archives of Rome, and 22 bundles of valuable Transcripts have been received from him in 1884, which have been consulted by searchers in this Office. He has also made two Reports of his proceedings at Rome for 1884, annexed to this Report (Appendix I., No. 5).

Stockholm.—Mr. Bliss has also continued to make a complete examination and report on the collection of State Papers connected with English and Scottish affairs preserved among the Public Archives at Stockholm, during the period the Vatican Library was closed, and his proceedings thereon are mentioned in the above Reports.

Denmark.—The Rev. William Dunn Macray, M.A., Rector of Ducklington, Oxfordshire, has continued his researches among the Royal Archives at Copenhagen. His Second Report is annexed to this Report (App. II., No. 1).

Paris.—M. Armand Baschet continued his researches in the Public Libraries and Archives of Paris for Documents illustrating British History. A collection of Transcripts was received from M. Baschet at the end of the year 1884, of which a list is annexed to this Report (App. I., No. 4).

V. CANADIAN ARCHIVES.

Previous Reports relating to the Archives of Canada, with a statement of the Proceedings of Mr. Douglas Brymner, Archivist of the Dominion of Canada, have been received at this Office to 1883 inclusive, as mentioned in the Forty-fifth Report. The valuable series will doubtless be sent as published.

VI. THE ACT 40 & 41 VICT. c. 55.

The Inspecting Officers appointed for the purposes of the first section of this Act have continued their labours.

Under the Rules approved by Your Majesty in Council on the 25 July, 1882, three Schedules (Nos. 3, 4, and 5) of documents of Courts mentioned in the third section of the Public Record Office Act, 1838, have been laid before the two Houses of Parliament.

A Schedule (No. 3) of Valueless Documents, formerly in the Office of the Principal Secretary of the Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain, and in the Office of the Secretary of Causes of the Master of the Rolls, and now or lately existing or accruing in the Office of the Registrars of the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice, and described in the last Report as ready to be laid before both Houses of Parliament, has since been submitted to those Houses for the statutory period of four weeks.

A Schedule (No. 4) of Valueless Documents of the late Court of Common Pleas existing in the Public Record Office, also described in the last Report as nearly complete, has been finished and, in like manner, submitted to both Houses. The documents included in both these Schedules and of the dates therein mentioned (excepting such as are intermixed with others which require to be selected for preservation) have been handed over to the Controller of Your Majesty's Stationery Office for destruction.

A Schedule (No. 5) of Documents of Your Majesty's late Courts of Queen's Bench, Common Pleas, and Exchequer of Pleas, and of Your Majesty's High Court of Justice, in the Central Office of the Supreme Court of Judicature, was prepared, and, after approval by the Senior Master and Master Jenkins, was submitted to the Master of the Rolls and laid before both Houses of Parliament for the statutory period, and the documents await destruction.

Very great progress has been made in the examination of the documents of the Court of Exchequer of Pleas, and the materials to form a Schedule of the worthless amongst them have to a large extent been collected. After the examination is complete, a Schedule will be made which will be noticed in a succeeding Report.

In accordance with the first two of the Rules of the late Master of the Rolls, dated 11 August, 1882, and approved by Your Majesty in Council on 22 May, 1883, the following 10 Schedules of Valueless Documents in Departments of the Government have been laid before both Houses of Parliament for the statutory period of four weeks.

(1.) Of Documents existing or accruing in the Office of the Comptroller and Auditor General (including the Chancery Audit Branch).

(2 and 3.) Of Documents existing or accruing in the Office of the Commissioners of Customs, viz.:—First Schedule (applicable to London only) and Second Schedule (applicable to Outports of England and Wales only).

(4.) Of Documents existing or accruing in the Office of Your Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department.

(5.) Of Documents formerly in the Office of the Commissioners of Patents for Inventions, and now or lately existing or accruing in the Patent Office.

(6.) Of Documents existing or accruing in the Office of the Commissioners for executing the Office of Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

(7.) Of Documents formerly in the Office of the Paymaster of Exchequer Bills, and lately in the Office of Your Majesty's Paymaster-General, and of other Documents relating to Exchequer Bills in the Office of Your Majesty's Paymaster-General.

(8.) Of Documents existing or accruing in the Office of the Education Department.

(10.) Of Documents existing or accruing in the Office of the Board of Trade.

The Inspecting Officers have been assisted in the consideration of each of nine of these 10 Schedules by an Officer appointed for his special knowledge of the documents in his department, and in the case of the Patent Office by three Officers similarly chosen, viz.:—One for the Patent Office, one for the Trade Marks Registry, and one for the Designs Registry; and it is gratifying to have again to report that complete unanimity has in every case prevailed between the Inspecting Officers and the Officers joined with them from the other departments to carry out this work.

The amount of valueless documents of which the Public Record Office has been relieved during the year 1884 is ten and a half tons, and the different departments whose Schedules are above referred to have been and will be in like manner relieved of a much larger mass of useless material with which the Public Record Office might otherwise have been, at some future time, encumbered.

VII. FEES : GOVERNMENT AND OTHER BUSINESS, &c.

The amount of business in the Search Office, and of Fees received, in 1884, is as follows:—

1,150 Copies - - -	585	2	0
249 Attendances - - -	109	0	6
	£694	2	6

Amount of Stamp Duty on Office Copies, paid at the Public Record Office by Applicants in 1884, 15*l.* 16*s.*

The total amount of Fees received, and paid to the account of the Consolidated Fund, from 1840, is 32,674*l.* 0*s.* 3*d.*

The number of registered applications for Records in the Search Office by the Public, in 1884, was 40,044, not including the daily inquiries for information, answered and disposed of verbally. 27,744 membranes and leaves were stamped before their production to searchers. These are in addition to membranes and leaves already stamped, which were reproduced, making a total of 53,890 documents consulted by searchers in 1884.

The amount of work performed specially for Government Departments during 1884 is as follows:—

NUMBER of SEARCHES, INSPECTIONS, ISSUES, and RETURNS of GOVERNMENT PAPERS, for GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENTS, in 1884.

Departments.	Number of Searches or Applications.	Number of Inspections, Issues, Returns, &c.
Treasury - - - - -	113	1,276
Home Office - - - - -	30	303
Foreign Office - - - - -	230	673
Colonial Office - - - - -	1,197	2,266
War Office - - - - -	586	8,130
Admiralty (Whitehall) - - - - -	160	3,925
" (Registry) - - - - -	1	1
Lord Chamberlain's Office - - - - -	3	5
Paymaster General's Office - - - - -	2	12
Exchequer and Audit Department - - - - -	3	95
Patent Office - - - - -	117	117
Duchy of Lancaster - - - - -	3	11
Total - - - - -	2,445	16,814

The preceding table does not give an adequate idea of the business transacted in the Public Record Office for Government Departments. Searches for, and references to, the Documents wanted, often occupy many days; and long copies are frequently made for those Departments.

1,289 bundles and 12,559 books and papers have been stamped before transmission to Government Departments. These are not included in the number stamped for searchers previously stated.

As mentioned in the 45th Report (§ VII.), the Chancery Masters' Documents were removed from Southampton Buildings to seven houses in the Rolls Yard, part of the Public Record Office, in November and December 1881. 14 applications were made to inspect those Documents in 1884; delivery of papers was made to certain claimants; and 3l. 10s. 6d. received in fees. The Documents are being sorted, indexed, &c.

The assistance afforded to the Historical Manuscripts Commission has been continued (Forty-fifth Report, § VII.); some repairs of Documents for the Commission have been executed, and some copies made.

In the Fortieth Report (§ VI.) it is stated that Returns were in progress, for the Houses of Lords and Commons, of the names of Members returned to serve in Parliament. The Index to them has been continued, but is not completed.

VIII. TRANSFERS AND REMOVALS.

Transfers of Documents have been made into this Office during the year 1884 from the Privy Seal Office, Foreign Office, Admiralty, Admiralty Medical Department, War Office, Royal Courts of Justice, Treasury, and Treasury Solicitor's Office; from Charles Bevan, Esq., and John Romilly, Esq.; also 36 volumes from the General Register Office, Somerset House, for safe custody only; amounting to 454 rolls, 1,560 volumes, 2,339 bundles, parcels, portfolios, &c.

IX. ARRANGEMENT, REPAIRS, BINDING, AND SIMILAR OPERATIONS.

The important duties of repairing and arranging the Records have been carried on in the usual manner during the year 1884; 6,423 bundles, &c., have been arranged; 78 bundles and 3,348 membranes and leaves have been flattened; 36 membranes and 16,019 leaves guarded; 638 membranes and 10,118 leaves repaired; 934 membranes, 16,029 leaves, and 15 volumes sewed; 15,811 leaves repaired by the process of sizing; 16,242 bundles, membranes, and leaves numbered; 27,744 documents stamped; 15,988 leaves collated; 1,330 volumes and bundles tied up; 196 rolls, 63 bundles, volumes, and portfolios, and 710 documents ticketed; 50 bundles and 15 membranes dusted; Papers incorporated with series to which they belong; 277 volumes bound, bindings repaired, &c.; slips of Indexes, &c., arranged alphabetically, &c.; lists of documents made, stitched, &c.

No. 3.—MR. SANDERS' ANNUAL REPORT, for 1884, on FAC-SIMILES of ANGLO-SAXON CHARTERS, &c., photozincographed at the Ordnance Survey Office, Southampton.

Ordnance Survey Office, Southampton,

June 18, 1885.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to submit to you the following Report upon the work performed at this office under my superintendence during the past year.

In my last Report I stated that the Third Part of the series of fac-similes of Anglo-Saxon MSS., containing those in the Ashburnham Collection, was in progress, and I have now to report that it was completed by the end of the year.

While this volume was in hand, I received from Major-General Wrottesley two Anglo-Saxon charters from the Muniment Room at Beaudesert for my opinion, and being very valuable specimens of their class, I obtained Lord Anglesey's permission to have them added to the volume, if the Treasury should think fit to sanction the addition, which their Lordships were pleased to do. These charters are as follows:—No. I.—A grant by King Eadwig in 956 to his thane Eadwig of eight hides of land in Brantestone. Witnessed by the King, the Ætheling Eadgar, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishops of Winchester, Ramsbury, London, and Selsey, six dukes, and six thanes.

Brantestone, I presume, is the present Branston near Burton-upon-Trent, to the abbey of which Brantestone is recorded in Domesday Book to have belonged at the time of the survey, previous to which it had been the property of the Countess Godeva. The boundaries of the estate granted are, as usual, full of local interest. They start from the "Stodfald," the fold or enclosure for the keeping of stallions or perhaps of colts, the word "stoud" being still in use to represent a colt, and mention the pit, the shard-barrow, the stone-barrow, the soult-barrow, and the rough-low, which has much the same meaning as barrow, and shard-barrow is perhaps the same as Shardlow, a well known place among many other lows in Derbyshire. The Lime is also mentioned, down which the boundary line proceeds till it comes to the "wiliabys," and if this may be taken for the Trent River, just about the place indicated are still to be found the willow or osier, which not improbably this word indicates. In the older maps of this part of the county the "Barrows Field" is still shown, as well as coal pits, probably of great antiquity.

This charter is not printed in either the Codex or Diplomatarium, or quoted by Wanley. Latin and Saxon.

No. II.—King Æthelred's charter to Burton Abbey in 1004. Witnessed by the King and his five sons, Æthelstan, Ecgbright, Eadmund, Eadwig, and Eadgar; the two Archbishops; the bishops of Winchester, London, Wells, Sherborne, Dorchester, Selsey, Rochester, Elmham, Lichfield, and Lindsey; twelve abbots, three dukes, and twenty thanes.

Following the charter, and on the same skin, is the testament of Wulfric "of noble lineage," the great benefactor of the abbey, with its large endowments, written entirely in Anglo-Saxon.

Upon the dorse are three inscriptions, one of them being a list of the abbey possessions as recorded in Domesday Book, and written in the same characters, a little magnified, and in the same style as that employed in the Great Survey. I think it not unlikely that it may be the original description of the abbey lands obtained for King William's Commissioners. In another, which is an extent of places within the hundred of Offlow, is this curious entry—"Ridepare þe þe reste"—recording, I suppose, the burial place of Wulfric, the founder of the abbey. The charter is rather profusely adorned with gilded and painted letters, and must, at one time, have been a handsome specimen of its kind, but it is now crumbling to dust, and its gay colours have faded nearly away. Its handwriting is very good. The proem with which the charter commences is one of much interest, and is worthy to be the composition of Archbishop Ælfric, as he states it to have been in his attestation. It displays marks of continental learning, which the Saxon scribe has, as usual, done his best to deform or conceal, and the Latinity of the copy in the Burton Register is better preserved than that of the charter itself, portions of which are irreducible to grammar and portions reduced to nonsense, as in the case of "invida fraude venti" for "invidia fraudulententi"—"ipsa prophetam" for "ipse prophetavit"—"paterna dextera throni" for "paterni dextera throni." The compound word "verbigena," born of the word, applied to Christ, seems to have been a coinage of Prudentius.

This charter is not mentioned by Wanley, and Hickes had evidently never seen it, or he would have included so fine a specimen among his list of those "confectæ rubris aureisve literis," whose genuineness he assails. Wanley, in the preface to his catalogue, speaks of the Burton Register as being one of the few Saxon MSS. not included in it, for the reason—a curiously sounding one at the present day—that the register being kept in the Beaudesert Library, and he, himself, living in London, he had been unable to make use of it.

The charter is printed in the Codex No. DCCX. from the new Monasticon, and the testament, by itself, No. MCCXCVIII., also from the Monasticon and the Burton Register. The charter does not appear in the Diplomatarium, but the testament does from the same sources. Copies of both, said to be of the 13th century, exist also among the manuscripts belonging to Mr. Wynne, of Peniarth. It is unnecessary, perhaps, to say that the very valuable and curious endorsements are not included in any of the copies mentioned above. Latin and Saxon.

A fresh edition of 100 copies of the fac-simile of Magna Charta, making in all 1,200 copies issued, has been printed, and 1,000 copies of the portion of Domesday Book relating to Sussex have been supplied to the Royal Archæological Society of that county.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

(Signed) WILLIAM BASEVI SANDERS,

Assistant Keeper of Her Majesty's Records.

Sir William Hardy,

Deputy Keeper of Her Majesty's Records.

 No. 5.—REPORTS OF MR. W. H. BLISS TO THE MASTER OF THE ROLLS FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 1884.

(5a.) For the half-year ending 30 June 1884.

(5b.) For the half-year ending 31 December 1884.

(5a.)

MY LORD,

Rome, June 30, 1884.

I HAVE the honour to inform your Lordship that during the past six months nine parcels have been sent to the Public Record Office containing about 250 transcripts.

Of these, several are of the year 1605; about 30 by Luke Wadding during the years 1640 to 1645; and above 40 of the correspondence between George Con and Card. Barberini in 1636. A few papers from the Archives of Propaganda Fide, and nearly 100 from the Archivio Vaticano of the 16th and 17th centuries.

There have been also sent some papers from the Archivio di Stato di Roma containing 280 abstracts of documents of Alexander VI., 1494 to 1503; a list of Dataries, 1459 to 1605, and several papers from Perugia in continuation of those sent last year.

I have begun to examine the volumes of the Spanish Nuntiature, and find several Ridolphi papers, which are being copied, and a considerable number of letters from the Nuncio that relate to English affairs in the latter half of the 16th century.

The work of copying papers in the Royal State Archives at Stockholm goes on, and up to the present time about 150 transcripts have been made.

I do not know whether it has been your Lordship's intention to have researches made in the Archives of Florence; but as in a former report I have mentioned what I found among the Farnese papers in Naples, so now I beg respectfully to submit to your Lordship that in the Torrigiani and Strozzi collections are to be found a very large number of diplomatic papers; and these are only two of a number of collections that are known to contain documents that would yield a plentiful return to the labour of examining them.

As Florence is only a few hours distant from Rome, and the vacations there are much shorter than those of the Vatican, it would be not difficult for me to employ some of my unoccupied time in examining the Archives of that City, should your Lordship think fit to authorise me to do so.

I beg to enclose for your Lordship's perusal a memorandum that I drew up six months ago relating to the Vatican collections, with special reference to complaints which had been made by some persons that the Pope's recent removal of the restrictions that formerly existed was practically of no effect, complaints that appeared to me to be unfounded.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's obedient humble servant,

The Right Honourable
The Master of the Rolls.

No. 5.—Reports of Mr. Bliss to the Master of the Rolls for the year 1884—continued.

INCLOSURE to No. (5a.)

Memorandum.

December 1883.

The Vatican Library is a collection of manuscripts which have been used by scholars of all nations, and denied to no one who came with a proper introduction, and, having stated what was the object of his research, kept to it. The Vatican Archives are as distinct from the library as are the Archives of the English Foreign Office from the manuscript department of the British Museum; and if until eleven years ago no Englishman entered the Archives with the permission of the Pope, the freedom enjoyed by scores of persons during the past four years in searching the Archives is not less than that permitted by the Government of any European State to those who wish to examine their diplomatic records.

In five or six rooms of the Vatican Palace are kept various collections of printed books and engravings which have either been presented to or collected by the Popes of comparatively recent times. These do not form, nor have formed, part of the Vatican Library.

These collections, which are not very large, have been during seven or eight years past arranged and partly catalogued. This work is not yet completed, and when it is, it will rest with the Pope either to make these volumes part of the Vatican Library or to treat them as a separate department.

It will be readily understood that although the present Pope is doing what he can to provide a staff, neither for the Library nor for the Archives are the resources at his command enough to enable him to keep a number of assistants or attendants commensurate with the extent of the collections; but so far as is possible, any student who comes with a straightforward purpose, and declares it, and keeps to it, is permitted to examine any papers he asks for.

The Vatican Library is not and never has been a national institution supported by the taxation of the people, nor are the Vatican Archives in any sense a Public Record Office. If the Archives have a parallel in England or in other countries it is in the Archives of the Foreign Office.

Many readers come to the Archives asking for one document, or set of documents, and having got it proceed to extend their research under cover of their original demand. Others send for a dozen or twenty volumes in succession during a forenoon, thereby overtaxing the powers of the limited number of attendants; in short, not a few, having obtained access to the Library or to the Archives, give proof that their object was rather to satisfy curiosity than to make research.

The Marini transcripts in the British Museum, and those made during the last ten years for the Public Record Office, go some way towards showing what there may be in the Archives relating to English history. Not many Popes have received such favours from England as to induce them to be specially liberal in opening their Archives to Englishmen, but as a fact Englishmen have received permission to make research that has been denied to others.

The appointment of F. Tosti and of a German Dominican to be, the former vice-archivist, and the latter sub-archivist, is a proof that the freedom of historical research is kept in view by the Pope; and it is to be wished that those scholars and historians who have not made the experiment of gaining access to the Archives should put themselves in the way of doing so.

MY LORD,

I HAVE the honour to inform your Lordship that during the past seven months seven parcels have been sent by me from Rome to the Public Record Office, containing 251 papers and 1,220 abstracts of documents from the Papal Regesta and Archivio di Stato di Roma, making a total for the year of 16 parcels, containing 501 papers, and 1,500 abstracts of documents.

In my report made last June, I notified to your Lordship some of the more important papers sent during the early part of the year, and I now have to mention specially the correspondence between Spain and Rome during the years 1568 to 1577, when the questions of raising money and providing equipments for the invasion of England were discussed between the King of Spain and the Pope. There seems to have been some reluctance on either part to meet the sum proposed by the other with an equivalent amount, and this, added to the difficulty of finding a suitable commander of the expedition, delayed the enterprise.

No. 5.—Reports of Mr. Bliss to the Master of the Rolls for the year 1884—continued.

In one or two of the letters is some scandal about Queen Elizabeth, but this is probably no more than a repetition of current conversation in England by those, such as Allen and Sanders, who were dissatisfied with the course of events in that country.

In one of these letters it is pointed out by the Nuntio that as Pius V. did not deprive Queen Elizabeth of the Kingdom of Ireland, but only of that of England, it will be necessary to deprive her of Ireland also; the title of Kingdom of Ireland that had been assumed by Henry VIII., in place of that of dominion, having been confirmed by Paul IV. during the reign of Queen Mary. It may be that the loyalty and orderliness of the Irish is due to the fact that the Queen was not deprived by the Pope of that portion of her realm.

The series of letters from the volumes of the Brussels Nuntiature during the years 1603, 1604, 1605, is also of considerable interest, and a few papers from the German Nuntiature of 1553 are worth notice.

The abstracts of documents from the Regesta of John XXII., of Benedict XII., and of the pseudo Pope Nicholas V. will be useful to those who wish to understand the nature of the relations between England and Rome at that time. It is to be hoped that students and writers of the history of the Papacy during the two centuries immediately preceding the change of religion in England will avail themselves, not only of these abstracts, that form an index to the documents which should be consulted by them, but also of the facilities now open to them of obtaining copies in extenso of those papers that they may wish to examine in detail. Such copies could be made by themselves in the Archives, or by copyists under my direction, on my receiving through the Public Record Office notification of the documents required.

Besides the above-mentioned papers from Rome, I have sent from the Royal State Archives at Stockholm during the past six months three parcels containing 75 letters, chiefly of the latter part of the 18th century. Many of these are of value in giving information of the foreign policy of England during the years just before the French Revolution. With regard to documents relating to Wiclif, I am informed by the Vatican archivists that there are none in the Vatican Archives, except the formal decrees of condemnation of his doctrines. It is certain that in the Archives of the Inquisition something is to be found, but it is so nearly impossible to get access to these Archives that I have little hope of succeeding. I have taken such steps as on consideration seem to me to be best calculated to effect my object, but I think that unless I were to apply as a person who wished to write a controversial book on Wiclif the admission would not be granted. As this is not only not my purpose, but as it is also contrary to my instructions, as agent to the Public Record Office, to connect myself with controversies of doctrine, I think that the Wiclif papers, so far as I am concerned, must be let alone.

Soon after I got to Rome, in October, I was informed by the Cardinal Archivist, with many courteous expressions of personal regret, and appreciation of my work in the Archives, that under the new regulations just issued by the Pope relating to the Vatican Archives, no one, under pain of excommunication, except members of the staff, which has lately been increased, could be permitted to sit in the upper rooms, and that therefore he must request me to take a place amongst the other readers in the room prepared for them four years ago by the present Pope. I of course at once acceded to the request of his Eminence, after I had pointed out that having had the permission of Pius IX., confirmed to me by Leo XIII., I did not consider that the new regulations applied to me, and have had a seat assigned to me in the general reading room. This room is not very dry or well ventilated, and some of the readers have suffered from the damp and closeness in past years, but as I shall be no worse off than they are, and for seven years have been much better off, I cannot complain.

I may take this occasion to assure your Lordship that though the fear of cholera has apparently deterred many persons from coming to Italy this autumn, it is difficult to discover adequate grounds for their fear. Since I have been in Rome, I have seen no reason to be alarmed. Dangers generally seem greater when viewed from a distance, and while it is true that some half-educated people in Italy have exhibited results of an unreasonable panic, a sense of duty, which has borne such good fruits in the infected districts, appears to be implanted in the great majority of the inhabitants, and has caused them, from the highest to the lowest, to set an example that is not unworthy to be followed by Englishmen.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's obedient humble servant,

APPENDIX II.

NO. I.—SECOND REPORT ON THE ROYAL ARCHIVES OF DENMARK, AND REPORT ON THE ROYAL LIBRARY AT COPENHAGEN.—By the Rev. WILLIAM DUNN MACRAY, M.A., Rector of Ducklington, Oxfordshire.

To the Right Honourable the Master of the Rolls.

MY LORD,

September 8, 1884.

I HAVE the honour to submit to you the report of my further examination of the papers bearing upon our national history which are preserved in the Royal Archives at Copenhagen. It is the record of one month's work (from June 16 to July 16 in the present year) spent upon English papers chiefly of the reign of James I., and upon Scottish papers up to the year 1550.

The following pages contain—

I. A calendar of 155 original letters from James I. (with a few other papers), being his correspondence with his brother-in-law, Christian IV. These illustrate alike commercial and political relations. With regard to the former, they show that the acrimonious disputes which prevailed in the latter part of Elizabeth's reign were gradually subsiding, through the more accurate defining of rights and concessions, as well as by the influence of affinity. But one paper, dated 26 April 1616, is particularly interesting, as embodying a claim on the part of England to Greenland by right of discovery, and as containing an outline of the history of Arctic voyages drawn up from original log-books of Davis and others.* And the claim appears to have been in some sort admitted, for in 1621 we find James granting permission for Danish subjects to participate in the Greenland fishery. In political affairs the King's anxiety for the preservation of peace in Europe is frequently manifested, as well as the poverty of his Exchequer, which rendered him little prepared for war, and unable to give assistance at last to his son-in-law in the Palatinate except by money borrowed from Denmark, on which he was even unable to pay the interest. It appears by a letter from Prince Charles, of 21 March 1620, that it was on his application that the loan was granted; and in consideration of this, we find the Prince two years later proffering himself as security for repayment. But the King's pleasures occupy, notwithstanding, a large share of his correspondence. Every year we find him sending agents to procure hawks and falcons, and sometimes deer, the former being chiefly procured from Iceland and from the neighbourhood of Malmö. One letter alone in the whole series is holograph, and this I have copied in full. It relates to a threat on the part of the United Provinces (—the Provinces, says the King, being the people, that is, a many-headed beast, who care for nothing but freedom and their advantage in commerce—) of war against Denmark in behalf of Sweden, on account of the vexatious tolls imposed upon merchandise.

II. King James's letters are followed by a list of 75 letters from his wife to her brother, Christian IV., to the Chancellor of Denmark, and the ambassador Charisius. These do not, as a rule, appear to contain much of general interest; but they seem to show that the Queen's heart was more in Denmark than in England, and that the melancholy which clouded her later years was slowly advancing at an earlier period. Her brother's concern at this, the result, he says, of a solitary and silent life, is shown in a letter expressing great solicitude written in the very month of her death.

* A draft of a similar outline, in English, drawn up specially with reference to Dutch encroachments, in which the narrative is continued to 1613, is found in the Record Office among the Domestic Papers of the reign of James I. under date of 28 March 1614.

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

III. From Prince Henry of Wales there are 13 letters (of which two are holographs) of ordinary character, and 19 from Prince Charles, who appears to have been a favourite with his uncle. One of these (holograph), written on his arrival at Madrid, describes briefly the speed of his journey and the splendour of his reception, and by an amusing mistake in spelling, supposably in the hurry of writing, entirely inverts the meaning of one sentence. Ten letters follow from their sister, Elizabeth of Bohemia, the whole of whose correspondence (being found in one parcel) I have noted, down to the period of the Restoration.

IV. From a series of official copy-books of the letters of the Kings of Denmark I have compiled a list of those which were written to England and Scotland from 1564 to 1624, excepting, however, the years 1600–1615, for which no register exists. Amongst these letters are found, of course, many connected with the correspondence of Queen Elizabeth calendared in last year's Report, but no reply occurs to that which bore the news of the death of Queen Mary of Scotland. One letter from Fred. II. in 1585 contains a complaint that cloth manufactured expressly in London for his hunting liveries is being imitated and sold publicly to foolish persons emulous of the distinction of wearing royal colours and patterns. The complimentary correspondence of Christian IV. with English noblemen, whose acquaintance he made on his visits to England, is wide and frequent. In the Scottish portion of Frederick's letters we have several relating to his attempt to redeem the Orkneys for Denmark, and others concerning the Capt. John Clerk who was engaged in the prosecution of Bothwell, and who died in a Danish prison.

V. These Royal Letters are followed by a Calendar of Miscellaneous English Correspondence during the reign of James I., chiefly with Christian IV., including two or three earlier papers which had escaped notice before, and a few later ones, to 1628, which were mixed with the others. Amongst those which are specially noticeable are:—a letter from Arabella Stuart; seven letters from Archbishop Abbot, in the last of which his joy and thankfulness at the breaking off of the Spanish match are expressed in the strongest terms; a letter from the Earl of Thomond about the exportation of marble from Ireland for building; four letters from Bacon, in one of which, while complaining of the pressure of business with which he is well-nigh overwhelmed, he adds the characteristic words, “officia vitæ sunt mihi vitâ ipsâ longe potiora”; various letters from Buckingham, and letters relating to the levy of troops in England and Scotland for service in Denmark.

VI. From the English papers I turned at the end of the reign of James I. to the Scottish. These are of great extent and interest, and the portion which I have been able to calendar extends from 1460 to 1550. The earlier of these, from 1505 to 1512, are printed in the valuable series of documents included in the Annual Reports issued under the late Keeper of the Danish Archives, Mr. Wegener, a series but little known, I believe, in England. Amongst those that precede these, however, is one from King John, which attributes the death of Queen Margaret of Scotland in 1487 to poison administered by Ramsay, the first Lord Bothwell. In 1505 we have the original of the curious letter on behalf of the King of the Gipsies, of which a varying version has been printed from MSS. in the British Museum and Advocates' Library by Mr. Gairdner in his *Letters and Papers illustrative of the reigns of Rich. III. and Hen. VII. In 1508 there is a vindication of a Scottish ambassador, the Dean of Glasgow, against a charge of slandering the Danish ladies by the report he took back to Scotland. The Duke of Albany's regency is illustrated by letters from himself, Archbishops Forman and Beaton, Rob. Barton (whose brother Andrew is frequently mentioned in earlier letters), and others. Up to the year 1540 there are 11 letters from James V., while in the short interval between 1544 and 1550 there are six letters from Queen Mary of Guise, 12 from the Earl of Arran, and two from the Earl of Rothes, of which, with the rest, I have given full abstracts, and, in some instances, copies at length, or large quotations. From 1550 onwards there is a large number of papers for future examination relating to the history of Queen Mary; many of these have been printed (chiefly in Danish publications), but some, I believe, have not been as yet described. They will require more care and labour than most of the other documents, for many are in bad condition, and do not appear (on casual inspection) to be equally legible with the majority of the papers which have hitherto passed through my hands.

In the next period of English history there is a long series of letters from Charles I., with many other papers of the time.

* The correspondence of James IV. printed in this volume should be examined in connexion with the letters here calendared.

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.

Finding that the Royal Library was open for one hour longer in the day than the Archives, I availed myself of the opportunity thus afforded for examining the MSS. there. By the kindness of Dr. Brün, the Librarian, and Mr. Larsen, I was enabled, during my visits of the last and present year, to make a thorough examination of the various catalogues (some in print, but those of by far the larger portion, specially the Old and New Royal collections, only in MS.), and to see everything which appeared to me to be worth notice with regard to my subject. And I subjoin a chronological list of the volumes and papers, which will be found to contain much of interest. I will not prolong this Report by specifying details, but will only mention in particular the short annals of the Priory of Lewes, the volume relating to the Mint at the beginning of the 16th century, the Irish poems, and the many interesting volumes of travels in England.

The total number of documents examined in the Royal Archives at this visit has been about 1,200, with 132 volumes and papers in the Royal Library.

Where not otherwise described, it may be taken as the rule that the papers are in Latin.

I have, in conclusion, to repeat the expression of my acknowledgments for the courtesy with which, as in the last year, so in the present, all my inquiries have been met and facilitated.

I have the honour to be,
My Lord,
Your most obedient servant,

"R. Haff., 10 Julii."

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.Letters of James I.

1603. Same date. To the Queen of Denmark, by the same, on the same occasion. As painters in a small picture can represent wide regions, so he begs her to see his extreme good-will comprised in but a few words. [22 b.]
1603. 8 Aug. Hampton. To Christ. IV. Thanks him for the congratulations brought by his ambassadors, Christ. Friis, Chanc. of Denmark, and Hen. Below, who happily came in time to be present at his coronation. [22 b.]
“R. Haff, 22 August.”
1603. 17 Sept. Woodstock. To the same. Takes such pleasure in hawking that he will be greatly gratified by the gift of some hawks. He had this gratification afforded him while in Scotland; will now welcome the opportunity for proving whether the Scottish or English climate agrees best with hawks. [22 b.]
“R. Flensburg, 15 Oct.”
1603. 1 Oct. Hatfield. Inspeximus of the letters patent, dated at Hatfield, 19 Sept., of the grant of dowry to Queen Anne. “Examinatur per me, T. Ellesmere, Canc.” [25 b.]
Great seal perfect.
1603. 6 Dec. Wilton. To Christ. IV. Has assigned an ample dowry to the Queen. Has not been able yet to reply to the answer made to the requests of the merchants, on account of the prevalence of the plague, which has compelled him to remove to a distance from London. Rejoices to hear that the city of Hamburg has, with common consent, submitted itself to the authority of the King of Denmark. [22 b.]
- 1603[-4]. 18 March. Westm. To the same. Begs him to grant license to Rob. Lacy and Will. Angel to send each one ship annually to Iceland for fishing. [22 b.] “R. Cronenburg, 3 Aug.”
1604. 20 Apr. Westm. To the same. Sends Sir Francis Darcey with the promised horses, viz., four “gradarios sive asturcones (ut appellantur) ex eorum “numero quos insigni specie mollique gressu maxime commendatos habemus,” and two “grandiores sive cataphractarios.” [22 b.]
“R. Cronenburg, 3 August.”
1604. 3 May. Westm. To the same. Requests him to send some one as his deputy for investiture with the Garter; and at the same time to send some properly qualified persons to treat of the disputes long agitated between their respective subjects. [22 b.]
“R. Cronenburg, 7 August.”
1604. 20 Oct. Westm. To the same. Sends a copy of the treaty lately made with the King of Spain. Has done his utmost to satisfy the request which he made through Andrew Sinclair for the transfer of the English merchants’ settlement from Stade to Hamburg, but the enclosed petition will show that he has failed, and he cannot compel the merchants to move against their will.
- Enclosures:*
- i. Petition (in English) to James I. from the English merchants “trading in Stoade,” setting forth the preferableness of that city to Hamburg for their residence, as being two tides’ sailing nearer the sea, while the river is not so much liable to frost there, and as being easier for land-carriage to Germany, &c. Signed, Sam. Robinson.
 - ii. The same translated into German.
1604. 24 Nov. 1604. To the same. Recommends the bearer, Sir John Poley, as one well-skilled in war, and as one who for many years served Christian’s father and maternal grandfather, to succeed in his service Sir William Stuart, who (—“virum sane præstantem, fide et observantia nobis probatum, reique “militaris laude insignem”—) has lately died. [22 b.]
“R. Coronæburg, 27 Jan. 1605.”
1605. 26 Jan. [N.S.] Westm. To the same, representing the case of Andrew Forret and David Lermond, of St. Andrew’s, whose ship, built by themselves in Norway, has been seized under the pretended authority of the King of Denmark. [22 b.]
“R. Haffn., 7 Maii 1605.”

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.Letters of James I.

1605. 7 Apr. Greenwich. To the same, on behalf of Will. Shawe, of York, a cargo of whose woollen goods, in value 220*l.*, had been confiscated some years before. [22 b.] “Prod. Haffn., 9 Julii.”
1605. 9 Apr. Greenwich. To the same, with the news of the birth of “bellissimam filiolum.” [22 b.]
1605. 27 May. Westm. Two copies of letters patent granting to Ulric, Bishop of Schleswig, brother-in-law to James I., lately created Knight of the Garter, an annual pension of 2,000*l.*, equal to 10,000 German thalers.
The Danish transcriber being (very pardonably) unable to read the contraction of the word “Scaccarii,” at first in one copy wrote it as “serenissimi,” in the other “secreti,” and then struck out both words, and copied the contracted form thus : “($\frac{\bar{u}}{\text{cccj}}$.”
1605. 29 May. Greenwich. To Christian IV. Will license the purchase and transmission of a ship to him as requested, although to any other prince he would not willingly allow the sale of large vessels. To his other request, for the free exportation of woollen cloths, he is unable to accede, since the customs-duties are farmed out to certain persons whom he cannot deprive of their due receipts. [22 b.]
1605. Same date. To the same. Received the letter brought to him last year by the bearer, Melchior van Loben, whom, however, he cannot employ in military service, because, by God’s gift, such is the state of peace of affairs now that many soldiers who were employed in the late wars are necessarily disbanded. [22 b.]
“Exhib. Wolfferb., 22 Jan. 1606.”
1605. 10 June. Greenwich. To Christ. Friis, Chanc. of Denmark, recommending the law suit of James Durham against a certain widow, about which he had written twice before. [23.]
“Redditæ Hafn., 29 Julii.”
1605. Same date. To Christ. IV., for the third time about the same case ; has charged Andrew Sinclair to become bail for Durham. [22 b.]
1605. 20 July. Westm. To the same, accrediting Henry Belou. His wife has entirely recovered from her child-birth, and his children are all well. [22 b.]
1605. 25 Aug. Woodstock. To the same. The ambassador of Albert, Archduke of Austria, has communicated the desire of the Princes of the Empire to elect a King of the Romans to assist the Emperor against the Turks, and has urged him to support the election of some one of the House of Austria. States the considerations which should influence the election, and desires the opinion thereon of the King of Denmark. [23.]
1605. 3 Sept. Windsor. To the same, on behalf of John Arnot, merchant, Vice-Treasurer of Scotland, with relation to a ship laden with merchandise which was bought for him by his agent Richard White at Bergen, but which has been unjustly seized. [22 b.]
“Prod. Haff., 21 Apr. 1606.”
1605. 24 Sept. Hampton. To the same. Henry Ramel (who has been invested with the Garter as the King’s proxy) has conferred with him and the Council on the grievances of the English merchants, although not empowered to discuss them authoritatively ; will send full replies shortly, but meanwhile begs for kindly dealing with those who are employed in the fisheries. [23.]
1605. 11 Nov. Westm. To the same, communicating intelligence of the discovery of the Gunpowder Plot, and enclosing a full narrative. Signed. [22 b.]
“Exhibitæ Wolfenbyti, 15 die Jan. 1606.”

The narrative (which fills five folio pages) contains only the well-known particulars. It ends with the following paragraphs:—

“Confitetur [Fauxius] etiam hos omnes conspiratores eodem die quo hæc tragedia ageretur per alios ejusdem confederationis socios, Elizabetham filiam Regis ætate maximam, quæ tunc temporis in ædibus Baronis Harington in com. Warwici degebat, interciperi cogitasse, et in animo habuisse eam Reginam Angliæ, Scotiæ, Franciæ et Hiberniæ promulgare, et in hunc finem excogitârant et paratam apud se habuerant formulam quandam edicti publici ; in quo tamen edicto nulla mentio facienda erat innovandæ Religionis Catholicæ Romanæ, quin imo et scelus hoc perpetratum facinusque horrendum publice detestari primo decretum illis erat usquedum satis virium adesse sibi animadverterent, tum demum utrumque facturos, Religionem nempe mutaturos, et facinus hoc tanquam justum et meritorium in se suscepturos.

“Sæpius quoque inibant consilia quo stratagemate Carolum ducem, secundum Regis filium, in manus arriperent, sed quia prope Lond. vixit, ubi fautores sibi satis virium ad hoc perficiendum deesse animadvertabant, desistebant ab hoc incepto, et quia etiam putabant perinde in rem suam fore si Elizabetha filia potirentur.”

This reference to Prince Charles is not found in the printed Narratio about the Plot; but mention is twice made there of the intention to include him, as the infant Duke [of York], in the general destruction.

1605[–6]. 9 Jan. [O.S.] Westm. To the same. Having been intreated by Henry Ramel, Christian’s late ambassador, to obtain relief from the King of Spain for the Danish merchants trading into Spain, with regard to the heavy duty of 30 per cent. levied on them, he has succeeded in inducing that King to grant the petition. Desires King Christian to send an envoy into Belgium to the Archdukes of Austria to conclude the negotiation. Encloses a letter from the Spanish ambassador in England. [22 b.]

Enclosures:—

- i. 1606. 19 Jan. Lond. “Il Don P. de Cuniga” to King Christian. Has been directed by the King of Spain to write to his brother the Archduke Albert desiring him to negotiate an agreement for the security and freedom of commerce. Signed. Span.
- ii. A Latin translation of the same.

1605[–6]. 22 Jan. [O.S.] Westm. To the same. Sends at last the answers of the merchants about the Sound dues, the fishery, and the commerce with Russia, all which matters he had hoped Ramel would have been empowered to settle. Sends these replies by a private person, because their friendship and kinship is such as to dispense with the need of formality. [22 b.]

“R. Haffniæ, 22 Martii.”

1605[–6]. 18 Feb. Westm. To the same, recommending John Conyngham to his continued favour. [22 b.]

“R. Haffn., 19 Apr. 1606.”

1606. 3 March. [N.S.] Westm. To the same, on behalf of Richard Woodley [“Wodelius”], of Preston, who, having built a ship in Norway to bring to Scotland, finds the ship altogether detained on the ground that he cannot remove it from the Danish dominions without the royal license. [22 b.]

“Prod. Haffn., 19 Apr. 1606.”

1606. 4 Apr. Westm. To the same, with a similar application on behalf of Will. Duncan, of Musselburgh, a servant of the Queen’s. Wrote twelve months ago on the subject; since then, Duncan, when coming to London to urge his case, was wrecked, and lost his goods, the ship, and four of his companions. [22 b.]

1606. 14 May. Westm. To the same. Thanks him for his letter of 18 Apr.; mentions his own good health and that of his wife and children; happy state of public affairs and disposition of the people; “omnia denique pristino in statu “ sic esse firmata ut nihil sit quod animum nostrum quoquo modo anxium aut

* The report that James had been assassinated at Woking on 22 March.

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.Letters of James I.

1606. 15 Sept. Hampton. To the same. Is anxious to hear of his safe return home, since the letter which Mansfeldt brought informed him of the great storms encountered at sea; and the north-east wind which has been prevailing since will have hindered the voyage. [22 b.] “Prod. Haffn., 18 Oct.”
1607. 12 May. Westm. To the same. Writes with the coming of the first favourable spring wind, (by the means of the bearer, John Poley, who is a servant to both of them,) in pursuance of their mutual promise last summer to keep up a constant correspondence. [22 b.]
- 1607[-8]. 14 Feb. [O.S.] Westm. To the same. Begs him to direct the Governor of Iceland to allow the bearer, John Sterne, to export some hawks from thence into England. [22 b.]
“R., 9 Aug. 1608.”
1608. 17 May. Greenwich. To the same. Familiar letter in reply to one of 12 Apr. Thanks him for some stags; by the care of those to whom they were committed, seventeen came over safely in spite of the long voyage and the unusually bitter winter; begs him to send the same number of does next year. [22 b.]
1608. 12 June. Greenwich. To the same. Was much surprised at the tone of his letter of 2 March until he found what was its subject. The Capt. De La Mote, who is said to have seized and plundered a Danish ship, is a Frenchman to whom, at the earnest request of the then French ambassador, the Sieur de Beaumont, leave was given to purchase a ship in England, immediately whereupon he turned pirate, and it is greatly desired that he may be caught and punished. He has been represented as an Englishman because he lived some years in England as agent for French merchants, but he never possessed house or property or any rights of citizenship here. [22 b.]
1608. 12 Sept. Theobald's. To the same. Deplores that while almost all Princes are beginning to see the evils of war and discord, specially with regard to religious differences, there has arisen such bitter strife between the Duke and City of Brunswick. Has been asked by some of the Princes of Germany, who think the Duke is too vehement and obstinate, to interpose with him; but desires first to know the King of Denmark's opinion. [22 b.]
- 1608[-9]. 8 Jan. Westm. To the same. Thanks him for some more hawks; but such gifts are not needed to keep alive his love. [22 b.]
1609. 3 May. Westm. To the same, on behalf of John Delbridge, whose ship, the Eagle, was captured by a Danish vessel when on its way to Lisbon last July. [22 b.]
“Redditæ Haf. mense Junio.”
1609. 13 May. Westm. To the same, commending to him Sir James Sandeland, who is about to travel through Denmark. [23.]
1609. 28 May. Westm. To the same, accompanying a copy of the second edition of his Apologia with the new preface; of the first and anonymous edition he had previously sent a copy. Importance of union amongst all Protestant princes. [22 b.]
“Redditæ per capitaneum Mora, mense Julio.”
1609. 13 June. Westm. To the same, thanking him for some more stags. [22 b.]
1609. 23 July. Windsor. To the same, recommending the bearer, a French gentleman named de Boisderée, who has fled from France on account of a duel, and to whose rank and character the Duke of Lennox has certified. [22 b.]
“R. Haff., 19 Oct.”
1609. 12 Nov. Westm. To the same. Thanks him for his letter of 1 Oct. and for the falcons he has sent. Had he known they would have come so soon would not have sent a messenger about them with a letter which no doubt has been already received; but generally when these birds have been sent, they have, either by the unskilfulness of the person who chose them, or by the carelessness of those who brought them, turned out either altogether useless or too little adapted for sport. [22 b.]

No. 1.--Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.--continued.Letters of James I.

- 1609[-10]. 5 Feb. Westm. To the same. Further application on behalf of John Delbridge [see 3 May, supra]; part of the merchandise has been restored, but part under a fictitious pretence withheld. [22 b.]
 "Prod. Haff., 27 Martii, 1610. Nihil ad has responsum."
1610. 23 Aug. Westm. To the same. Sends an experienced falconer to choose some well-grown falcons and hawks, and personally to bring them over, that they may not (as usually has been the case) be rendered useless by the long journey through the carelessness of those in charge of them. [22 b.]
1610. 21 Oct. Westm. To the same, recommending Andrew Ramsey, brother of that John Ramsey, Viscount Haddington, to whom the writer's escape from the Gowry conspiracy was greatly owing. [22 b.]
1610. 24 Dec. Westm. To the same, acknowledging his letter of 4 Nov. As to the matter of it, however, full communication on that Swedish business had been previously made to "D." Jonas, who was lately in England, and who will make relation to King Christian. [22 b.]
- 1610[-11]. 2 Feb. Westm. To the same. Has not yet received a reply to the communication made to Jonas of the Swedish affairs, and supposes that the winter has hitherto hindered his return; but as the United Provinces have sent an embassy on the same subject, writes now to urge the importance of unity amongst the Kings who belong to the reformed religion, as well as of guarding against the too great aggrandizement of any one. [22 b.]
 "R. Calmar, 14 Aug. 1611."
1611. 30 June. Westm. To the same, asking for free passage to Sweden of Sir Robert Steward, brother of the Earl of Orkney, who goes to settle some accounts with the King there. [22 b.]
1611. 1 July. Westm. To the same, complaining that Thomas Watson, a merchant of Edinburgh (whose petition has been referred to him by the Privy Council in Scotland), was seized and robbed at sea about Easter last by Danish ships, when returning from Sweden; the law of nations being thus disregarded in the war between Denmark and Sweden, no warning having been given to merchants. [22 b.]
1611. 7 July. Westm. To Christ. Friis, Chancellor of Denmark, asking for safe passage for Sir Rob. Stuart to Sweden, in case, by the King's absence, this letter [of 30 June] should miss of its object. [22 b.]
1611. 23 July. Westm. To Christ. IV., recommending the bearer, "Ivarus Stubbæus," 54 years old, who for 15 years taught Hebrew in the University of Copenhagen, but was removed on account of a dispute with the Primarius; a prebend in the church of Roskild was continued to him, but this is not enough for his maintenance, and he was therefore compelled to leave his wife and come to England in the hope of obtaining employment in one of the Universities. Thinking it hard that such a man should, at his age, be compelled to live amongst foreigners, the writer begs that some additional provision may be made for him from ecclesiastical sources, to enable him to live at home with his wife. [22 b.]
1611. 18 Aug. Westm. To the same. Desires restitution of 148 pounds of copper ore ["æris infecti"], commonly called "Ship-pound," received at Stockholm by John Reekes and Thomas Spens in payment of a debt due from Sir James Spens, of Wormeston, to John Cootes, before the declaration of war with Sweden, and which have been, when on their way to Dantzic to be paid to Will. Browne, taken out of a ship of Rostock by the Danish fleet. The same John Cootes, together with William Greene and James Wool, also asks that he may be allowed to transport safely from Sweden some merchandise bought there before the declaration of war. [22 b.]
 "R., 6 Sept., Hafniæ."
1611. Same date. To the same. Is glad to find by his letter of 21 June from Sillisburg, that the report which had come of his dangerous illness was not true. Another letter of the same date has brought his answer to the application on behalf of [Sir James Spens of] Wormeston. When Wormeston went to Sweden with some troops, he was charged that, should war break out with Denmark, he was to take no part in it, but immediately to return to England, which he has done. When he left, war had not actually been declared, and he was not going to levy troops for service against Denmark, and the money and merchandise which were seized on their way to Dantzic were not intended for that purpose, but were for payment of stipends already due. [22 b.]

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.Letters of James I.

1611. 16 Sept. Westm. To the same. Again sends a falconer, according to his annual custom, to choose some good birds. [22 b.]
1611. Same date. To Christ. Friis, to the same effect as in the preceding letter. Writes to him in case the King of Denmark should not have returned. [22 b.]
“R. Haf., 18 Oct.”
- 1611[-12]. 5 Jan. Westm. To Christ. IV. Asks for permission for Hildebrand Prussen, a merchant of London, to transport 300 masts for the English fleet. [22 b.]
“R. in castris aute Guldborg, 30 Maii 1612.”
- 1611[-12]. 16 Jan. Westm. To the same. To the letter which Christian's servant brought an answer was returned through the same bearer, and the Earl of Salisbury was ordered to reply at length to the fuller communication of Chr. Friis. But for still further reply, sends Robert Anstruther to go thoroughly into the discussion. [22 b.]
- 1611[-12]. 7 Mar. Westm. To the same. Desires license for John Cornelisen, a Dutchman, to fish for eels near Copenhagen, where they abound; he has been accustomed to fish for them, for the supply of the royal household and the city of London, on the coast of Holland, but finds that the fishery there is failing. Signed. [22 b.]
“R. Hafn., 8 Maii 1612.”
1612. 5 May. Westm. To the same. Has received his letter of 30 Mar. with the news of the Queen's death; the sorrow is alleviated by the knowledge that she died “enixe precantem et Christum Salvatorem invocantem,” and by the fact that she leaves a numerous issue. [22 b.]
“R. im Feldlager für Goltberg, 3 Jul.”
1612. 20 May. Westm. To the same, strongly commending Lord Willoughby, who, having sent over the troops collected according to his agreement with Jonas Carisius, now himself comes to assume his charge. [22 b.]
1612. 11 June. Westm. To the same. Understanding that Henry Levinston can be advanced to the rank of Colonel, and have the command of 2,000 men, if the King of England will testify to his family and character, therefore certifies that Levinston is of a very high family, of which the Earl of Lithgow is head, that he was brought up in the court and King's household, and has served with credit in the army. [23.]
“Red. Haf., 30 Julii.”
1612. 30 June. Westm. To the same. Congratulates him upon successes. Hopes soon to hear that Anstruther has had an audience, and that Christian is not the less disposed for peace on account of what has happened. Thanks him for allowing James Spence safely to pass into Sweden, who is sent on a like mission, and asks that when a messenger comes with letters for him the like passage may be afforded. [23.]
1612. 15 July. Westm. To the same, recommending the Marq. de Rouillac for military service; he came to King James recommended by the Duc de Guise, and he is nephew, on his mother's side, of the Duc d'Espéron. [23.]
“R. 12 Aug., Hafn.”
1612. 5 Aug. Westm. To the same, renewing his request of 24 Dec. for transportation of masts by Hildebrand Prussen. [22 b.]
“R. Coronæburgi, 12 Dec.”
1612. 9 Aug. Bever Castle. Copy of letter to Sir R. Anstruther; he is to inform Christ. IV. that the levy of troops in Scotland for the service of Sweden was prohibited as soon as known, and their disbandment ordered. [29.]
1612. 12 Sept. Wansted. To Christ. IV. Was glad to hear by his letter of 10 July from the camp at Goldberg, which David Burrell, a Scotchman, brought, of his successes. Specially thanks him for not merely sparing the life of Burrell, who might by the laws of war have been put to death when taken prisoner, but for making him the bearer of a letter, and interceding for the pardon of the crime for which he fled from his country. Finds, on inquiry, that he had killed an adversary in a duel, and has consequently granted pardon. Sends this letter by a falconer, who is commissioned to choose some birds. [22 b.]

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.Letters of James I.

1612. 8 Oct. Westm. To the same. Is glad to hear by his letter of 11 Aug. that through prospect of a speedy peace he will not be able to employ Henry Levingston, lately recommended to him; should the war, however, unhappily be continued, hopes Levingston may obtain what he desired. [22 b.]
1612. Same date. To Christ. Friis, thanking him for his good offices to the above-mentioned Henry Levingston. [23.]
1612. 10 Oct. Westm. Instructions to Sir R. Anstruther to communicate to Christ. IV. the declaration of the States General that if peace be not speedily made between Denmark and Sweden, they will assist the latter. English. Mutilated by damp. [29.]
1612. 7 Nov. Westm. To Christ. IV., with intelligence of the death of Henry Prince of Wales, on the preceding day, “ex febris.” The conditions for the marriage of the Elector Palatine with [the Princess Elizabeth] have been agreed on.
Before each part of the King’s subscription is a large blot. The letter is followed by a letter in German from Ludolph Engelstedt to Breyde Rantzow, dated Lond., 18 Nov., giving an account of the Prince’s illness and death, and enclosing a copy of the report of the post-mortem examination, with a German translation. [22 b.]
1612. 21 Dec. Westm. Holograph letter to the same.
“*Serenissime Frater. Quod Ordines Belgicæ decretum hostile S. V. facere ausi sint, Anstruthero nunquam mandavimus; quod vero aliquot ex civitatibus Hansiaticis eis proposuissent ut fœdus hostile contra S. V. sancire velint, satis exploratum est; Ordines etiam propositionem plus æquo fovere verissimum esse scimus, et hac de re S. V. per legatum nostrum certiore reddidimus. Nuperime etiam plerique inter eos susurrare incipiunt vereri se coactos fore bellum contra S. V. gerere si bellum diutius duraturum sit inter S. V. et Suecos; quod vero communi suffragio aliquid contra S. V. moliri velint, non multum veremur, nam nec ullam rem, tam magni momenti, gentem illam, nobis inconsultis, immo serio aversis, tam facile perficere posse, vix credimus, nec eos quibus nunc tam jucunda et grata pax est, bellum iterum ultro se implicaturos, sine maxima necessitate, verisimile est. Quod vero S. V. beneficia in eos collata nobis recencere (sic) placet, S. V. satis notum est Ordines Fœderatos populum esse, id est, belluam multorum capitum; regimen eorum esse novum et anarchicum, unde nihil præter libertatem et utilitatem spirant, quibus mercatura est salus reipublicæ, et sic iis suprema lex est, ideoque telonium tam durum et intolerabile eis videtur. Sed ne amplius molesti simus, S. V. sibi certo persuadere potest nos nunquam in officio vigillis fidelissimi vobis defuturos, ita ut præmature semper a nobis certior sis quid expectandum sit, ut inde consilia vestra certius dirigi possint. Fusius vero hæc omnia legatus noster S. V. explicabit. Deum venerati pro S. V. diuturna incolumitate et prospero rerum omnium successu, Dabantur Westmonasterii (sic) xxi Decembris 1612.*
“Ser. V. frater amantissimus
“Jacobus R.” [26 b.]
- 1612[-3]. 30 Jan. Westm. To the same, complaining that some Danes had plundered a ship belonging to the Society of Merchant Adventurers which was wrecked in the Elbe. [22 b.]
- 1612[-3]. 22 Feb. Westm. To the same, notifying the marriage of the Princess Elizabeth on 14 Feb., and the intended departure of her husband and herself to Germany on 8 or 10 Apr. [22 b.]
- 1612[-3]. 2 Mar. Newmarket. To the same, for the third time making application for the restoration of the ship of John Cootes. [22 b.]
1613. 12 Apr. Westm. To the same, thanking him for a remission of toll granted to the English merchants. [23.]
“R. Cronenburg, 22 Maii.”
1613. Same date. To the same. Never heard more welcome news than those which Robert Anstruther lately brought of the conclusion of peace with Sweden, and never read a letter with more pleasure than that from the King of which he was the bearer. Has attested the treaty under the Great Seal of England, as requested by both parties. [23.]
“R. Cronenburg, 22 Mail.”

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.Letters of James I.

1613. 8 May. Westm. To the same, on behalf of Bartholomew Henrick who, like his forefathers, for many years has enjoyed the privilege of catching hawks in Lilly-Hommer, but is now debarred from doing so by one John Laurence. [23.]
 “R. Fredericiburgi, 28 Julii.” “Lillehommer in Scania, 2 milliariibus a Malmogia.”
1613. 31 May. Westm. To the same. The bearer, William Rider, brings a letter from the Queen, and will give full details of the marriage of the Princess, and of her journey to Heidelberg, in which he accompanied her. [23.]
 “R. Fredericib., 13 Aug.”
1613. 20 Aug. Westm. To the same. Has already charged Robert Anstruther to write to him about the controversy which has arisen respecting the succession to Cleves between the Electors of Saxony and Brandenburg and other claimants; and now uses the same opportunity for transmitting a letter from the Republic of Venice expressing their desire for closer friendship with Denmark. Their firm friendship with England makes them desire this closer connexion with a King so nearly allied. Has only now forwarded the letter, dated in June last, because he wished the Venetians to send it by an ambassador; their doing this has partly been hindered by the unsettled state of affairs in Italy, and partly also by its being a custom with Venice not to send ambassadors until by previous letters and replies it has been found that the friendship of the Republic will be welcome. Begs that Andrew Syncler may be permitted to come over to England. [23.]
 “R. Hafniæ, 19 Sept., cum inde postridie discederemus.”
1613. 20 Oct. Westm. To the same. The bearer, Henry Buckston, complains that, whereas for many years back he has been accustomed to go to Iceland for hawks, and to traffic with the natives in minor articles of merchandise, he was in the last summer seized and robbed of all his goods by Harloff Daa, the Governor of Iceland, at the instigation (as he believes) of Erasmus Hansen and Jacob Breme, dealers in like merchandise. [22 b.]
 “R. in Fryligslott, 14 Nov.”
1613. 21 Nov. Westm. To the same. The merchant adventurers, on whose behalf he wrote on 30 Jan., complain that they cannot procure the restoration of their plundered goods unless they will first pay 2,000 thalers, nearly a quarter of the whole value; desires that the goods may be given up on payment only of just salvage-dues, and that since wrecks frequently occur on the Danish coast, charge may be given to treat shipwrecked crews with all humanity. [23.]
 “Perd. Fryligslot, 22 Dec. 1614” (sic).
1614. 29 March. Westm. To the same. Has heard with great pleasure from Andrew Syncler, who is now returning to Denmark, an account of all that occurred in the course of the war with Sweden; holds Syncler in high and just esteem; has charged him, in his journey, to convey certain communications to Prince Maurice and some members of the States General. [23.]
1614. 20 July . . . To the same. According to his annual custom sends a falconer to procure birds. [23.]
1614. 21 Sept. Theobald's. To the same. Has received his letter of 21 Aug. announcing his safe return to Copenhagen. Does not doubt but that he has heard that, while the English envoy was negotiating in Holland for settlement of the dispute between the Archdukes and the United Provinces, and had prevailed for the surrender of the castle of Juliers to Philip, Prince of Orange, the Marq. of Spinola occupied Aix-la-Chapelle, and imposed heavy fines on all the Protestants, and reduced almost all the cities in the duchy of Cleves which are on the banks of the Rhine. Rob. Anstrudder will tell in what moderate and peaceful wise the writer has acted in the midst of all this. “Nihil habemus in “votis prius et optatius quam ut in Christiano orbe pax es tranquillitas con-“servari possint Nihil suavius est quiete et tranquillitate; “malumus tamen bellum necessarium quam fraudulentam et perniciosam
 “pacem.” [23.]
 “R. Hafniæ, 1 Nov. 1614.”
- 1614[-5]. 3 Jan. Newmarket. Copy of instructions to Sir R. Anstruther, sent to Denmark to treat on the affairs of Lubeck, liberty of whale-fishing, &c. [29.]

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.Letters of James I.

- 1614[-5]. 3 Feb. Newmarket. To Christ. IV. Sends Robert Anstrudder with some important communications, both of private and public interest. [23.]
1615. 27 May. Greenwich. To the same. Robert Anstrudder has returned. Requests, on the petition to him of the magistrates of the city of Lubeck, that, whereas Whitsuntide is fixed as the time at which the long agitated disputes between Denmark and Lubeck are to be adjusted, which is found to be too soon, some longer interval may be allowed. [23.]
1615. 9 June. Westm. To the same. Sends Henry Beyn to procure some falcons, and requests that those who are ordered to catch the birds may take great care to catch four of those which, after leaving the nest, have for a whole year been accustomed to take prey for themselves, as these are found of most use. [23.]
“R. Hafn, 25 Julii.”
- n.y.* 16 July. Westm. To the same. The good effect of his letter written “non ita pridem” on behalf of Lubeck, encourages him now to ask that as the Lubeckers propose to send ambassadors in August with their submission, he will receive them favourably and concede somewhat of his own lawful claims. [23.]
1615. 25 July. Westm. To the same. Again appeals on behalf of John Cootes, who has been unjustly condemned on false charges that his brother plotted against the Danish fleet when on the Swedish coast, and that he himself supplied the Swedes with corn and ammunition while the war was going on. [23.]
1615. 30 Sept. Theobald’s. To the same, interceding (at the request of one of his servants of the Balfour family) on behalf of one David Balfour, a Scottish shipbuilder (“nauegum”), who has been in prison about three years, whereby his wife and children are reduced to extreme poverty. If his offence be great, requests that particulars may be communicated; if light, that he may be pardoned. [23.]
1615. 26 Oct. Royston. To the same. Writes by reason of the return to Denmark of Adam Bulouu. As to the affairs of Lubeck, what he did was out of his great desire that peace may be preserved in the North, and amongst those who are of the same religion, but if the people of that city are too obstinate to listen to good advice, they will only have to blame their own stubbornness if any harm should happen to them. Understands that some one has asked, in King Christian’s name, for licence to export a quantity of fuller’s earth; that, however, is forbidden by the laws of the land, as the enclosed autograph report from the Council will show.
- Enclosure:—*
Whitehall, 9 Oct. The Council to the King. The granting license to export, as desired, 100 tons of fuller’s earth must depend upon the King’s pleasure, and not upon their liking. But heretofore when a request was made by the King of Denmark that a certain quantity of wools might be sent him by an English clothier who had offered his service, with such instruments as belong to the manufacture of clothing, it was replied that clothing was the staple and prime commodity of this kingdom, and that should the King be a means to transfer this art to strangers, it would be a great discontentment to his subjects and a prejudice to his own estate, especially as a Parliament was then approaching, where the people would have been most sensible of such a grievance. These reasons ought to be as forcible, if not more so, in this particular of fuller’s earth, one of the most necessary materials for that manufacture; and those who have undertaken to settle in this realm the whole manufacture of clothing, dyeing, and dressing, have protested against the granting of this suit. And the transportation of this earth is against a law which was not long since revived by proclamation. Engl.
Signed, “G. Cant., T. Ellesmere, Canc., T. Suffolke, E. Zouche, Fulke
“Grevyll, Jul. Cæsar, Tho. Lake.”
1615. 4 Nov. Westm. To the same. Requests, on behalf of Gustavus Adolphus, King of Sweden, who is involved in a Russian war which has exhausted his treasury, i. that the stipulated time for the payment of a certain sum of money may be deferred; and ii. that it may be paid in some other coin than imperial thalers. [23.]

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.Letters of James I.

1616. 20 Apr. Westm. To the same. Understands that some English pirates named David Gall, David Beton, and — Jenkins, in a ship called the African, of St. Andrew's, having intercepted and plundered two ships passing between Amsterdam and London, carried their booty to a port in Norway called Westrisen, near Mardou, but that, in consequence of information, the goods were seized by the governor, and one of the pirates taken, the rest escaping in a leaky boat; requests that the goods may be restored on payment of expenses, and the pirate given up. [23.]
1616. 26 Apr. Theobald's. To the same. Has received his letter of 18 Feb. notifying that, in consequence of the complaints of his subjects, he has forbidden for the future to all foreigners the whale-fishing round Norway and its provinces, particularly Iceland and Feroe; allows that this is reasonable, and will warn the English to abstain. But with regard to the Greenland fishery, which is also forbidden except to those who will acknowledge the superiority there of the King of Denmark, the case is very different, as will appear from the enclosed Declaration, which was drawn up and issued before the letter was received; for it proves that Greenland was first discovered by the English, and that it belongs to the English crown. Desires therefore that the Danish officers may be altogether forbidden to interfere with the English whale-fishery in Greenland.
- Enclosure:—*
Copy of a Declaration [noted as written in Jan. or Feb. 1616] drawn up in consequence of the issue of a decree on the part of the King of Denmark in restraint of the whale-fishery, in which is narrated the whole course of the discoveries made by the English in the Arctic regions from 1553 to 1587, as shown by the original log-books preserved in the archives of the Russia Company in London. Lat. [33.]
1616. 14 Nov. Westm. To the same. Thanks him for a horse he has sent, than which he never sat on a better; also for its beautiful harness of Danish manufacture. [23.]
1616. 16 Nov. Westm. To the same. A letter testimonial for Peter Byll, a Dane, who is returning home after having served the English Ambassador in Spain for four years.
1617. 24 May. Translation into Danish of a charter granted by James I. to Sir James Cunningham and others for a Scottish Company trading to the East Indies and elsewhere. [30.]
1618. 27 March. Westm. To Christ. IV. He will find from the letter given to Jonas Charisius for delivery to him that with regard to the fishery round Greenland satisfaction has been abundantly given to his subjects. But as speedy an answer could not be given to the complaints about the fishery round Fero, as the Council of Scotland had to be consulted; who, having found that the complaints had a just foundation, summoned from all the chief cities some who were engaged in navigation thither, and communicated to them, and then published by a proclamation, an order that they should in future abstain from the fishery there. [23.]
1618. 9 Apr. Westm. To the same, recommending the case of Thomas Hartcastle, who some years ago, while Queen Elizabeth was living, was seized and robbed of five ships and of all his goods while trafficking round Lapland, and has ever since been in extreme poverty. [23.]
"Exhib. 28 Maii, Hafniæ."
1618. 21 Apr. Westm. To the same, recommending to him very strongly (on occasion of the return of his minister, Andrew Saintclair, to Denmark) Stephen Bille, one of his servants, who has been known to James for some years. [23.]
"Exhib. Hafniæ, 27 Maii."
1618. 28 Apr. Westm. To the same. Sends a falconer for some falcons. [23.]
"R. Hafniæ, 17 Sept."
1618. 8 Dec. Newmarket. To the same, urging the importance of a close alliance between Denmark and Sweden, and requesting that if the King of Sweden should be unable on account of his war with Russia and Poland to pay the sum of 20,000 or 30,000 thalers which is now due, time may be given him on others being found for securities. [23.]

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.Letters of James I.

1619. [N.S.] 2 March. Hampton Court. To the same, with the intelligence of the death of Queen Anne: “. . . in longa hac tæbe, quæ vires ejus “gustum se percipisse, prius quam hisce ærumnis valediceret, satis persuasit

1619. [N.S.] 12 March. Newmarket. [“Neagoræ.”] To the same, on behalf of Thomas Lothian, a citizen of Edinburgh, nearly 70 years of age, whose ship has been confiscated in Denmark on account of his having exhibited, through ignorance or carelessness, a wrong bill of lading. [23.]
1619. 8 May. Theobald's. To the same. Sends a falconer, according to annual custom, for some good falcons. [23.]
619. 7 June. Greenwich. To the same. Will gladly further the project for commerce with India which has been communicated by Andrew Sinclair and Jonas Charisius, and will take care that in the arrangement made between the Dutch and English companies there shall be nothing contrary to the law of nations or to the interest of the Danish nation, God having given freedom of navigation and commerce among all peoples. But the Dutch have bought at great expense from the native Kings in the Moluccas and Banda and Amboina the right of dealing in spices and fruits, and are not willing that anyone should trade thither unless first admitted into their society, and they no doubt will allow such admission to the Danes. Will endeavour to procure like admission into the English company if desired. [23.]
Followed by a copy.
1619. 12 June. Greenwich. To the same, acknowledging his letter on the death of Queen Anne. “Faxit Deus ut perpetuam hujus amoris [scil., ex parte “Christ. IV.] hæreditatem adeant liberi nostri, quod de filio meo Carolo, quem “pignus habeo defunctæ matris charissimum, cujus faciem quoties intueor toties
“renovatur Regis avunculi memoria, et spero et voveo.” Andrew Sinclair and Jonas Charisius (who have most faithfully and ably discharged their trust) will communicate more. [23.]
1619. 26 Nov. Newmarket [“Neagoræ in venationibus”]. To the same. The Treasurer of Scotland authorised Robert Bailly [“Balivo”], a citizen of Edinburgh, who was going to Dantzic, to purchase some gunpowder there for the King's use; this he did, but at Copenhagen the powder was seized by the Danish officers. The Council of Scotland thereupon wrote to King Christian, but the merchant to whom the letter was entrusted, being afraid to remain long in Denmark on account of the prevalence of the plague, gave it to one of the King's secretaries, and left without waiting for an answer; and none has been yet received. Asks, therefore, for the restoration of the powder. [23.]
See King Christian's letter of 13 Nov. infra, p. 38.
1620. 3 June. Greenwich. To the same. Has done all he can to further with the States General what King Christian desires. Thanks him for his prompt compliance with regard to the money and the gunpowder; as to the money, requests (and has given special charge to Amstruder (sic) herein) that it be not given to assist in carrying on the war in Bohemia, but only for the protection of the hereditary possessions of James' son-in-law in the Palatinate, and of his nephews there. [23.]
1620. 1 Aug. Salisbury. To the same. On sending Sir James Spence, of Wormeston, to Sweden, charges him to salute Christian on his way, and to make offer of his services if he can do anything for the mutual profit of both kingdoms. [23.]
1620. 22 Aug. Westm. To the same, asking the continuance of favour to his agent, Francis Nethersol. [23.] Copy.
1620. 16 Oct. Roiston. To the same. Sends by Robert Anstruder the bond for the repayment of the loan; and also a copy of the letter which he has written to the United Provinces respecting the archbishopric of Bremen. [23.]
1620. Same date. To the same. Earnestly recommends to him to offer his mediation in the dispute between the Archbishop of Bremen and the Count of Oldenburg. [23.]

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.Letters of James I.

1620. Same date. Original copy, forwarded by King James, of a letter to Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden, congratulating him on the news of his contract of marriage with Maria Eleanora, Electress of Brandenburg; the delay in the marriage itself is, however, necessary for the interest of the Elector. Report speaks of the preparations made by the Sultan of Turkey against Poland for the coming spring; urges therefore a renewal of the truce with the King of Poland, to whom he has also written. [23.]
1620. [18?] Oct. Roiston. Copy of a letter to the States General, requesting them to aid the design of the King of Denmark to make his son Coadjutor-Archbishop of Bremen. French. (In bundle marked "England.")
1620. 9 Nov. Roiston. To Christian IV. Having enlarged his park at Theobald's, which is now surrounded by a wall ten miles in extent, desires to stock it with larger and better deer than those in England, such as those found in Denmark. Sends therefore a very clever craftsman, John Scandevar, who can tame them and bring them over safely. [23.]
1620. 27 Dec. Whitehall. To the same. The need of his son-in-law and the burden of defending the Palatinate have so increased that he sends Robert Anstruther to request the loan of a further sum of money, on the former, or on new, conditions. [23.]
1621. [N.S.] 15 Jan. Whitehall. To the same, on behalf of John Lermont and James Arnet, who at Elsinore have had 21 ship-pounds of Lithuanian wax confiscated for non-payment of duty. They, as they were themselves returning overland from Prussia to Scotland, had actually given the money for the duty to the owners of the ship in which the wax was, by whom the fraud was committed. [23.]
"Hafniae, 22 Apr. 1621."
1621. [N.S.] 5 March. Westm. To the United Princes of Germany, accrediting Lord Digby, who is commissioned to the Archdukes at Brussels, the Emperor and others, to endeavour to procure a suspension of arms on the part of the Emperor and his son-in-law the Palatine, failing which he will be compelled to leave the latter to his fortune. French. [23.]
Copy by a French scribe.
1621. [N.S.] Same date. To the Marq. Ambr. Spinola, praying him to assist Lord Digby in his negotiation. French. [23.]
Copy by a French scribe.
- 1620[-1]. 9 March. Theobald's. To Christ. Friis, accrediting Sir Robert Anstruder, who (as it seems) is commissioned to ask a loan from him ("
"nosque ære tuo porro obstringas rogamus.") [23.]
2 Apr., Fredericksburg. Copy, as it seems, of Friis' answer; acknowledging the letter brought by Anstruter, and professing great devotion.
1621. 29 March. Westm. Commission to the Duke of Lenox and eleven others to negotiate a treaty with Sir Andr. Sainclar, of Sainclarsholm, the Danish ambassador sent to England for that purpose. On vellum; Great Seal perfect. [27a.]
1621. 13 May. Whitehall. To Christian IV. Sends a falconer to procure twelve pairs of falcons. [23.]
1621. 6 Oct. Roiston. To the same. Hearing that some soldiers have been denied passage on their way to Poland, doubtless from fear lest they should be employed against the Confederate Princes, writes to remove all suspicion. War with Turkey being imminent, King Sigismund begged help by an embassy, and although the treasury was exhausted, the writer desired to render some help; has therefore promised to send 2,000 soldiers to form Sigismund's bodyguard, but not at once and together, and has charged Sir Arth. Aston, who is commissioned to go to Poland, to ascertain Christian's will before he takes over any more. [23.]
This is followed by an original letter to James I., signed by Christ. IV. and sealed, dated at Copenhagen 31 Aug. 1621, but somehow, as it would seem, never sent, expressing great surprise at the arrival at Oresund, without any notice, of 300 English soldiers, said to be on their way to Poland, under the charge of Geo. Osselinski, Count de Tenczin, the Polish ambassador to England, who says also that 1,700 more are to follow. At first was inclined to forbid passage altogether, but at length consented to allow it to these three hundred, but refers the further question of the rest to the consideration of the Danish Parliament.

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.Letters of James I.

1621. 9 Oct. Roiston. To the same. Will, for the period of his own life, grant permission to Danish subjects to share in the Greenland fishery, provided they sell none of the proceeds (as oil, skins, bones, &c.) in any of the British dominions, and that none but real Danish subjects take part in it; has also enjoined the English Indian merchants to afford all friendly offices to the Danish. Hopes that in return the toll of the hundredth at the Sound will be remitted. [23.] Copy made in England.
1621. 1 Dec. Newmarket (“Neagoræ”). To the same. Nine years ago Robert Scolla, of Kirkwall (“civis Kirkuensis”), went to Norway to sell some of the King’s goods; his ship was there detained by Severin Severinson on the plea that a ship of his had been plundered by one Simon Stewart; Scolla, David Hart, and at length Robert Monteth, of Egilshaw, were obliged to have recourse to lawsuits, in which decisions have been given at Bergen in King James’s favour, but as these have proved fruitless, desires that Severinson may be compelled to make restitution and pay all costs. [23.]
1621. 31 Dec. Westm. To the same. All his efforts for the restoration of peace in Bohemia are in vain, and the whole of the Palatinate is in danger; force must now be repelled by force; begs therefore for aid from Denmark. [23.]
“Hafniæ, 7 March 1622.”
- 1621[-2]. 20 Jan. Theobald’s. To the same. A report has reached him that King Christian has sent an embassy to the King of Spain to negotiate for peace between him and the United Provinces; but this seems hardly credible, because no communication has been made about it to the writer, who has always faithfully and sincerely imparted all his own designs of like moment. [23.]
“Præs. Hafniæ, 9 Martii, 1622.”
1622. 12 Apr. Theobald’s. To the same. The time, viz., the month of July, being near at hand at which the repayment of the loan of 200,000 imperial thalers was promised, he is compelled by the needs of the time (war being immediately to be undertaken for the Palatinate, unless it be given up on conditions, about which nothing can at present be determined) to ask for postponement for another year.
“R. Fredericiburgi, 12 Maii.”
1622. 30 Sept. Whitehall. To the same. The bearer, Sir Robert Stuart, son of the Earl of Orkney, when he left Sweden was, on the settlement of his accounts, creditor for 225 ship-pounds of copper, for which he has a bond from the King Gustavus Adolfus. He has hitherto failed to obtain payment, but believes that he will now succeed if he goes recommended by King Christian, than whom there is no one whom Gustavus is more willing to gratify. [23.]
1622. 15 Dec. Roiston. To the same. His efforts for the restoration of peace have still failed to have the effect he hoped for. If he be obliged to have recourse to other and contrary means, he will depend upon help being given by King Christian. [23.]
1623. 22 Apr. Windsor. To the same. Sends his falconer, James Quarrier, for twenty-four falcons. [23.]
1623. 13 May. Greenwich. To the same. Has not sooner written about the Prince’s journey to Spain, because he understood that either the Prince himself or the Marq. of Buckingham had done so, and because the severity of the winter hindered travelling. The Prince’s reception in Spain was unexampled in kindness and splendour; the marriage goes on, with some little difference from what was formerly communicated through Andrew Sancler, and Robert Anstruder will now give a full account of the journey and of the time spent in Spain. [23.]
1623. 20 May. Greenwich. To the same, on behalf of the merchants of the Baltic Company, two of whose ships are detained at Elsingor for defrauding the customs, which was through the knavery of the agents to whom the money had been paid beforehand. [23.]

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.Letters of James I.

- 1623[-4]. 20 Feb. Westm. To the same. The Electorate has been transferred from the Palatine, his son-in-law, to the Elector of Bavaria, and those who have received the latter into the College of the Seven are now endeavouring to induce the Elector of Saxony to approve their act; asks King Christian, therefore, to use his influence with Saxony that his consent may be refused to the recognition of any one but the Palatine. [23.]
 “Præs. Coronæburgi, 26 Mart., 1624.”
- [1623[-4]. 20 Feb. “From the Court at Whitehall.” Report of the King’s speech at the opening of Parl. on 19 Feb., which had been deferred from the previous Monday on account of the sudden death that morning of the Duke of Lennox, whose place of Lord Steward of the Household the King had conferred upon the Marq. Hamilton. “In this short worke his Majesty did farre exceede all his former peeces, and gave singular good satisfaction to the whole assembly.” 22 b.]

Le Prince et moy sommes laissez icy à la marcy de Dieu, à l'abbandon et discretion de quelques hommes et conseillers appassionez, sans aucune ordre ou gouvernement des choses ou establissement de nous, du Royaulme, ou du Estat, Si le Roy venoit à manquer ou faillier parmy la populasse (que Dieu ne vueille) au grand mescontentement de tout ce Royaulme, et murmure de tout la peuple. 1614. 18 Sept. Theobald's. Immediately on Christian's departure there came news from Flanders of the levying of troops by the Archduke, and now open war has begun. Is grieved that he may not learn under Christian as his general the first rudiments of military service.

- 1620 [N.S.]. 21 March. St. James's. Seeing his father to be very anxious as to the disturbed state of affairs in the world, and the ways by which he could assist his children and allies, it occurred to him that help could be looked for from no one more opportunely than King Christian; and on proposing it to his father he approved the suggestion, and at once resolved to send Sir R. Amstruder, to whom the writer has also given some instructions.

Heydon and brother to the paymaster of the same English legion, who have completely fitted out and manued two ships with which they desire to serve in the Danish fleet.
1621. 18 Sept. Theobald's. Was about to send that number of English sheep for which he asked, when he was prevented by the unanimous opinion of the Privy Council (from whom leave had to be obtained), who all declared "hoc ne ab ipsis quidem concedi posse nisi se legum et juris patrii violatores profiteantur." The reasons are more fully explained in a letter from Amstruder.
1622. 25 March. St. James's. Asks licence for Robert Elsdon to procure some hawks in Iceland.
1622. 15 April. St. James's. The pressure of affairs, more burdensome now than they were before, prevents repayment by his father of the loan, but order will be given for the payment of the interest, for which the writer (as he believes the loan was in no little measure procured through his intercession) offers himself as security. He has charged Amstruder to write somewhat further.
1623. 12 March. Madrid. Sent word by the Marq. of Buckingham of his journey before he embarked at Dover. “Venit nuper in aulam sacræ ac serenissimæ Regiæ Daniæ et Norwegiæ Majestatis, Principis ac Domini nostri clementissimi, præsentium exhibitor,* Gabriel Elphiston, qui luculenta narratione sua, quam sibi a Dominatione Vestra demandatam asserebat, nos certiores fecit possessionem gubernationemque tam insularum Orcadam quam provinciæ Hetlandiæ, et legitimo successione jure et consensu ac decreto Procerum regni Scotiæ ad Dominationem Vestram delatam esse, eamque, pro sua erga serenissimam Regiam Majestatem singulari affectione et humillima observantia, promptam, nec alienam esse, memoratæ Provinciæ earumque Insularum possessionem, ipsius Majestati cedere ac permittere, si modo ea illarum, ac Vestræ itidem Dominationis, protectionem suscipere, ipsique hoc nomine ex æquo et bono cavere et satisfacere velit. De quo quidem negotio, nos serenissimum Regem nostrum, pro nostra erga ipsius Majestatem perpetua fide et observantia, humiliter certiore facere eamque reverenter monere voluimus, ad tractationem ea de re, cum Dominatione Vestra aut ipsius internuncio, jam instituendam; cum quod insulæ istæ, antiquo et indubitato jure, ad regnum Noruugiæ pertinere dinoscuntur, tum quod Regiam ipsius Majestatem iis quas hactenus restitutionis nomine proposuit, æquissimis rationibus et mediis, nihil profecisse cognovimus; eamque oblationem tantò acceptabiliorem judicavimus, quod memoratus Dominationis Vestræ Internuncius confirmaret Statibus regni Scotiæ haud nescientibus nec improbantibus eam institutam esse.

“Sed cum Minister iste, quod in negotio tanti momenti fieri certe oportebat, ad tractationem istam feliciter suscipiendam terminandamque a Dominatione Vestra mandatum certum ejusque diploma authenticum non adferret nec exhiberet; Ideo negotium hoc ad Ser. R. ipsius Majestatem jam non detulimus, sed satius esse judicavimus eam tractationem tantisper differre donec de Dominationis Vestræ in eo voluntate certioribus documentis nobis constare possit, quàm communicationem de eo, ob defectum mandati alias frustratoriam, hoc tempore instituere. Operæ pretium tamen esse existimavimus Dominationem Vestram hisce de rebus per has literas nostras amanter certiore facere; Quam majorem in modum, et pro mutuæ vicinitatis ac amicitiae jure, rogamus et hortamur ut non tantum in declarato erga sereniss. et optimum Regem nostrum studio suo et observantia constanter perseveret ac duret, verumetiam suam, de possessione provinciæ Hetlandiæ insularumque Orcadam consequenda, sententiam, per hunc vel alium hominem idoneum, qui ejus rei tractandi et quid certi promittendi, plenam potestatem habeat, nobis exponat. Quod si fecerit, rationesque propositæ tales omnino fuerint ut neque Regiæ ipsius Majestati juri ac reputationi, nec nostræ existimationi, derogare possint; tractatioque ista, pro parte Dominationis Vestræ ac regni Scotiæ, bono cum fructu institui; tum nos operam vicissim daturi, ac benevolentiam nostram eo in negotio apud Reg. ipsius Maj. promovendo Dominationi Vestræ reipsa probaturi sumus; ne eam humillimæ suæ erga sereniss. Regem nostrum observantiæ, quam pro merito collaudamus plurimum, unquam pœniteat, sed ejus, pro expectatione sua, fructum uberrimum consequatur et ferat. Gratam enim nobis esse omnem bonam ac idoneam de Dominatione Vestra bene merendi occasionem re ipsa testari, quam verbis declarare, malimus. Quod quidem Dominationi Vestræ ad narrationem ipsius Internuncii jam respondere voluimus; quam ut Deus incolumem et florentem conservet quam diutissime, eum pie precamur.”

1574. 18 Feb. To Queen Eliz., and, mutatis mutandis, to James VI. Complaint of wrongs done in Norway by vessels engaged in the timber trade.

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.Letters of Frederick II.

1574. 12 June. To James VI., in reply to a letter of 1 Feb. interceding for John Clerk, which was followed, a few days after, by a document under the Royal Seal giving security that his release from prison should not cause injury to any Danish subject. Cannot grant his request, for Clerk's crimes, charged against him by his own fellow-soldiers among the Scots, are such as call for severity rather than lenity. But he shall be justly tried according to law. The proffered security cannot be accepted, because it implies that Clerk is unjustly treated.
1574. 8 July. To Queen Eliz., thanking her for giving leave to John Foxal to export cannon.
1574. 26 July. To the same, in reply to a letter of 3 May (brought by Peter Jorner [Turner], physician) on behalf of Philip Leeves and Rob. Jenkins, whose ship had been lost through pirates of Dantzic.
1575. 10 June. To Queen Eliz., on behalf (at the request of the Margr. of Brandenburg) of Martin ab Höfen, whose ship had been seized by Thomas Waters.
1575. 26 June. To the Governor of Portsmouth, for the arrest and punishment of Theod. Krudener, who has come to that port with a ship of Arnold Witfeldt's, the King's Secretary, with which he has absconded, having fraudulently disposed of its cargo.
1575. 10 Sept. To Queen Eliz., on behalf of a mariner of Rostock, now in prison in England at the suit of Rich. Willis, a citizen of London.
1575. 18 Oct. To James VI., in reply to a letter (in his name, from the Earl of Morton) of 19 Aug., interceding again for Clerk, and enclosing a further form of security. The latter cannot be accepted because it makes no mention "sociorum ac adherentium Clerici, nec ejus quam officarii nostri in re nummaria deprehenderunt iniquitatis," but if King James will insert a clause, "si forte Clericus, vel ipsius complices et adhaerentes, subditos nostros damno vel injuria ulla adfecerint, ut, comprobante Serenitate vestra, libera nobis sit facultas et potestas Scotorum naves et bona, in salo ac statione nostra, tantisper arrestandi detinendique, donec subditis de damnis istis illatis, ex æquo et bono, plene satisfiat, ipseque captivus literas nostras, quas super adumbratis militum stipendiis sat inique imprevit, nobis restituerit; Tum re præstituri sumus ut Serenitas vestra ex subditi istius sui liberatione intelligat ipsius tam accuratas et frequentes intercessionones permultum apud nos ponderis et autoritatis habuisse."
- This letter is cited in Schiern's Jarl af Bothwell, in Historisk Tidsskrift, 3rd S., Vol. II., p. 691.
1576. 20 Feb. To Queen Eliz. Sends Capt. Ravo Cleiton, an Englishman, to look for a Dane who, in the two years previous, has by means of forged royal warrants, obtained large sums of money from the revenues in the hands of governors in the provinces, and is now in England intending, with two ships procured there, to go to Iceland for the same purpose at the beginning of the spring.

1577. 23 Aug. To the same; a further letter on behalf of Andr. Mathisson.
1577. 22 Aug. To the Regent of Scotland, on behalf of the same, who is informed that his ship which was seized at Plymouth is now at Leith laden with fish.
1577. 12 Sept. To Queen Eliz., on the termination of the conference at Embden. Must abide by the terms of old treaties rather than by the decisions of lawyers; and was surprised to find that the liberty of trading to Russia, which was asked for by the Queen so lately as 11 Apr. as a matter of leave and concession, was presumptuously claimed by her representatives as a matter of right. - Same date.* To the same. Refers to Lord Willoughby for report of the discussion of the matters contained in her letter. Warmly praises the ambassador; his virtues, ability, personal appearance, conversation; he ought not to be named "Peregrinus" but "Exoptatus."
- Same date.* To the same. Asks leave for Capt. Martin Frobisher, one of Lord Willoughby's retinue, to remain in his service for a year or two, being greatly delighted with his ability and skill in nautical affairs.

1584. 3 Nov. To James VI., in reply to a letter of 24 July, asking leave for Walter Scot to fish at Norway and thence to carry the fish to Russia; gives leave only for six ships in the following spring, provided they pay the usual duty, and bring passports properly filled up, for which he sends the forms.
1585. 4 May. To Queen Eliz. Asks her to send some staghounds.
- Same date.* To the same. Christian I. in the year 1468 pawned the islands of Orkney to James III. of Scotland for a certain sum of money, on condition that they might at any time be redeemed. His father and he himself several times offered to do so, but in vain. Is now sending ambassadors again to Scotland with the money; and thinks it well to inform her of this, as he does not know what the state of things is between her and the King of Scotland.
- Same date.* To the same. Complaints from Iceland of unlawful fishing there by Englishmen.
- Same date.* To the same. Congratulates her on her escape from [Parry's] plot to assassinate her in her bedchamber.
- For the Queen's answer to these four letters, see Append. II. to Report for 1883, p. 26.
- Same date.* To James VI., accrediting his ambassadors, Mandrup Parsberg, Henry Below, and Prof. Nic. Theophilus, LL.D.
- Passport for the ambassadors.
1585. 10 May. To John Poley, at Boxted Hall. Thanks him for six dogs.
- See ibid.*, p. 48.
1585. 11 May. To the Earl of Leicester; a letter of compliment.
1585. 17 May. To Queen Eliz. The city of Flensburg prays that the English merchants will settle there, on leaving Hamburg.
1585. 14 June. To the same. Has for some years past had cloth prepared in London of different colours and after a particular pattern, for his use in hunting both in summer and winter. Hears now that certain German merchants, having found this out, have had similar cloth manufactured, which they sell everywhere, outside his court and family, to many inquisitive and foolish imitators, at a very dear rate. It is no concern of his what anybody may wear, but still, as this cloth was made of a special kind and colour for himself, he takes it ill that it should be sold to others, and begs her therefore (on the application of his agent Thomas Thenneker) strictly to prohibit the sale.
- Same date.* To Lord Willoughby. Received his letter and gift from Thomas "Budley." Will willingly receive Jerome Bowes, whom he recommends. Has ordered his agent at London, Thomas Tenneker, to present him with a piece of his court-cloth, which Tenneker tells him he refused to supply at Willoughby's request without the King's special order.
- Same date.* To Sir Fr. Walsingham. Thomas "Budley" has communicated his message that some years ago an envoy from Lorraine told him that his master had an undoubted right to the kingdom of Denmark. No mortal man has any right to this kingdom. A former Duke of Lorraine put forward a baseless claim to a part of Schleswig, but neither he nor his heirs ever gained it.
1585. 4 Sept. To Queen Eliz. Has written in vain to the [Protestant] Electors of Germany, in pursuance of her letter received from Thomas Bodley.
- See App. II., ut supra*, p. 27, where for "providere" read "prævidere."
- Same date.* To Lord Willoughby. Received Kirchman among his servants because the fact that he had been in Willoughby's family was to him a sufficient recommendation; and for the same reason sent him as his ambassador; it would have been very different had he known before what he knows now; would not have regarded it as any wrong done to him had the Queen committed him to prison. Cannot conceive why the rascal should have told Willoughby that the King had an ill opinion of him; for he holds him still in the same high esteem and favour as before.

No. 1.— Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.Letters of Frederick II.

- Same date.* To the Earl of Leicester. Hearing that the Queen committed to him the choice of the bloodhounds (“canum venaticorum sanguinariorum”), thanks him for those that were sent; “nam in venationibus quas nunc quotidie exercemus, eam istorum canum in feris indagandis sagacitatem, promptitudinem, et vocum, organi instar, mixtarum hilaritatem, non sive magna oblectatione nostra jugiter experimur.” Desires some Irish staghounds for breeding.
1585. 5 Sept. To Queen Eliz. Received her letter [of 8 July] from Henry Kirkman with great pleasure and thankfulness; “et quid, quæsumus, nos aliud decere queat, cum hoc deploratissimo sæculo, in tanta fidei, candoris integritatisque raritate ac simulatione, unicus fere flos principum nobis occurrat, Elizabetha Regina.” Thanks her for the bloodhounds. As to Kirkman, only sent him because of his being an Englishman; if he had known of her anger against him, would have sent him as a prisoner. Kirkman has not delivered the letter, which she mentions, from her secretary to the Chancellor, in order that his past life may not be known; he was committed to prison immediately on his return, and a ship is now sent with this letter in order that her will may be known whether she will have him sent to England, or will send some one over to accuse him. P.S. Has had the English narrative about the conspiracy, which Thos. “Budley” brought, translated into German, and it is now in the press for publication.
1585. 8 Sept. To the same, about further replies from the German Princes.
See Append. II. to Report for 1883, p. 27.
1585. 14 Dec. Reply to Lord Willoughby about the affairs of the King of Navarre.
1585. 15 Dec. To Queen Eliz. About the same, and his inability to assist.
See ibid.

1586. 27 July. To Queen Eliz., recommending the case of Nic. Scharnbeigius.
1586. 19 Aug. To the Earl of Leicester, recommending the bearer, a young Englishman, whose uncle is in his court, to be received into his family in Flanders.
1586. 22 Aug. To James VI., re-accrediting Peter Young (“Junius”) master (“hæredi”) of Setoun, the Scottish ambassador.
- Same date.* Answer given to Peter Young on the points of his embassy. Consents that the sending of an embassy, promised for this summer, to settle the question of the Orkneys, shall be deferred to next July, on account of the plague in Scotland, the civil commotions, and the fact that the King has not yet completed his 21st year. The dissensions in Scotland, and proposed union of Protestant princes.

1588. 16 March. To James VI. Had waited all last autumn for the promised embassy about the Orkneys, and yesterday received his letter of excuse, alleging various causes of delay, and promising that it should be sent as soon as possible this spring. Has heard by his late envoys' letter to Hen. Ramel of their dangerous voyage home, and does not therefore wonder that he then hesitated to send others at so perilous a time. But will confidently look this spring for ambassadors fully empowered to treat.

Has spoken about him to the Lord High Chamberlain, representing that it more concerned the King of England than the King of Denmark that an ambassador so well known and so often employed in matters of importance, should leave without some token of favour; and he owns it to be a fault, and has ordered a gold chain to be given to Mr. Sincklair for him. French. [28.]

- [1619.] 29 July. Lond. Sir Robert Anstruther to J. Charisius. The Marq. of Hamilton is made Earl of Cambridge, Mons. d'Aubigny Earl of March, Sir John Villiers Viscount Purbeck; Lord Hadington has gone to France till the King returns from Theobald's (whither he went on 19 July), but why Anstruther cannot say; trial of the Earl of Suffolk; Sir Thomas Lake is released from the Tower; money affairs with Laurence Mercier. French. [28.]

1619. 2 March. Lond. Lord Doncaster to Christ. IV. A year ago, when about to go to Germany, he made offer of service through Christian's ambassador Sinclair, but no occasion was found; desires again to profess his devotion. [27.]
- 1619[-20]. 16 March. Lond. John Lord Digby to the same. Has not written for a long time, because he had no fit occasion for writing. His proposed embassy last year to Spain was then deferred; now that Count Gondomar has come to England, he may perhaps speedily be sent, or the whole project abandoned. General Spanish news. An English fleet of 20 ships is being prepared for an expedition, in concert with 20 Spanish ships, against the pirates that infest the Mediterranean. Sir Rob. Amstrudder will communicate further intelligence. [Ib.]
- 1619[-20]. 22 March. Lambeth. Archbp. Abbot to the same. Writes by Sir Rob. Amstruther (sic) whom the King is sending to Denmark; no one can better than he tell the condition of things in England. After 20 months Count Gundamar has returned to London laden with deceits and subtleties, but we cannot divine what he may bring concerning the marriage. The King of France has declared the Reformed to be traitors unless they will put an end to the Synod of Laudun; but this is possibly done that, when the Emperor may ask help against the Bohemians, he may be able to excuse himself by saying that things are not sufficiently quiet at home to enable him to give it; for we hear, that, at the instance of the King of England, he is going to send an embassy to Germany to endeavour to compose matters there. The bearer will relate how affairs stand in Italy. We are very slow in giving supplies to the King of Bohemia, but there is hope that the King will allow those of his subjects who choose so to do to afford something not unworthy of the English name, and we who are Bishops have made a beginning. [Ib.]
1620. 28 March. "Fr. Verulam, Canc.," to the same. Writes because Sir Rob. Amstrudder, "mihi arctâ admodum necessitudine conjunctus," is going to Denmark as ambassador. Now that affairs in Europe are becoming more unquiet, trusts that all things may nevertheless have a happy issue, and that the shedding of Christian blood may be spared. [Ib.]
1620. 20 Apr. The Hague. Sir Henry Levingston to the same, offering his services to be Colonel of a regiment in his army in Germany.
- Enclosures:*
- i. 1612. 12 June. Copy of certificate by James I. of Levingston's noble origin as being of the family of the Earl of Lithgow.
 - ii. 1613. 12 Jan. Halmsted. Copy of warrant from Christ. IV. to the same to cease levying soldiers for his service, as the war with Sweden is ending. [Ib.]
- Same date.* The same to the Chanc. of Denmark, begging him to promote his application. [Ib.]
1620. 12 May. Lond. Buckingham to Christ. IV. Count Gondomar has come over from Spain as ambassador about the Prince's marriage, and, after frequent audiences, a conclusion with regard to the religious question has almost finally been reached; the articles shall be sent as soon as they are drawn up. [22*b.*]

Gratitude of the Kings of England and Bohemia, of Prince Charles, and of the Reformed Churches, for the money he has lent. It is said that the King has declared he will next spring exert himself to the utmost for the recovery of the Palatinate, and that Parliament will be summoned to meet in January about it. The English fleet, of 20 ships, is now in the Mediterranean, to check or destroy the pirates of Algiers and Tunis. The Spanish marriage remains as it was two years ago. [Ib.]

Things have come to such a state in Bohemia and the Palatinate that they need instant help; for the Spaniard in the last summer has so prevailed not only there but in the Valtelline also, that the liberty of all Europe will be in danger if he goes on in the same way a year or two longer, and, "volens nolens," our "Rex pacificus" will be compelled to make war. Some years have passed since we in England were so blinded with Spanish darkness that we hardly knew where or what we were, but God has at length dispelled this darkness. “Etenim cum subita et inopinata profectio Caroli Principis in Hispaniam luctu incredibili universam Britannia insulam tanquam fulgurum percussisset, post septem menses ipsius reditus (dum corpore mentequè sanus et incolumis revertisset) nos, sicut post ingentem procellam serenus dies, exhilaravit admodum et recreavit. 1626[–7]. 8 Feb. Lond. Buckingham to Christ. IV. Is touched to the quick by hearing from those who have come from him that he has received a bad impression of Buckingham as being the cause of the inconveniences that have occurred and the non-observance of the agreement between the King of England and himself. The fault has been laid upon Buckingham by those who bear him ill-will, and who are themselves the guilty parties, and who would not consent to furnish except at the cost of his life anything for the necessities of their King. Begs that he will not give any credence to these reports until he has heard his defence, by which he hopes to cover his enemies with shame. The Earl of Nithisdalle is going to levy 3,000 men in Scotland for the service of King Christian, which, with those already levied and the 6,000 now in the Low Countries, will make an army of about 18,000 of the two nations. French. [22 b.]

VI. SCOTLAND, A.D. 1460–1550.

The documents relating to Scotland commence with a series of nineteen charters relating to the Earls and Earldom of Orkney, from 1329 to 1461, in Norsk and Latin. In many instances these have the seals of the earls and bishops, with those of witnesses, attached. But as these relate to the history of the islands before their annexation to Scotland (which was in the year 1468), and as they are all printed in the Diplomatarium Norvegicum (Vols. II., III., V., VI.), a work which must necessarily be consulted by every one who desires to examine the early history of Orkney, I have not thought it necessary to make abstracts of them all, but commence the complete calendar of Scottish papers at the year 1460.*

* Of the earlier documents, the three following may be taken as specimens:—

1329. 24 March. Kirkwall. Notification by Katherine Countess of Orkney and Caithness that she has bought of Erling Vikunnarson the manor of Roghuals, &c. Norsk. Seal lost. [1^a.]

Diplom. Norveg., vol. II., 1852, p. 144.

1418. St. Matth. [21 Sept.] Helsingburgh. Profession of homage and fealty by John de St Clair to Eric, King of Sweden and Norway, for Shetland. Seal of arms perfect; red wax, set in white. [8.]

Ib., p. 482.

1422. 15 July. Copenh. Profession of homage and fealty by David Meneyes, lord of Wyme, to Eric, King of Denmark, Sweden, and Norway, for the Earldom of Orkney. Norsk. Three white seals of arms: i. “Sigill David Menzes,” ii. (oval) “S^t Thome epscopi Orcadie,” iii. of Walter Fraser. [10.]

Ib., p. 503.

1460. 29 Feb. Letter from the community of Kirkwall to Christian I., commending the good services of William, Earl of Orkney, in defending them from attacks annually made on Orkney and Shetland by John, Earl of Ross. On paper. Seal lost. [19.]
Diplom. Norveg., V., 599.
1461. 28 June. Kirkwall. Letter from William, Bishop of Orkney, to the same. While in this very month the Earl of Orkney was with the young King James, being put in custody of him by the Three Estates of Scotland, and was to treat for peace between himself and the Earl of Ross, the men of the latter, viz., the Highlanders ["Scoti silvestres"], the people of Sodor, and the Irish, have come down, and laid waste and burned up the whole county of Orkney, killing and plundering everywhere. The earl cannot therefore come now to the King as he would have done. On paper. Seal lost. [20.]
Ib., V., 605.
1461. 29 Sept. Roslyn. Letter from William, Earl of Orkney, to the same, respecting a sum of money due to his cousin Philip de Carribbyr of Scotland, by a Scot named John Weltoune, who died at Coupmanhavyn. On paper. Seal lost. [21.]

Confirmation by James I. of the assignment of dowry for Queen Margaret, made by the Bishops of Glasgow and Orkney, Lord Avandale, and the Earl of Aran (including the palace of Linlithgow and the castle of Downe in Menteith), with the provision that should she outlive the King she may, if she please, leave Scotland within three years, receiving a sum of 120,000 florins in lieu of dowry. Great Seal, in white wax, perfect. [26 a.]
- [1487.] Copy of a letter from King John of Denmark to James III., on the death of Queen Margaret, whom he hears "occasionem sue mortis per quemdam Johannem Ramsa recepisce, qui ut fertur ipsam veneno pessimo interemit." [30 h.]

 “Plane enim animadvertimus Anglos adventum nostrum egre ferentes tumultuariis incursionibus hoc regnum (ni armis coherceantur) cupere devastari. 1515. 25 Nov. Ten “Articuli” of narrative sent to Christian of the proceedings with regard to Queen Margaret, Alex. [Ib.]
1521. 22 Aug. Glasg. The Council of the Regency of Scotland to the same. Have received his letter of 8 May from his ambassador, Thomas, the physician. - [1523.] 7 May. Edinb. The Duke of Albany to Fred. I. Fearing that by the uncertainty of the sea Sir John Smyth, his messenger, may not have reached him, he sends the bearer, earnestly begging for help before the end of June from him (in concert with the Hanse Towns) against the English, “truculentissimos nostros inimicos, in sua injustissima invasione perseverantes.”
- Fragments of the representation made “Frederico electo Dacorum Regi” by “Ross Herault” of the points entrusted to him and to Sir John Smyth. Troops and money are desired; if 100,000 florins are sent, the province of Orkney shall be restored. [32.]
- 1523[–4]. 21 March. Edinb. The same to the same. Sir John Smyth brought word that he would send 3,000 foot and 400 horse, but now it is said by some

Hamburgh merchants that he has been hindered from doing it through the abortive siege of “Copmanhavne” by Christian; sent Smyt back with further letters, and now also sends the bearer, to press his application for help to be rendered before the end of June. “Demum, potentissime Princeps, ut “ quod amicitie federisve antea fuit nunc fortius innovetur, Regi huic unicus “ superest frater naturalis, juvenis decorus specie, consilio et rebus gerendis “ prudens, virtutibus insignitus, dominio grandi, præclaro potentatus et proven- “ tibus amplis hic dotatus, quem tue Majestatis filie juniori matrimonio jungi “ regnum hoc totum maxime optat, dotem amplam, si res cordi fuerit, con- “ stituendo.” Free trade is permitted to the Hanse Towns. A league has been made with the Great Master of the Order of B. Mary in Prussia, who has sent plenipotentiaries to the King of France; begs Frederick to send envoys also to France, and to join the league. [32.]

[1524?] 15 July. Edinb. The Council of Scotland, in the King’s name, to the same; protesting against the arrest of some merchant vessels at Copenhagen on the ground that two ships were captured by armed vessels of Leith which were carrying on war against the enemies of Scotland. If those who claim the captured ships will appear, or send agents, their case shall be adjudicated on as speedily as possible. [Ib.]

1528. 10 Oct. Edinb. “James R.” to the same. Received letters from the King of France of 5 Sept.—8 Oct. by Frederick’s Herald of Zeland, Valence Herald, and others, together with a letter from the Duke of Albany, representing that they had heard that Cristiern, Frederick’s enemy, had been received in Scottish ports and was there preparing an expedition against Denmark. Would not deal so with his friends, although it is true that of late years, amidst the frequent changes of government during his childhood, people did very much as they pleased; but now all this shall be corrected. But there was no reason why Frederick should have written to the King of France on this matter. In the last year Cristiern sent Gotschal Ericson, his Chancellor, “qui lamentabili oracione miseram domini sui, clarissime conjugis et liberorum, “ e regnis et dominiis avitis ejectorum, apud nos et regni principes deploravit,” and begged for soldiers and supplies; but the only answer given (and it could not have been less) was that in the next spring envoys should be sent to enquire the reasons of his expulsion, and to endeavour to restore peace. [Ib.]

1528. 11 Oct. Edinb. Queen Margaret (signed, “Your Cousin, Margaret R.”) to the same. Received a letter from the Duke of Albany by the bearer of this, Guiliam de Valuans, Herald to the King of France, desiring her to further the desires conveyed to the King of Scotland, her son, by the said Guiliam and Sir John Elgin, Frederick’s Herald; has in consequence, “maid gude lauboris and “ diligence at ye handis of oure dearest son and his counsals, as may planlie “ appere be yare gude respons.” Scottish. [Ib.]

[1529? n.y.] 27 Jan. Edinb. James V. to the same. By other letters given to Frederic, Zeland Herald, has shown abundantly his good will. Now sends Dongall Campbel to ask his aid, because he is about to put down some nobles, accused of treason, who are endeavouring to hold some strong fortresses and are laying some districts waste; for by the iniquity of late times and the neglect of the lords of the realm, all his means are entirely exhausted. [Ib.]

Instructions for Dongall Campbel. He is to ask for twelve lasts of gun-powder, and as many cannon “qualia vulgo falconis, hagebuttis et culveringis vocant,” as may be given, together with six skilful gunners. [Ib.]

1532[-3]. 21 March. Edinb. The same to the same. Complained six years ago about three ships which were seized and plundered at Melstradt, while the sailors were murdered; and understood that restitution and satisfaction were ordered. But hitherto nothing has been done, and instead of satisfaction blows are offered to those who ask it. Threatens reprisals unless justice be done. [Ib.]

1535. Papers of Peter Suavenius, ambassador to Scotland, in his own handwriting.

i. His instructions.

ii. His speech to James V., representing his business.

1535. 17 June. Striveling. Re-credentials from James V. to Christ. III. for Stavenius. Will not delay to urge the King of England to refrain from hostility to Lubeck and favouring the Lubeckers, and will also send privately a messenger to Lubeck. [33*f.*]
1535. 1 Dec. Stirling. The same to the same, in reply to his letter of 1 Nov. by Alex. Mure. Sent, as he promised, to the King of England, who replied that the Lubeckers had always been allies of the English, and that he should act unworthily if he did not seek to protect them, but that he heard that both sides were weary of war. His own messenger to Lubeck was on the point of going, when news came of Christian's victory over the Lubeckers, and therefore the occasion for his errand seemed happily to be gone. [Ib.]
- [1536.] 18 Nov. The same to the same. Does not doubt but that, "ex tabellariis qui hinc istuc quotidie advolare consueverunt," he has already heard of the writer's arrival in France from Scotland. Is about to send a messenger, with full letters and instructions. [Ib.]
1537. 5 July. Holyrood. The same to the same. Having promised in his letter written from France, in reply to the letter received from Geo. Lutken, to send a messenger, he now sends the bearer John Bertoun. [34.]

1538. 5 June. Cupar. James V. to Christ. III. Does not doubt but that now, as war is over, he will cause the restitution to Andrew Kynloth, a merchant of Dundee, of some merchandise which he says was seized by some soldiers two years ago. [Scotl. 36*a.*]
- 1538[-9?]. 7 March. Edinb. The same to the same. Has heard from Alex. Lyel (whom he would strongly recommend did he not think that his merits are well known to King Christian) of his kindness and goodwill with regard to all Scottish business in his kingdom, for which an equal return is due. [35.]
1539. No day. Linlithgow. The same to the same. Charles Murray, the bearer, on his late return from Denmark, stated how willingly leave was given him to buy whatever the writer desired. Begs now that he may have leave to buy some armour-covered horses that will do for tilting-games. [36*b.*]
1540. 27 Aug. Fakland (sic). The same to the same. Alex. Lambe and David Makfarsenen have frequently complained of the arrest of Thomas Fokhringame, the captain of a ship of theirs trading to Norway, at Ousloo on the false charge of having enticed away a skilful miner named Balthazar from the service of the King of Denmark, who, being a free man, had left of his own accord; desires that Fokhringame may be at once released from prison, and that the captain who arrested him may give compensation. [37*a.*]
Followed by copies of papers relating to the same case, and of a letter from Christian to James, dated 24 Oct., promising "Fockbringams'" release.
1544. 28 Apr. Streling (sic). Dowager Queen Mary of Guise to the same.

1544. 30 Apr. Edinb. James, Earl of Arran, in the name of Queen Mary, to Christian III. Has not hitherto sent an embassy on account of the wars and commotions with which Scotland has been for the last two years distracted, hoping for better times; but now, as there is no present prospect of these, sends John Hay, a gentleman of the bed-chamber. [39 a.]

1544. 30 Apr. Sterling. Instructions for John Hay, who is to urge an alliance of Denmark with Scotland against England; containing a narrative of proceedings between England and Scotland during the two previous years. Signed by James, Earl of Arran. [38 a.]

Same date. Edinb. Credentials for Hay (signed by Arran), who is sent “ e medio bellorum incendio civilique dissensione.” [39 a.]

1544. 21 June. Flensburg. Answer of King Christian. Cannot reply until he can consult his Council, who are not now with him. [38 b 4.]

1544[-5]. 1 Jan. Edinb. Letter from Arran, in the name of Queen Mary, to Christ. III., earnestly praying that the help against England promised to Hay (which was to have consisted of a fleet with 2,000 men, but which was then deferred because of the reports from Scotland of internal commotions there) may be now sent, as all the disputes about the government are settled, and the sole power of the Earl of Arran is restored. “ Te itaque, serenissime

1544[-5]. 25 March. Edinb. The Earl of Arran to Christ. III. Has received his letter of 29th Oct. complaining of the seizure and carrying off from a Norwegian port, by some Scots, of four ships belonging to Embden, and has given charge for inquiry, and for punishment of the wrongdoers. Nothing is ever done by public authority against such an old ally as Denmark. [38 d. 6.]

1545. [March.] Two abstracts [a longer and a shorter one, by a Danish minister] of the arguments used by the French ambassador at his audience.

In the shorter abstract an invasion of, or war against, England (“ quod regum “ Daniae est hereditarium”) is pressed on this ground among others: “ 2º, “ Quia inferretur bellum uni cui universus Angliæ populus ob intolerabilem “ tyrannidem male vult, et quem jamdudum ob odium et malevolentiam expul-
“ sum esse vellet.” And in the longer it is said, “ credendum haud secus illi “ regi quam plerisque suorum majorum eventurum: qui cum ob alia flagitia, “ tum ob tyrannidem quam in suos immaniter exercuerunt, ab omnibus destituti,
“ miseri suorum scelerum pœnas dederunt.” [38 b 3.]

Followed by German translations.

1546. 1 Sept. “ Dymburgii.” The Earl of Arran to Christ. III., in reply to a letter complaining of Scottish piracies. These are caused by the war going on with the Emperor of Germany, who has joined the King of England; but the authors if found shall be punished. [38 c.]

1546[-7]. 26 Feb. Edinb. The same to the same. Acknowledges the letter announcing that George Earl of Rothes is in custody and urging his being brought to speedy trial. The announcement and the suggestion are alike acceptable, and since it appears that Christian is not ill-disposed to the said George, the writer requests that he will set him at liberty. As to the wrongs done by Scots in Danish ports, they are done by no public authority, and care shall be taken as speedily as possible that those who as private persons commit such wrongs shall as private persons suffer for them. [Ib. d 1, 2. In duplicate.]

1547. 1 May. SS. Phil. & Jas. Copenhagen. The Earl of Rothes to Christ. III. Has received a letter from the Governor of Scotland desiring him to return home. Is entirely innocent of the charge laid against him ; and begs release from imprisonment that he may go back to Scotland as soon as possible. German. Signed Georgius, Graff zu Rothes, but the signature itself does not look like an autograph. [38 c e.]

Same date. Johan Friis, Chanc. of Denmark, to the same. Has received his letter asking advice with regard to a letter from the Governor of Scotland requesting the release of the Scottish Earl. Advises that he send Dr. Machabeus to him and invite him to dine with him at Colding, and present him with a horse or a gold chain ; for he understands that the Earl is very powerful and has many adherents in Scotland, and he may be able to do many good offices there in return for favours. Danish. [Ib. f.]

1547. 7 July. Sterling. Queen Mary of Guise to the same. Received by the bearer of this his letter of strong complaint about the seizure of a ship, and has done all she can to procure its restoration, and has represented to the Governor the inconveniences which may otherwise arise. French. [Ib.]

1547. 15 July. Sterling. The Earl of Arran to the same, in reply to a letter dated 24 May repeating an application for the restoration to some citizens of Königsberg of merchandise taken out of a ship of Dantzic. When he returns from an expedition on which he is now going, to recover a fortress occupied by the English, this case shall be attended to. [Ib.]

1547. 23 July. Edinb. The Senate [of the College] of Justice to the same, in reply to his letter to them on the same case. Report of what has been done during the two years in which the suit has been going on ; external wars, internal seditions, and pestilence have hindered its progress. [Ib. d 12.]

1548. 22 Nov. The Earl of Arran, in the name of Queen Mary, to the same. Received about the end of last Nov. his very friendly letter complaining of the violent acts of some Scots, and now sends Sir David Lindsay, of Month (sic), to give reply on these matters and on some others. [Ib. d 10.]

Another letter from the same to the same, to the same effect, but specifying that Lindsay is empowered to reply as to the case of Nic. Bilder. [Ib. d 8.]

Instructions for Sir D. Lindsay. Reply as to the case of the guns taken out of the ship of Nicolas Bilder and as to that of the ship belonging to some citizens of Königsberg. For seven years there has been continual war with England, in which, notwithstanding the assistance of France, the Scots have been far inferior to the English at sea ; to beg therefore that King Christian will as speedily as possible send some Danish ships to protect the Scottish shores,—“ nobis maxime profuturum, cum propter egregiam fortitudinem Danorum, tum “ propter memoriam cladum quas Angli antiquitus a Danis passi sunt.”

Drafts in German and Latin of King Christian's reply. [Ib.]

1548. 26 March, “ex oppido Cuppro, in Fyeff.” “Comes de Rothes” to Christian III., with the most profuse expressions of gratitude for his treatment of him when in Denmark, and of devotion to his service. “Quod hactenus ad Excellentiam tuam non scripserim, caussa hec est. Bellorum undis obruimur, et sum (ut verum fatear) in quotidianis vite periculis, mallens fortiter cadere quam turpiter vivere. Si Deus a communi bellorum periculo me salvum esse vult, finitis his tumultibus in regno tuo nos videbis." [38 c h.]

1549. 13 Oct. "Coupres" [Cupar]. Queen Mary of Guise to the same. The bearer, a Scottish merchant, has made a representation about a ship captured by some Danes; begs that he will direct its restoration, in accordance with what the Governor formerly wrote. French. [38 c.]

1549. 1 Nov. Edinb. The Earl of Arran to the same, in the name of Queen Mary, asking for restoration of a ship called Peter, belonging to John Pater-son and others, which was seized in Aug. last when on its way from Dantzic. If Scotch subjects have done any injuries to Danes, they shall be duly punished. [38 b 7.]

"Productum Nyborg, 19 Nov."

Two petitions, in German, from William Kynloch, of Dundee ["Deidona-nus"], to Christ. III., respecting the same ship; and a certificate by him, dated 28 Nov., attesting that the King has ordered restoration on condition that he becomes surety, and will answer it at his own peril, that the captain and crew have never, within three years past, done any injury to any Danish subject, or to any one whatever in any Danish port; witnessed by the French ambassador, "Carolus Danzæus." A list of the names of the crew (twelve in number) is added. [Ib.]

1549[-50]. 26 Feb. Edinb. Letters patent by the Earl of Arran, in the name of the Queen, appointing the Earl of Rothes ambassador to Denmark for the renewing the old treaties of peace and alliance. On vellum; fragment of the Great Seal. [38 c.]

1550. 19 May. Edinb. The Earl of Arran to the same. "Quemadmodum in malis rebus sepe fecimus vestrum Celsitudinem certiore status infantule Regine . . . ita nunc, rebus in melius versis, alienum non censemus communicare Celsitudini gaudium quod nos, Deo auxiliante, receptis omnibus munimentis atque finibus, bello prorsus extincto, capimus . . . Itaque mittimus in presentia Vilelmm Colvile a Glesche, nobilem adolescentem, nostrum cubicularium, a quo, et a serenissime Domine nostre Regine legato, Comite a Rothes, possis omnem pacis progressum cognoscere." [38 b 6.]

1550. 9 July. Edinb. Robert Colvill, "a Cleische," to the same. Had been appointed by the Governor of Scotland to be the bearer of a letter, and had rejoiced at the opportunity thus afforded for offering his humble thanks "pro præclaris beneficiis mihi olim, in angustiore rerum mearum fortuna ac con-ditione constituto, clementer præstitis." But he is now directed by the Governor to go with the Dauphin into France; and the journey to Denmark is committed to his brother, who is the bearer of this letter. [Ib.]

1550. 1 Nov. Copenh. Copy of a letter from Christ. III. to the Earl of Arran, strongly recommending James Skæ, of Orkney, who desires now to return home to Scotland from his service. "Queritur emin se, invidia oneratum, partem ob religionem, partim quod nobis operam suam ministerio nostro addixisse dicatur, sine capitis discrimine in insulis Orcadensibus aut Scotia versari non posse." Trusts that his service in honourable things and his upright life, "excepta religionis invidia," can cause him no ill-will, and begs that his safety may be assured, if necessary, by the grant of a pardon for his former offence. VII. MSS. IN THE ROYAL LIBRARY AT COPENHAGEN.

Bede. A good twelfth-century MS. of his commentary on St. Mark, with the name of "Henry Postellthwaite of Hampalle" as an owner. At the end is written, in an early sixteenth-century hand the name, "William Saxton," which has been copied in the catalogue as being the signature of William Caxton. Old Royal Collection, fol. 41.

Dunstan. "Saga hins heilaga Dunstani erki-biskups," copied in 18th cent. from a vellum MS. (160 B.) in the library of A. Magnæsson ("Magnæi"). In prose. 48 pp. New Royal Coll., fol. 267.

Eadmer. Vita S. Anselmi. A beautiful MS. written about the end of the 12th cent. by an English scribe; with an illuminated initial representing the author engaged on his book. In double cols.; ending on f. 106. Bernard's Life of Malachy follows. Old Royal, fol. 182.

Thomasar Cantuariensis." pp. 68. Notwithstanding the title, there is no history of Thomas à Becket. But at p. 37 there comes instead, "Rodberts Pattr," i.e., the story of Duke Robert, son of Will. I.

c. 1370–80. Horæ, written by an English scribe, with a coat of arms of Bohun quartering England. Dr. Brün, the Librarian, has identified this coat as belonging to Mary de Bohun, first wife of Hen. IV., for whom the book must therefore have been written.

15th cent. A very good vellum MS., but imperfect, of the early part of the 15th cent. of a translation into verse of Boethius de Consolatione Philosophiæ. It belonged in 1737 to "W^m. Borlase," the historian of Cornwall, and has a pencil-mark of the price in some catalogue, "£1. 1." The MS. was at some time examined by the late Mr. David Laing, of the Signet Library, Edinburgh, who inserted the following note in pencil:—"This appears to be the translation of Boethius by Johannes Capellanus (or John Walton) in the year 1410, of which several MSS. are preserved in England. D. L. Cf. Warton's Hist."

Begins in Book I. "Zit oþur two þat han me þ^s defiled

Here and there copious marginal commentaries are inserted. Thott, fol. 304.

c. 1454–1485. A curious historical common-place book. Small 8vo. on vellum, in a Flemish-looking hand, ff. 151. It belonged to Will. Horton, a monk of Lewes. On the last leaf some references to events in the chron. are noted "per me dompnum Wyllman Horton," and his admission at the age of 20 is entered under the year 1475. On the first fly-leaf are written (by one hand) the names "Anthony Younger," "John Banford." New Royal, 8vo., 172.

"MLXXVI. Fundata domus Lewensis et dompnus Lanzo venit in Angliam cum tribus sociis, sc. Hugo suppiore, Conano Abemano, et Valteri fratri (sic) suo."

* The dates frequently differ from those given in the Monasticon, and the careless and ignorant character of the writing makes it probable that the carelessness extends alike to names and chronology.

1470. The following note of the battle of Stamford has been entered at the end of a vellum MS. containing a narrative, in 45 chapters, “de gestis et translationibus Trium Regum,” which was very neatly written, in a rather French-like style, by “Ricardus Cabulle,” who “scripsit hunc librum anno etatis sue XIII^o., videlicet anno secundo regni regis Henrici Sexti.” We probably have here an unique specimen of a book transcribed in the fifteenth century by a boy. The MS. has a handsome English binding of red morocco, and was numbered in some catalogue 2457.* The notice of the battle is by a different hand from that of the scribe of the MS. “Mem. quod VIII^o. die Marcii a^o r. r. E. iiii decimo magna commocio populi erat in partibus Lincoln. contra eundem dominum Regem, videlicet juxta Staunfordiam in eodem comitatu, quo die dictus dominus Rex cum exercitu valido veniebat contra eos, et cum ipsi dominum Regem et exercitum suum videbant, arraiatus fugere, et plures ex illis fuere capti, inter quos Johannes De la Launde, et infra duos dies prox. captus fuit Robertus Wellez, miles, et adductus Regi, cujus pater decapitatus fuit apud Crucem Reginae juxta Stanford,” &c. End of 15th cent. A collection of English alchemical receipts, together with a table headed, “Exposicio verborum operis alkimie per ordinem alphabeti.” ff. 29. Old Royal, fol. 248.

* And by this number I have been since enabled to trace the volume. It is found in the catalogue of T. Osborne, the bookseller, in 1749, p. 83, where the scribe's note is copied, but the name is given as Cabutt. The book was priced at 1l. 11s. 6d.

1506. A very curious book (15 ff.) of Rules for the Mint as to the value and assaying of coins, made by one who speaks of “my days, which was in an^o 1506,” and of “The maner of the reconyng of the Masters and Wardens of the Mints beyond the sea, with homme I was browght up.” The name of the writer cannot be traced in Ruding’s History of the Coinage, where there is no mention of this interesting tract. The following table of the values of coins is specially worth transcription:—

Defensionem
Regis."

No. 1.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark, &c.—continued.The Royal Library.

Copy of a treatise by Father Innes against the validity of the English episcopal succession and orders. It is entitled, "Manuscrit de M. l'abbé Renaudot touchant les ordinations Angloises." But the following note is added in another hand: "Ce memoire qui porte le nom de M. l'abbé Renaudot n'est point son ouvrage. Ce fut lui qui le mit entre les mains de son Eminence Mr. le Cardinal de Noailles, mais son veritable auteur est Monsieur Thomas Innes, scavant prestre Escossois, qui le lui donna dans le temps que le docte abbé travailloit à instruire son Eminence sur ceste matiere. En effet le manuscrit dont à esté tirée cette copie a est corrigé en quelques endroits de la main de M. Innes, qui y ajouta aussi de sa main le passage du livre d'Esdras [1 Esdr. II. 62] que finit le memoire, et qui me l'à faite verifier ce mois de Janvier dernier, 1731, m'ayant fait l'honneur de me venir voir dans ma chambre. Cette copieci est defectueuse en quelques endroits." Innes says at the conclusion of his essay that he does not pretend to have shown that Barlow was never consecrated, but he thinks there is abundant reason to consider his consecration doubtful. New Royal, 4^o. 518.

Translation into Danish of Jeremy Taylor's letter to Christ. Hatton. Old Royal, fol. 153.

"Joachimi Rachelii Londinensis satyra;" in German verse. 8 leaves. Old Royal, 4^o. 2070.

"Tolerantia diversarum religionum"; a translation of an English tract written upon the Discourse on the reasonableness of religion which was published by Geo. Villiers, Duke of Buckingham, in 1685. 15 leaves. New Royal, fol. 36.

A printed Danish Bible contains the autographs of James I. and his Queen.

There are copies of four of Caxton's books in the Library. i. The book of Good Maners; fine broad margins, but not very clean. On the last leaf is the name of an early possessor "Pēnyng] p'ce
Henri] ii^s iiiij^d." ii. The Chastisyng of Goddes Chyldern; a fine clean copy, but a little cut down. "Robert Duraunt doth owe the book . . . bought of John Howes . . . of Ifylde (?) in Essex, pr'c. v^s (?)" This is written over (or under) another inscription. iii. The Mirrour of the World; beginning on A iij. Whether this is the first or second edition I had no means at hand to determine. It is a dirty copy, and cut down. It belonged to Thomas Baker, of St. John's College, Cambr., who has noted that when printed "it was then valued for the matter it contains; is now valuable for "the print, and is yet a present for a Lord." Former old owners were Nicholas Skott and John Frohock, sen. iv. The Life of St. Catherine, &c. Perfect, but rather stained and dirty. On the end cover, "Kateryn Hastyng^e," who was no doubt the first possessor, and may be identified with Catherine, wife of William first lord Hastings, who died in 1504. In the 16th cent. there is the autograph of another owner, "Frances Wolfreston her book, bot of a solder." This book is in the original stamped binding with oak boards. The others are in English calf, of about the year 1700 or somewhat earlier, and appear to have been purchased at the same sale, with the exception of No. ii. Nos. i, iii, iv, have on their backs the sale numbers 428, 391, and 253, and are marked in pencil with the same price, "1 · 1 · 0" No. ii. appears to have belonged to Lord Somers and Sir Joseph Jekyll; it is bound in the same style as their MSS., and is marked inside "Theol. 456 * *" a form of numeration coinciding with that which is found in books from their library. Jekyll's library of printed books was sold by auction in 1747.

NO. 3.—VENETIAN MANUSCRIPTS :—CATALOGUE OF, BEQUEATHED TO THE PUBLIC RECORD OFFICE BY THE LATE RAWDON
BROWN, ESQ., OF VENICE.

The following is a catalogue of the very valuable collection of Venetian Manuscripts formed by the late Mr. Rawdon Brown, and bequeathed by him to the Public Record Office. Few men were more fitted than the accomplished author of the Calendar of Venetian State Papers to know what manuscripts would prove of lasting interest for the purposes of such a collection. By a sojourn well-nigh life-long in Venice, by patient research for and amongst all materials bearing on her history, more especially with regard to her relations with England, and by ceaseless and loving study, Mr. Rawdon Brown had become almost as well acquainted with the inhabitants and events of ancient Venice as he was with those of that city during the last 50 years. From 1862 to his death in 1883, he was engaged in researches there on behalf of the Public Record Office, and eight printed volumes of Calendar and 129 volumes of transcripts bear witness to the talent and industry he devoted to his work.

The collection described in the following pages consists partly of manuscripts purchased by Mr. Rawdon Brown himself and partly of those given to him by Mr. Edward Cheney, whose book-plate several of the volumes bear. These facts are gathered from the notes in Vols. 75 and 125 (see pages 367 and 372). In Vol. 92, Mr. Rawdon Brown has written "Contarini, Domenico, di San Benetto, " from whose house the vol. came to mine"; in Vol. 162, "Manuscript out of the " Tiepolo Collection, No. 652"; and concerning Vols. 51 and 52 (see p. 364), "How " these two volumes got into the Tiepolo Collection I do not know." In Vol. 73, he states that the Tiepolo inherited the Contarini property and archives, and that Cicogna confirmed his assertion that the Tiepolo collection of Venetian Ambassadorial Reports was one of the most complete and authentic ever formed.

The papers here catalogued range from the early days of the ancient Venetian Republic to its downfall in 1797, and illustrate the relations between Venice and all the European Courts. The first portion comprises the loose manuscripts, which fill 20 portfolios; the second, and much larger, portion consists of 156 bound volumes. Foremost in value and interest are the "Relazioni," or Reports of Venetian Ambassadors accredited to various Courts. These Reports were delivered in the Senate on the return of an Ambassador, and not only dealt with diplomatic affairs, but gave descriptions of the countries concerning which they were written, their social habits and customs, and often some of their past history. They are masterly productions, and prove that no State was better served by her diplomatic representatives than was the Republic of Venice. Numerous copies of the Reports were made in manuscript by those interested in perpetuating the information therein contained, and many have been printed in divers works. In the "Diario Publico" (see Vol. 159), mention is made, under date of 5 Aug. 1713, of the sale in Rome of the Reports of Venetian Ambassadors to collectors of manuscripts; and in Vol. 125 a curious instance is given, where a copy of a Report on England by Francesco Contarini, made by him in 1610, when Ambassador to that country, was bought by him 11 years later in Rome, when he was on an embassy there, and the identical manuscript was again bought by Mr. Rawdon Brown in Venice, in 1837, for 55 centesimi. There are many important manuscripts in the handwriting of Francesco Contarini in this collection.

Of equal value with the Reports of the Venetian Ambassadors are their despatches from the various European Courts. A very large number of these are included in the following manuscripts. They are most minute in their details of the political and social state of the different countries they concern, and are marked by all the ability and shrewdness that characterised the far-seeing representatives of the Venetian Republic. Mr. Rawdon Brown has added greatly to the interest of these volumes by the illustrative notes he has inserted, and, in some cases, by indexing several of the events chronicled by the authors. Translations of many of these despatches will be found in the volumes of transcripts transmitted by him to the Public Record Office, and deposited there for public use.

Next in interest to the "Relazioni" and the ambassadorial despatches are the "Riporti," or manuscript Gazettes, of which there are 12 volumes, six being of especial value, since they contain the newsletters from 1689 to 1695, during which period there is a blank in the correspondence with England preserved in the Venice Archives, owing to no representative of that Republic being accredited to this country. In these 12 volumes, which comprise newsletters from capital cities in Europe and the East, there are no less than 1,050 from London alone. These "Riporti," which were probably based on the State despatches, seem to have been written by Venetian agents entirely independent of the Venetian Ambassadors, and the custom of writing such newsletters dated at least as far back as the beginning of the 17th century. Cicogna, in his "Inscrizioni Veneziane" (Vol. IV., p. 418), mentions the existence of some of these "Riporti" in the Donà family, dating from February 1601. In one of the Contarini despatches from Rome (1 March 1608) is a passage stating that certain writers of the "Gazette" or "Riporti" had been imprisoned, four being sent to the galleys, 12 flogged, and others banished. These writers had markedly offended the Pope by asserting that he had prolonged the Carnival in order to give more occasion for festivities in honour of the recent wedding in Savoy. In another despatch, written shortly after, Contarini says that Paul V. was very nearly hanging some of these reporters, and, in August 1608, mentions other trouble caused by them. Their productions are styled by him "Riporti, ò avisi da gazetta," and the writers, he says, were called in Rome "menanti." These "Riporti" were never printed, but written, and sold at the price of a "gazeta," an ancient Venetian coin worth two Venetian pence; hence the term "Gazette." They appear to have been sold by persons employed in the Ducal Chancery, who compiled them, and enjoyed the profit arising therefrom as their perquisite. The most ancient of these manuscript newspapers, late in the possession of Mr. Rawdon Brown, bears date 12 Aug. 1634, and is bound up with the Signory's letters to Alvisé Contarini, Ambassador at the Hague. The fact of its being headed, "A di 12 Agosto, in Pregadi," confirms the belief in their sale and distribution proceeding from persons in the employ of the Government. They were distributed in Venice every Saturday. Allusion is made to the "Gazette" of Venice by Cervantes, in 1614, in his Parnassus, translated thus by De Chaussonville (Vol. I., p. 12), "Adieu, grande promenade de S. Philippe, où le chien de Turc est abaissé " ou relevé, selon qu'on le lit dans les gazettes de Venise."

Volumes 69-71 contain a large number of the original drafts of Marco Minio's despatches from Rome. On a fly-leaf of the first of these volumes, Mr. Rawdon Brown copies the preface written by Sir Henry Ellis to his Original Letters illustrative of English History, and adds, "I met with the above for the first time on Tuesday the 20th of March, A.D. 1838, in Venice, in the Casa Dario, and it struck me as " so applicable to the diplomatic literature of Venice, as available for a knowledge, " not merely of Venetian history, but for that of the world, that I copied it, feeling " the greatest respect and admiration for Mr. Ellis, and many regrets at never " having read his works till this day." Mr. Rawdon Brown also appends some biographical notes of Marco Minio, and remarks, in reference to the Ambassador's father, "Concerning Bartolomeo Minio, Captain of the Flanders Galleys, A.D. 1485, " see 'Commissione,' framed and glazed in my sitting room in Casa della Vida" [the commission is now in the Public Record Office; see p. 368, No. 104 (2)]. " As the street leading to that house is called 'Calle Minio,' I believe the site of

No. 3.—Catalogue of Venetian Manuscripts—continued.

“ the house to have been originally that of Casa Minio, which passed from Minio to Gussoni, then to Grimani, and finally to the Jew Della Vida, whose tenant I am, on this 8 May 1864.” In that house he died on the 25th of Aug. 1883.

The “ diplomatic literature of Venice,” like that of so many other countries, was strangely scattered abroad, important State Papers turning up in the nooks and corners of Europe, so that one may well re-echo the words of Burnet apropos of Charles II and Sir Robert Murray in 1669 (History of Our Own Times, Vol. I., p. 523), “ It seems of great concern that when a Minister or an Ambassador dies, or is recalled, or is disgraced, all papers relating to the secrets of his employment should be of right in the power of the Government.” The fascination exercised over so many by the scattered records of Venetian grandeur cannot be better described than in the beautiful thoughts expressed by Montaigne (Essays, Book III., chap. 9, pp. 151–153), “ Je me rends plus officieux envers lez trespassez : ils ne s’aydent plus ; ils en requièrent, ce me semble, d’autant plus mon ayde. La gratitude est là justement en son lustre Me trouvant inutile à ce siècle, je me rejete à cet autre ; et en suis si embouiné, que l’estat de cette vieille Venise, libre, juste, et florissante (car je n’en aime ny la naissance ny la vieillesse) m’interesse et me passionne ce seroit ingratitude de mespriser les reliques et images de tant d’honnestes hommes et si valeureux.”

Volume 65 contains a series of letters written from London in Shakespeare’s time. The authors are the Venetian Ambassadors Francesco Contarini and Marc’ Antonio Correr. In one of the letters, dated 18 February 1610, it is stated that Arabella Stuart complained of “ una certa circoscrizione della sua persona,” or parody of herself, that the “ comici publici ” had purposed to bring on the stage. By the “ comici publici ” may not improbably be meant the King’s players, who, by turning Arabella Stuart into ridicule, expected to please their chief patron. Mr. Rawdon Brown adds, “ In Lord Braybrooke’s Audley End, at p. 263, mention is made of ‘ the Venice players,’ A.D. 1608, and also of Lord Suffolk’s players (p. 264), A.D. 1610. I wonder whether either of these two companies had any hand in bringing Arabella Stuart on the stage, and I should also like to know whether the fact of their having been Venice players in England in Shakespeare’s time has been noted by his commentators when alluding to the Venetian origin of so many of his plays ; for we must consider as Venetian, not merely scenes actually laid in Venice, but also all such as relate to the Signory’s dependencies, whether on the mainland, as at Padua and Verona, or in Cyprus, or in Dalmatia.” In this volume Mr. Rawdon Brown has inserted much interesting information on historical points arising out of the letters, and also in relation to Shakespeare’s plays.

Just as one gap in the Venice Archives is filled up by some of the newsletters, so is another, in great measure, by several of the volumes in this collection containing despatches from Rome. For, at the Frari, all the letters written by the Republic’s Ambassadors in Rome from 1687 to 1797 are missing. Volume 64 contains the original letters of the Signory to Alvise Contarini, its Ambassador at the Hague, during three years of the 30 years’ war, and the preceding volume also supplies valuable material for the same eventful period, concerning which authentic connected accounts are scarce. There is a large number of original letters of the Senate in this collection, written in bold characters, on large sheets of parchment. Perhaps the most curious of the Ducal epistles is that of the Doge Pasquale Cicogna to the Proveditor of Marano (of which a translation is given on p. 356), charging his lieges to fish, so that an ample supply may be furnished for the customary Ducal banquet on St. Vitus’ day. Attention may also be called to the journals of Francesco Contarini, to the itineraries of Venetian Ambassadors, to the documents concerning Fra Paolo Sarpi, to the various papers and pamphlets illustrative of the local government of Venice, to the interesting details of the expenses of different Venetian embassies, and to the volumes of extracts from the diaries of that indefatigable chronicler, Marin Sanuto. The “ Ducali,” or Ducal commissions, described under No. 104, are beautiful specimens of the art of illuminating in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries.

With the exception of a few documents in English, the papers in this collection are in Italian, unless otherwise stated.

On this transcript Mr. Rawdon Brown writes the following note:—"Domenico Bollani's commission as Ambassador to England is dated A.D. 1547, June 4, and he was recalled on the 25th of April, 1549. His successor, Daniel Barbaro, arrived in London in the autumn of that year, and as this report corresponds almost word for word with the one printed in Barbaro's name, and from the allusion to the 'Book of Common Prayer' printed in 1549, I am of opinion that the author of this Report was in fact Barbaro, and not Bollani, and that it was delivered on the 30th April, 1551, concerning which last date see Turnbull's Calendars, p. 98, Vol. I."

21. "Riporti," or Manuscript Gazettes; being news-letters from Venice, Rome, Vienna, Paris, London, Madrid, the Hague, Hamburg, and other cities. There are 81 news-letters from London in this volume, which extends from Aug. 1686 to Feb. 1688. Bound in vellum. Ab. 1,800 pp.

- Mr. Rawdon Brown has written the following note on the fly-leaf of this volume:—
- "The London news-letters contained in this volume and the five following ones are of peculiar interest, because there is a blank in the diplomatic intercourse between England and the Republic of Venice from 1689 to 1695. The notices contained in these letters were probably derived from subaltern Venetian agents, resident in London; and from the despatches of Venetian Ambassadors accredited to the court of France."

28. Ditto from March 1694 to Feb. 1695. There are 49 news-letters from London. Bound in vellum. Ab. 1,200 pp.
- Mr. Rawdon Brown has written the following note on the fly-leaf of this volume:—
- "There is a blank in the Venetian correspondence with England (preserved in the Venice Archives) from 1689 to 1695, as, during that interval, the Republic did not accredit any diplomatic agent to King William III. On this account, the London news-letters, in circulation at Venice, whilst the official intercourse between the two countries was suspended, are probably not very authentic; but their curiosity augments, as it was through them alone, that the Venetians then obtained their regular periodical accounts of England and the English.
- "The fact of this blank was ascertained by me, in company with Mr. Macaulay, in the summer of 1856, when we overhauled together the letters written by Venetian diplomatists in England at the close of the 17th century, and which are now shelved in the corridors of the Frari at Venice."
29. Ditto from Feb. 1695 to Feb. 1696. There are 48 news-letters from London. Bound in vellum. Ab. 1,200 pp.

Five years at the French Court." "In the 'Archivio Generale' at the 'Frari,' there are eight or ten volumes in each of the foreign despatch departments, bound exactly like this book and its fellow, forming thus duplicates of the official letters from the various courts at various periods, and these said volumes, I have been told, once belonged to Amadeo Svayer, a 'man of letters' of German origin established in Venice, and who, during the 18th century, apparently obtained leave to make these copies, or to have them made, from the originals then existing in the Ducal Chancery. How these two volumes got into the Tiepolo collection, I do not know."

59. Register of the despatches of Giovanni Sagredo, Venetian Ambassador to Germany. Vol. I.; from 30 July 1661 to 31 Dec. 1662. Ab. 700 pp.
The following note appears on the fly-leaf in the hand of the writer of the volume:—"I notify, for the information and direction of my posterity, that the letters which are missing, and which are easily known by the numbers of the despatches, were stolen from me, and a portion both stolen and disposed of, by a valet of mine, called Ugolino Ugolini, from Pesaro, on the suggestion of a priest of the Emperor's, resident in Venice, for the purpose of penetrating into some secrets, which I had written to the Senate, when I was with the aforesaid Embassy. This man was secretly indicted before the Inquisitors of State, many months after I had dismissed him, and was examined and convicted, after I also had been examined and had related what papers were missing. Of the criminal nothing more was known, it being said that he was put one night into the Canal Orfano."
The handwriting of this and the next volume is the same as that of Volumes 53 and 54.

On the fly-leaf Mr. Rawdon Brown has written:—"Venice and Holland in the middle of the thirty years' war.
"In the 8th letter of Raumer, p. 60, Vol. I., (English translation, Murray, 1825,) is printed, 'I have found no continuous and connected series of accounts relating to the 30 years' war: some isolated ones I here subjoin.'
"If Raumer is authority, and if I understand him aright, then the contents of this volume, and its fellow, containing the Signory's original letters during three years of the thirty years' war, may be considered valuable."

No. 3.—Catalogue of Venetian Manuscripts—continued.

66. Volume lettered, “ Francesco Contarini—Cram.—1606-9—Inghilterra,” containing:—

(a.) Italian translation, in the hand-writing of Francesco Contarini, of certain replies made by Robert Cecil, Earl of Salisbury, to a libel and to a threat of assassination made by the Catholic recusants. (14 pp.)

(b.) News from the Court of King James written by the two Venetian Ambassadors, Giustinian and Correr, from the 23rd March 1606 to the 15th Sept. 1609. (164 pp.)

A translation of about half of this second portion has been made by Mr. Rawdon Brown, and inserted in this volume. The whole of (b.) is in the hand-writing of Francesco Contarini’s secretary, and Mr. Rawdon Brown says it was evidently written by him before leaving Venice for England in 1609, for the sake of perfect information on the general state of affairs between Venice and England; adding, “The task was what in my youth we should have termed “ a ‘CRAM’.” Hence the absurd error in the lettering of the volume.

The second half of (b) must have been copied by the Secretary from the volume in the Venice Archives labelled, “ Esposizioni “ Roma—Secreta—Collegio III. 1608—1609. No. XVI.”

67. Extracts from the Diaries of Marin Sanuto, illustrative of the reign of Henry VIII. Vol. I.; from 8 May 1509 to 1 Oct. 1518. Ab. 600 pp.

68. Ditto ditto. Vol. II.; from 11 Nov. 1522 to 30 Sept. 1533. Ab. 800 pp.

This volume, and the preceding one, are in the handwriting of a copyist, whose labours, Mr. Rawdon Brown declares, “ diano indicazione di non “ sapere, ne pensare, ne leggere, ed ancora manco scrivere”; nevertheless he says these extracts are “preziosi,” and he has annotated them profusely. These two volumes have been collated in the more ambiguous portions with the original Diaries of Sanuto, and Mr. Rawdon Brown has made use of them, in great measure, if not wholly, in his Calendar of Venetian State Papers.

69. Register of the letters of Marco Minio, Venetian Ambassador to Rome; from 3 Feb. 1517 to 27 Feb. 1518. Ab. 400 pp.

The greater portion of this volume, and of the two following ones, is in Marco Minio’s own handwriting. The despatches have been used in the Venetian Calendar.

70. Ditto ditto; from 3 March 1518 to 18 July 1519. Ab. 400 pp.

71. Ditto ditto; from 23 July 1519 to 29 March 1520. Ab. 300 pp.

Mr. Rawdon Brown writes after the last dated despatch, “ The foregoing is “ the last of Marco Minio’s despatches in my possession, written from Rome, “ tho’ he must have forwarded several more to the Signory, as he did not “ leave the court of Leo X. until the 20th of May 1520. See Sanuto “ (Diaries, Vol. 28, fo. 440), who indeed alludes to the despatches of this “ diplomatist penned between the 29th of March and 20th of May.”

72. Register of the despatches of Bernardo Navagero, Venetian Ambassador to Rome; from 8 Sept. 1555 to 2 May 1556. 260 pp.

These despatches have been used in the Venetian Calendar.

73. Register of the despatches of Francesco Contarini, Venetian Ambassador to Rome. Vol. I.; from 26 May 1607 to 12 Jan. 1608. Ab. 680 pp.

Mr. Rawdon Brown writes on a fly-leaf of this volume: “ The Contarini, “ the writer of these despatches, was afterwards Doge of Venice, namely “ from the year 1623 till 1625. On the morning of Monday 13 February “ 1837, Emmanuele Cigogna, the author of the Venetian Inscriptions, “ remarked this to me, and observed that the paper on which these letters “ are written is Roman.

“ The Tiepolo inherited the Contarini property and archives, and Cigogna “ confirms my assertion that the Tiepolo collection of Venetian Ambassa- “ dorial Reports was one of the most complete and authentic ever formed.”

74. Ditto ditto. Vol. II.; from 19 Jan. 1608 to 16 May 1609. Ab. 1,000 pp.

75. Secret despatches of Angelo Contarini from Rome. Vol. I.; from 8 May to 20 Nov. 1627. Ab. 600 pp.

Mr. Rawdon Brown writes at the beginning of this volume:—"These despatches were written by Angelo Contarini—see the historian Nani (Vol. I. p. 496), and the signature at the foot of Letter No. 6—also Despatch No. 4 in the Register of this same Contarini, A.D. 1640, May 26, wherein, detailing his audience, he mentions having told the Pope how glad he was 'et di rinovar in esso la memoria del mio passato lungo servizio prestato ' già X^{ci} anni presso di Lei,' &c.

"This Contarini was of the branch resident in the parish of San Benetto in Venice, and, from the family palace there, these manuscripts were brought to me in the Casa Paulinelli at San Moïse, from whence I sent them to Edward Cheney in the C^a Corner Spinelli at St. Angelo (having purchased them on his account), and in 1840 he presented them to me in the C^a Ferro at S^a Maria Zobenigo."

- On the fly-leaf of (b.), under the words "Contarini—1588—Fiorenza," Mr. Rawdon Brown has the following note:—"I think it not improbable that these notes in the handwriting of Francesco Contarini may have been a transcript made by him from the Portfolio of Tommaso Contarini, for the fact is that he, Francesco, did not get to Florence in an ambassadorial capacity until the year 1589 (see Andrea Morosini, Vol. 4, p. 60 and p. 74), on the marriage of Ferdinand de Medici, and independently of the year 1588, ut supra, it is seen throughout the manuscript, and especially at p. 467 [p. 24], that when its original was penned, Ferdinand was yet unmarried, and speculations afloat of his taking to wife either the daughter of the Archduke Ferdinand, or Christine of Lorraine. The probable reason for Francesco Contarini's chusing (sic) to copy such notes may be explained by a wish to render himself conversant with the history of a Court, whither he found himself bound on a mission extraordinary, and he doubtless filled the following sheets at the close of the year 1588, or beginning of 1589, ere leaving for Florence."

Behind this figure is a white mitre, lying on the ground. The ecclesiastic has his left hand over the right shoulder of the kneeling man, while with the right he is pointing to a representation of Christ on the cross, appearing in the heavens. In the background are mountains and a plain. In the four corners of the frontispiece are figures of mermen; the two at the top are represented as blowing trumpets, and the two at the bottom are looking downward, each holding a dove on the right hand. At the foot is the Contarini coat of arms. The illumination is in perfect preservation.

At the four corners are represented boys, holding the ribbons attached to a large wreath. At the back of the frame

121. Journal headed, "Commentaries on the events that have happened in Germany " during the embassy of the most illustrious Lippomano, 1582, 83, 84, " ambassador in ordinary to Rudolf the Emperor." 278 pp.
Mr. Rawdon Brown has written the following on a fly-leaf:—" This most " amusing journal was written by one in his 49th year, supposing him to have " attended the Council of Trent (as stated at page 3) A.D. 1545. I imagine " he may have been Lippomano's secretary.
" According to Cicogna (Inscriptions, Vol. 2. p. 330) Paolo Ramusio il " giovane was born on the 4th of July 1532; this would give him 13 years " A.D. 1545, when the Council of Trent commenced, and one might therefore " conclude that this commentary is by him, but Cicogna states that his son " Girolamo was in Spain A.D. 1581, (as confirmed by the Contarini autograph " journal, date 19 to 21 August 1587), and adds that in the year 1582, on the " 19th of April, he was sent as Secretary with the Lippomano into Germany, " where he remained 28 months. It seems to me that in order to hoax his " readers, Girolamo Ramusio may have chosen to put his commentary on his " father, or possibly his father may have accompanied him both to Lisbon " and Vienna in the years 1581 and 1582, in which case I should attribute it " to Paolo Ramusio il giovane, who died of dropsy on the 20th of December " 1600. At all events the style of certain passages more becomes a young " man of seven and twenty, (Girolamo Ramusio was born on the 10th of " October 1567), than an elder of half a century; and, barring the single " assertion concerning his having been present at the Council of Trent, all " the other details, given in the following 'Report', warrant its being " attributed to Girolamo Ramusio il giovane, and not to his father Paolo " Ramusio il giovane, consequently not to an elder of nine and forty, but to a " young man of seven and twenty."

Concerning the version of the latter report printed by Sir Henry Ellis in the second series of his Original Letters illustrative of English History, Mr. Rawdon Brown has written the following note here :—"The copy he translated from must have been very different " to the three in my possession, all of which correspond with the " one in this volume, the which possibly, (remembering the Family " from whose hands it passed into mine) may be considered a " correct copy from the original document written by Ser Zuan " Michiel." Again, " Who can have inserted this falsely ? 'tis very " disgraceful, as destroying the Michiele's claim to impartiality. " Ex uno disce omnes."

123. Report by Giovanni Michiel, Venetian Ambassador to England; 1557. Quarto. 360 pp.
Mr. Rawdon Brown has written the following note on a fly-leaf:—"This report has been translated into English, and was printed by Henry Ellis, A.D. 1827, in the second series of his Original Letters illustrative of English history Vol. 2, page 217, and following, and of this I became aware for the first time in Venice, on Thursday the 22nd March 1838. Had I read his delightful volumes earlier, I should have spared myself some trouble and anxiety taken a year and half since in translating many of the Reports made by Venetian Ambassadors of England, including the one contained in this MS., tho' Ellis's translation has many omissions, particularly about Mons' Priuli, and the sentence printed, 'My Lady Elizabeth who is falsely considered disqualified, &c.' I cannot find the word 'falsely.'"
124. Report by Giovanni Michiel, Venetian Ambassador to England; May, 1557. 61 pp.
This copy is entirely in the handwriting of Francesco Contarini, and is the version from which the translation in Vol. VI. of the Venetian Calendar is taken.
125. Report by Francesco Contarini, Venetian Ambassador-Extraordinary to England; 6 Sept. 1610. 22 pp.
On the front page is the following note in Contarini's own handwriting:—"The present Report was bought by me in Rome this year 1621, and contains substantially divers particulars, which are in the true Report delivered in the Senate. I do not know how they could have come out."
Mr. Rawdon Brown also appends the following (in Italian) concerning the above:—"This note is curious, being by Ser Francesco Contarini (manu propriâ), who was nominated by the Senate, on the 3rd April, A.D. 1621, Ambassador-Extraordinary to the Court of Rome, together with the noble Hironimo Zustinian, Antonio Grimani, and Hironimo Soranzo, to congratulate Pope Gregory XV. on his accession: and, being thus Ambassador at Rome, Ser Francesco found this MS. copy of a report on England made by him eleven years previously. This he bought, making the note annexed; and two hundred and sixteen years after, i.e., on the 2nd Feb., A.D. 1837, this very same MS. was bought in Venice by me, an Englishman, for 55 centesimi."

“ 19th of December 1839, from a Manuscript lent me by the Count Leonardo Manin, nephew by the Father’s side to the last Doge of Venice.” After enumerating the other Reports bound up in the same MS. volume, Mr. Rawdon Brown adds :—“ With the single exception of the statement concerning the Earl of Arundel, the details in this report stamp it, in my humble opinion, as genuine, tho’ very rare (I believe) ; at least this is the only copy I have ever met with during my search after similar documents, which commenced six years ago ; nor was it known to Cicogna, until I showed it to him.”

He has also stated at the beginning of this transcript :—“ On the 3rd of February 1840, Emmanuel Cicogna told me that, having consulted the Archives in Venice, he can find therein no note of this report, nor yet of any Ambassador having been sent to England in the year 1587 ; on the contrary he read a memorandum, which is moreover printed amongst the reports published at Florence, alluding to the lack of any mission to England after that of Giovanni Michiel, who returned from Mary’s Court in the year 1557, until Nicolò Molin went to James the 1st, A.D. 1606.”

“ N.B.—This report will be found translated in a copybook that contains the Michiel and Molin reports, and the Priuli letters.”

THE FORTY-SEVENTH REPORT
OF
THE DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC
RECORDS.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY,

I RESPECTFULLY beg leave to submit to Your Majesty my Annual Report of the proceedings in the Public Record Office for the year 1885: pursuant to the Acts 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94., § 17, and 40 & 41 Vict. c. 55.

I. FAC-SIMILES OF NATIONAL MANUSCRIPTS, &c.,
BY PROCESS OF PHOTOZINCOGRAPHY, &c.

These operations were continued until July 1885, at the Ordnance Survey Office, Southampton, under the superintendence of Mr. William Basevi Sanders, an Assistant Keeper of Records; who then resigned his appointment in this office, after nearly 45 years' service, of which upwards of 23 years were passed at the Ordnance Survey Office, Southampton.

II. CALENDARS AND TRANSCRIPTS.

The progress in the Calendars in 1885 is mentioned in § XI., and in the Appendix No. 3.

A further portion of the Calendar of the Patent Rolls in this Office is submitted to Your Majesty (Appendix No. 7), being for the sixth year of Edward I., calendared by Mr. Frank Scott Haydon, an Assistant Keeper of Records.

Of the Calendar of Spanish Papers, Vol. V., Part I., was still in the Press, commencing with the year 1534.

The Index to the Calendar of Documents relating to Ireland, 1302-1307, which was in progress at the time of the death of Mr. Sweetman, the Editor of the Volume (as mentioned in the Forty-sixth Report (§ II.)), has been completed.

In Appendix No. 6, will be found the List of Creations of Peers and Baronets between 1483 and 1646, compiled from Documents in this Office by Mr. Robert Douglas Trimmer, a Senior Clerk in this Office.

The Volumes of Calendars published in 1885 were :—

(1.) Letters and Papers, Foreign and Domestic, of the reign of Henry VIII., preserved in the Public Record Office, the British Museum, and elsewhere in England; edited by Mr. James Gairdner, an Assistant Keeper of the Public Records. This Volume covers a period of seven months, from January to July 1535, and illustrates the very crisis of the Royal Supremacy, and of a totally new order in the Church. There are many papers relating to the executions, notably those of the Carthusians, of Bishop Fisher, and of Sir Thomas More, which during these months appalled the hearts of Romanists and Protestants alike. Other documents show the harsh conduct of the King towards Katharine and the Princess Mary, and prove the increasing influence of Anne Boleyn over Henry's mind. The negotiations of the King with the city of Lubeck, and the support he gave to it against Denmark, are also told. Further despatches from the Imperial Ambassador, Eustace Chapuys, form, as before, a most valuable portion of the work.

(2.) Calendar of State Papers, Domestic Series, 1658-1659; edited by Mrs. Mary Anne Everett Green. The period of thirteen months comprised in this Volume embraces events of great political importance, viz., the death and funeral of the Protector, Oliver Cromwell, the peaceable succession of his son Richard, the meeting of Parliament, its failure when no longer under the guidance of a strong and energetic hand to hold its ground against formidable military power, its dissolution, the recall of the Long Parliament, the compulsory abdication of Richard Cromwell, and the return of the Government, as far as practicable, into the groove in which it had run after the execution of Charles I. in 1649. Numerous papers will also be found in this work relating to the treatment of Quakers under the Commonwealth.

(3.) Calendar of the State Papers relating to Ireland, of the reign of Queen Elizabeth, August 1588 to September 1592; edited by Mr. Hans Claude Hamilton, an Assistant Keeper of the Public Records. In this Volume are full details of the disasters which befell the retreating Spanish Armada along the west coast of Ireland, from the Giant's Causeway to Cape Clear, and also notices of the great sickness that prevailed in the English fleet. The remaining papers illustrate chiefly the continued tumults in the four provinces of Ireland.

(4.) The Syllabus in English of Rymer's Fœdera, Vol. III. This Volume contains an Index to the two previous Volumes of the work. There are also a table of corrections of dates in the Fœdera and in the Syllabus; a list of errata in the Syllabus; and a brief catalogue of the volumes of transcripts collected for the new edition of the Fœdera.

Of the Calendar of State Papers printed for sale, four Volumes were published in 1885, making a total of 179 Volumes published; 436 copies of the series were sold in 1885, making the total number of Volumes sold amount to 15,424. The state of the Calendars at the end of 1885 will be found in the Appendix (No. 3).

Other operations in regard to Foreign Documents will be found in § IV.

III. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

Six additional Volumes of this series were published in 1885, making a total of 192 Volumes already published; 1,169 Volumes were sold in that year, making a total of 43,431 Volumes sold. A list of those works published in 1885, and of those in progress at the end of 1885, is given in the Appendix (No. 4).

IV. RESEARCHES, &c., IN FOREIGN DOCUMENTS.

In addition to the operations previously mentioned on the Spanish Documents, the following researches, &c., have taken place, during 1885, in documents at Rome, Stockholm, Denmark, and Paris.

Rome.—Mr. William Henry Bliss has continued his researches in the Libraries and Secret Archives of Rome, and 18 bundles of valuable Transcripts have been received from him in 1885, and have been consulted by searchers in this Office. He has made two Reports of his proceedings at Rome for 1885, annexed to this Report (Appendix No. 2).

Stockholm.—Mr. Bliss has also continued his examination and report on the collection of State Papers connected with English and Scottish affairs, preserved among the Public Archives at Stockholm, during the period the Vatican Library was closed; and his proceedings thereon are included in the above Reports.

Denmark.—The Rev. William Dunn Macray, M.A., Rector of Ducklington, Oxfordshire, has continued his researches among the Royal Archives at Copenhagen. His Third Report is hereto annexed (Appendix No. 5).

Paris.—M. Armand Baschet continued his researches in the Public Libraries and Archives of Paris for Documents illustrating British History. A collection of Transcripts was received from M. Baschet at the end of the year 1885, of which a list is annexed to this Report (Appendix No. 1).

V. CANADIAN ARCHIVES.

The Report on the Archives of Canada, with a statement of the Proceedings of Mr. Douglas Brymner, Archivist of the Dominion of Canada, has been received at this Office for 1884. The valuable series of Documents in the Canadian Series, and in other parts of the world, afford great interest respecting Records in various kingdoms,

VI. THE ACT 40 & 41 VICT. c. 55.

In virtue of the first section of the above Act, and under the Rules approved by Your Majesty in Council on the 25th of July, 1882, the Inspecting Officers have continued their labours, with the result that a Schedule of Valueless Documents of Your Majesty's late Office of Pleas in the Court of Exchequer at Westminster (being the Sixth Schedule of Documents of Courts mentioned in the Third Section of the Public Record Office Act, 1838) has been laid before both Houses of Parliament for the statutory period of four weeks. Almost all the Documents included in the Schedule have been forwarded to the Controller of Your Majesty's Stationery Office for destruction, and the Public Record Office has thus been relieved of nine tons and four hundred weight of useless matter.

A Schedule of Documents (relating to the Administration of Wages and Effects of deceased Seamen and Marines from 1802 to 1830) removed from the Admiralty and deposited in the Public Record Office has been settled by the Inspecting Officers, assisted by W. R. Foster, Esq., late of the Admiralty. It has been prepared under the Fourth Rule among the Rules approved by Your Majesty in Council on the 22nd of May 1883, by which the Rules approved by Your Majesty in Council on the 25th of July 1882 are rendered applicable.

This Schedule has likewise been laid before both Houses of Parliament for the prescribed period. The selection of the worthless documents in accordance with the terms of the Schedule is being made by Mr. Foster, who is deputed by the Admiralty to carry out that work, and some of them have been sent for destruction to the Controller of Your Majesty's Stationery Office by the Inspecting Officers.

Under the first two of the Rules made by the late Master of the Rolls on the 11th of August 1882, and approved by Your Majesty in Council on the 22nd of May 1883, the following Schedules have been submitted to both Houses of Parliament for the statutory period of four weeks:—

(1.) Of Documents existing or accruing in the Patent Office. (Second Schedule.)

(2.) Of Documents existing or accruing in the Office of the Commissioners of Customs. Applicable to Customs Outports in Scotland, Ireland, the Isle of Man, and Channel Islands. (Third Schedule.)

(3.) Of Documents existing or accruing in the same Office. Applicable to the Secretary's Department, London, only. (Fourth Schedule.)

(4.) Of Documents existing or accruing in the Office of Her Majesty's Royal Mint in England.

The settlement of the Schedule of Valueless Documents of the Post Office referred by the Master of the Rolls to the Inspecting Officers on the 9th of June, 1885, has, owing to departmental changes, stood over, but will be noticed in a later Report.

The preparation of Schedules of Valueless Documents in the Public Record Office, and the consideration of the Schedules prepared by the different Departments, do not include all the duties of the Inspecting Officers, who are called upon, from time to time, to advise upon other questions, such as proposals to remove to the Public Record Office documents from Departments which are becoming over-crowded.

The Inspecting Officers are collecting materials for further Schedules of Exchequer documents.

VII. FEES: GOVERNMENT AND OTHER BUSINESS, &c.

The amount of business in the Search Office, and of Fees received, in 1885, is as follows:—

	£	s.	d.
1,446 Copies - - -	783	13	6
342 Attendances - - -	151	16	6
	<hr/>
	<hr/>

Amount of Stamp Duty on Office Copies, paid at the Public Record Office by Applicants in 1885, 24*l.* 7*s.*

The total amount of Fees received, and paid to the account of the Consolidated Fund, from 1840, is 33,605*l.* 10*s.* 3*d.*

The number of registered applications for Records in the Search Office by the Public, in 1885, was 42,828, not including the daily inquiries for information, answered and disposed of verbally. 36,280 membranes and leaves were stamped before their production to searchers. These are in addition to membranes and leaves already stamped, which were reproduced, making a total of 64,346 documents consulted by searchers in 1885.

The amount of work performed specially for Government Departments during 1885 is as follows :—

NUMBER of SEARCHES, INSPECTIONS, ISSUES, and RETURNS of GOVERNMENT PAPERS, for GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENTS, in 1885.

Departments.	Number of Searches or Applications.	Number of Inspections, Issues, Returns, &c.
Treasury - - - - -	103	858
Home Office - - - - -	72	185
Foreign Office - - - - -	554	1,487
Colonial Office - - - - -	1,340	2,116
War Office - - - - -	529	8,397
Admiralty (Whitehall) - - - - -	162	3,131

Patent Office - - - - -	211	211
Board of Trade - - - - -	1	—
Total - - - - -	3,102	16,995

The preceding table does not, however, give an adequate idea of the business transacted in the Public Record Office for Government Departments. Searches for, and references to, the Documents wanted, often occupy many days; and long copies are frequently made for those Departments.

1,422 bundles and 26,694 membranes have been stamped before transmission to Government Departments. These are not included in the number stamped for searchers previously stated.

As mentioned in the 45th Report (§ VII.), the Chancery Masters' Documents were removed to the Rolls Yard, part of the Public Record Office, in November and December 1881. 5 applications were made to inspect those Documents in 1885; delivery of papers was made to certain claimants; and 14*s.* 6*d.* received in fees. The Documents are being sorted, indexed, &c.

The assistance afforded to the Historical Manuscripts Commission has been continued (Forty-sixth Report, § VII.); some repairs of Documents for the Commission have been executed, and some copies made.

In the Fortieth Report (§ VI.) it is stated that Returns were in progress, for the Houses of Lords and Commons, of the names of Members returned to serve in Parliament. The Index to them has been continued during 1885, but is not yet completed.

VIII. TRANSFERS AND REMOVALS.

Transfers of Documents have been made into this Office during the year 1885 from the Foreign Office, Admiralty, Admiralty Medical Department, War Office, Royal Courts of Justice, Trea-surey, Treasury Solicitor's Office, Patent Office, and Charity Commission, amounting to 5,747 volumes, 6,285 bundles, parcels, portfolios, &c.

IX. ARRANGEMENT, REPAIRS, BINDING, AND SIMILAR OPERATIONS.

The important duties of repairing and arranging the Records have been carried on in the usual manner during the year 1885; 1,257 bundles, &c., have been arranged; 3,287 membranes and leaves have been flattened; 22,629 leaves guarded; 849 membranes and 11,210 leaves repaired; 1,508 membranes, 22,719 leaves, and 2 volumes sewed; 22,757 leaves repaired by the process of sizing; 23,853 bundles, membranes, and leaves numbered; 36,280 documents stamped; 22,594 leaves collated; 2,028 volumes and bundles tied up; 21 bundles and 128 documents ticketed; 2,010 membranes dusted; Papers incorporated with series to which they belong; 169 volumes bound, bindings repaired, &c.; slips of Indexes, &c., arranged alphabetically, &c.; lists of documents made, stitched, &c.

NO. 2.—REPORTS OF MR. W. H. BLISS TO THE MASTER OF THE ROLLS FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 1885.

(2a.) For the half-year ending 30 June 1885.

(2a.)

MY LORD,

Rome, June 30th.

I HAVE the honour to inform your Lordship that since writing my last report 12 parcels have been sent to the Public Record Office containing 403 copies and 260 abstracts of documents.

I have also sent, in reply to a demand for Wiclif papers, copies of 20 papal documents relating to Wiclif and his adherents. I have not met with any hitherto undiscovered Wiclif tracts, nor indeed is it probable that any would be preserved in Rome; but there are so many private collections of papers here that it is not possible to say what is or is not to be found, were access to be obtained and permission given to search the shelves and volumes of all these.

Some copies from the Stockholm Royal State Archives have been sent, and copies of 15 documents relating to Irish affairs in the beginning of the 17th century, at the request of Mr. Meehan, author of some historical works, have been added, making a total of 710 items.

The papers from the Spanish Nuntiature will be found to be of great interest, and I hope in the course of next year to be able to continue the examination of these volumes to the end of the 16th century.

Some papers from the German Nuntiature between 1530 and 1540 have been copied, and several letters from Adda and others during the years 1670 to 1688, as well as many from the Archives of Propaganda Fide in the earlier part of the same century, will be found to be of service to the student of ecclesiastical history.

I have sent during the first half of this year more papers than usual, as there was some probability that an outbreak of war or of cholera might have interfered with my work during the summer and autumn. I shall therefore, perhaps, be unable to send a proportionate number of transcripts during the next six months.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's obedient humble servant,

(Signed) WILL. H. BLISS.

To the Right Honourable
The Master of the Rolls,
&c. &c. &c.

(2b.)

MY LORD,

Rome, December 31st, 1885.

I HAVE the honour to inform your Lordship that during the past six months I have sent five parcels containing about 1,150 items, making a total for the year of 17 parcels and about 1,850 items.

Some papers relating to Bothwell's divorce from Lady Jane Gordon and his marriage to Mary Queen of Scots are amongst them.

A brief of Pius V., dated July 15, 1571, annulling both the divorce and the subsequent marriage, was followed in 1575 by depositions of witnesses taken at Paris relating to the same matter. These papers have some light thrown on them by letters of the Spanish Nuntiature, and it is not improbable that other documents on the same subject will be forthcoming. A letter of Mary Queen of Scots under date of November 1584 was sent through the Spanish Nuntio to Rome early in 1585.

The series of papers from the Archivio di State di Roma is now complete, and that from the Vatican Regesta will in six months' time be finished to the end of the reign of John XXII., and in all probability continued through three or four of the succeeding pontificates.

No. 2.—Reports of Mr. Bliss to the Master of the Rolls for the year

A large number of papers of the time of Paul V. are being copied, and will be sent next year, together with the continuation of the series of papers selected from the volumes of the Spanish Nuntiature during the latter part of the 16th century.

The pleasure that it has been to me during the years I have been in Rome as agent of the Public Record Office to find many occasions on which I have been able to be of service to those who have asked for information relating to Libraries and Archives here very much more than repays me for any trouble I have taken, and I say this in the hope that I may receive more applications of the same sort.

I beg to submit to your Lordship the following memorandum :—

TRANSCRIPTS and ABSTRACTS sent from ROME since 1876.

I.—Transcripts :—

From 1504 to 1525 few transcripts have been sent, those for this period having been made during the years before 1876.

From 1526 to 1552 about 250 transcripts have been sent. (a)

II.—Abstracts :—

From A.D. 1198 to 1334, abstracts, notes, and lists of documents have been sent from the Papal Regesta and other volumes in the Vatican Archives.

From A.D. 1400 to 1576, abstracts and extracts of documents have been sent from various series of volumes in the Archivio di Stato di Roma.

The number of items from these two sources amounts to some thousands.

The series of transcripts from the Royal State Archives at Stockholm has been continued to the end of 1774, and papers will shortly be sent that will bring it down to the end of 1777.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's obedient humble servant,

No. 5.—THIRD REPORT ON THE ROYAL ARCHIVES OF DENMARK.—By the Rev. WILLIAM DUNN MACRAY, M.A., Rector of Ducklington, Oxfordshire.

To the Right Honourable the Master of the Rolls.

MY LORD,

September 12, 1885.

THIS Third Report, which I have the honour to submit respecting the State Papers relating to Great Britain which are preserved in the Royal Archives at Copenhagen, contains (like the previous reports) the record of one month's work, from 1 to 30 June in the present year. The total number of papers examined was about 1,030; and amongst them will be found many of equal interest with some which have been noted before.

I. The Calendar of Scottish Papers is carried on from the year 1550 to their termination as a distinct series. Amongst them are 20 letters from Queen Mary, of which one is conjointly signed by Darnley, who also writes on one occasion in his own name as King. The damage done to Leith in the Duke of Somerset's invasion of Scotland is illustrated by applications from the Regent and the magistrates of Edinburgh in 1554 for timber for rebuilding the houses which had been burned. The papers relating to Bothwell's imprisonment in Denmark form a very interesting series, and, although they have been examined before, and many of them printed in whole or in part (chiefly in Professor Schiern's Life of Bothwell), it is of value to have them calendared here collectively and consecutively. The Regent Murray's applications for Bothwell's extradition, or for his trial in Denmark, are frequent and urgent, and are backed by Queen Elizabeth. But these applications were made through one, Captain John Clerk, who had previously been one of the mercenaries employed in the Danish army, and who, while thus serving, had incurred grave charges of misappropriation of money, and had become unpopular amongst his Scottish comrades, and was the subject of accusation on their part. And hence the official accuser and the accused were alike thrown into prison; and Clerk's mission from Scotland possibly failed partly from prejudice against the agent employed, as well as from unwillingness to surrender Bothwell to certain execution. Nothing, however, has been found to throw fresh light on the facts of Bothwell's death; and no documents bearing on this have been met with which had not been already examined. There are some interesting papers relative to another and contemporaneous Captain John Clerk, a pirate, who had avowed his "evil mind" against the whole Danish nation, and who bore the ominous nickname of "Cair no man." He was being sought for in the Orkneys in 1580; and may probably in his piracies have been seeking to avenge the then recent death in a Danish prison of one who may have been not merely a namesake but a near kinsman.

Another portion of the Scottish papers which will be regarded with interest is the series relating to the marriage of James VI. We have here not merely all the formal marriage documents, with letters relating to James' adventurous voyage to Norway and his Queen's previous storm-tossed attempts to cross to Scotland, and journals of several Danish ambassadors, but also a set of original legal papers relative to the various lands granted as dowry, with their rentals; followed by a glossary of the technical terms, possibly drawn up by Sir John Skene. This glossary I have copied at length, as having interest from its connexion with the papers, and as giving authoritative interpretations of the legal terminology employed. With these papers there is intermixed a series of letters from James, giving graphic accounts of the various attempts made to gain access to him by Stewart, the new Earl of Bothwell, as well as a curious narrative by the Danish ambassadors of their interviews with the King and Earl upon the last of these attempts in 1593; and from these I have given large extracts. The total number of letters and documents under King James' signature amounts to 76.

II. The Scottish Calendar is followed by a list of English papers from 1548 to 1607, supplemental to the lists in the previous reports, which were found in a parcel of miscellaneous mercantile collections which had not come under my notice before, and which was brought to my knowledge by the kindness of Mr. Krarup. Amongst these are many additional letters from Queen Elizabeth relative to the complaints of English merchants; with two letters from the famous John Hawkins in 1566-7, who is testified to by Elizabeth as one who “multis justis de causis percharus nobis existit,” and who says in the second letter that he had intended to offer his services for the Danish fleet had he not been ordered elsewhere by the Queen; namely, on the expedition for relief of the Huguenots at Rochelle, with which he was sent in the spring of 1567. From two interesting letters from Paul Knibbe, the Danish ambassador, giving accounts of his going to Oxford to have audience of the Queen in 1592, and of his being seized there with what proved to be his fatal illness, I have given large extracts. It is amusing to find him describing the “lion-hearted Queen” (as she might often have been called), as being naturally extremely timid.

III. The letters from Charles I., as King, are 106 in number, beginning at his accession, and ending with one written from his prison at Newport on 24 Oct. 1648. From Nottingham in Sept. 1642 he sends Sir John Henderson to ask for military assistance, an application repeated subsequently, but equally in vain on both occasions, except that some arms and ammunition were forwarded. Far from the gaining of substantial help from Denmark, we find, on the other hand, application from King Christian IV. to Charles for the loan of some of his ships which were supposed to be lying idle in his harbours, for employment in a war with Sweden. In 1649 a sum of 24,000 rix-dollars was given to the Marquis of Montrose through Corn. Uhlfeldt, but, strange to say, without the cognizance then of the young King, Charles II., whose non-acknowledgment of the gift consequently and naturally gave offence, and is afterwards explained by Sir Edward Hyde.*

IV. A calendar of miscellaneous English and Scottish papers follows, from 1613 to 1659, amongst which are many relating to the affairs of the Palatinate, and a few letters from Queen Henrietta Maria. A thick volume of the “Diurnal Occurrences” in Parliament in 1640–41, which belonged to the Danish ambassador then in London, Rosenerantz, deserves more attention than I could this year give it, from the want of all means of comparison with the printed “Diurnal” of the time or any books of reference. I shall be glad if I may be enabled at another time to examine its contents more closely. From 1643 onwards we find Parliamentary agents employed in negotiations with Denmark, and complaint made against King Christian’s employing on his side the Sir John Henderson who was the trusted agent of King Charles. Several letters which have Milton for their author (but not for their scribe), and are printed among his Literæ, are found among the Parliamentary correspondence. Seven letters occur with the signature of the Protector Oliver, and two with that of his son Richard. Of the later years of the Interregnum there remain a few papers in the Archives which I was not able on this visit to examine and describe.

V. The last portion of my work exhibits a calendar of the letters to England from Christian IV. and Frederick III., from 1625 to 1660, noted from the official copies in the Registers of the Royal Latin correspondence. These are, of course, frequently found to illustrate letters described in the other divisions, and form a necessary supplement.

In conclusion, I have to repeat my sincere acknowledgments of the kindness with which all my inquiries have been assisted.

I have the honour to be,
My Lord,
Your most obedient servant,
(Signed) WILLIAM DUNN MACRAY.

* Many papers relating to this matter are among the Clarendon State Papers in the Bodleian Library, and are described in the second vol. of the Calendar of that collection.

I.—MISCELLANEOUS SCOTTISH PAPERS, TO THE UNION OF THE CROWNS OF ENGLAND AND SCOTLAND; PART II.

1551—1604.

[1550, 1551 ?] “Summa rerum qua in Scotia geruntur et audiuntur”; a narrative sent to the King of Denmark, Christian III., by his agent.

Arrived safely in Scotland with Earl George [of Rothes]. The Queen and Regent, having received the letter sent with the Earl, return great thanks, especially for the delay (“delatione”) of the Orkneys. The reason why they had not replied was because it was necessary to consult the King of France; they promise that then all shall be done in accordance with the wish of the King of Denmark. But the writer believes that neither now, nor when the young prince has grown up, is any other answer to be expected than the asking for long delays (“longas delationes”) with regard to the Orkneys. “Quare si finem huic negotio insularum imponere velit vestra Majestas (cum regnum Scotie in Gallorum manibus fere illapsum sit) unum horum trium faciendum, nimirum, aut consensu Regis Galliarum redimende insule, aut a Scotis singulis annis pensio quædam accipienda, aut jus vestrum pro summa pecuniaria remittendum, quam Regem Galliarum lubenter daturum sperant.” With regard to the goods seized by pirates, he has done what he could, but the legal process being very tedious and costly, and there being “parva illic juris aut justitie cura hoc tempore,” he has not been able to do as much as he wished, but the Chancellor and the Bishop of Orkney promise satisfaction on sufficient proof; therefore either let Scottish goods to equivalent amount be stopped at Elsinor, or else let more certain evidence be forwarded.

“Quod ad novitates attinet. Regina Scotorum Delphino Gallie in matrimonio concessa est ubi ad adultam etatem pervenerit. Regina vidua non solum filiam in Galliam premisit, sed etiam precipuam regni nobilitatem secum in Galliam duxit, ne quid domi manentes contra Gallum molirentur. Interea Galli arces in Scotia muniunt, ita ut quantum humana prudentia perspicere possit, difficile erit illud regnum ex Gallorum manibus extricare. Imo sperant Galli se etiam [Angliam ?] adjungere sibi posse, accepta occasione, quam habituros putant defuncto Cesare. Interea summam prudentiam judicant esse, latere ad tempus, colligere interea (nervos belli) pecunias, ac pro hujus potentis Cesaris vita dissimulare. Impetrarunt tandem Scoti pacem a Cesare, quam audivi Edinburgi publice proclamari; verum quamdiu duratura sit incertum est. Nam male audit ibi Cesar, propter federa perperam cum variis principibus observata, et dicitur artes habere quecunque etiam federa dirumpendi, nimirumque dicto illi Julii Cesaris adherere, Si jus violandum, causa regni; in ceteris pietatem cole. Egre fert Cesar partem aliquam in Scotia accepisse Gallum, et variis artibus ad se trahere Angliam conatur. Uterque utriusque potentiam metuit. Nec mirum est istos duos contendere hoc tempore pro imperio, cum jam quingentis annis Reges Gallorum et Cesares Germanie pro monarchia contenderint, et jam ad extremum fere perventum est. Non parva prudentia erit etiam vestre majestati alterum retinere amicum ne alter nocere poterit. Religio et respublica Scotorum consiliis et prudentia Gallorum gubernatur. Angli, dejectis omnibus monasteriis, altaribus et imaginibus, evangelicam doctrinam promovent, nisi quod quibusdam curiosiores paulo videntur in sacramentariis opinionibus. Cupiunt confederari evangelicis principibus quo facilius Gallorum potentiam Cesarisque astutiam evadere queant. Cum essemus Antverpiæ dedit mihi Scotus Cesareanas literas ad vestram Majestatem quas domino cancellario dedi.” (Followed by general European news.) [Scotl., 38 d.]

Endorsed as received at Colding in Feb. 1551.

1552. 1 July. “Abredin.” The Dowager Queen Mary to the King of Denmark on behalf of the merchant Will. Kinloch, whose ship has been restored, but not his goods. Fr. Signed. [Scotl., 38 d.]

1558. 13 Aug. Edinb. The Queen Dowager to King Christian, in reply to complaints of piracies by Scottish subjects. Has made the most careful inquiry, and finds that there is only one who can be so charged, one Robertsoun, "quem ob id genus scelera multis jam annis exulem et extorrem facinosorum hominum ex omni gente collecta manu per maria vagari aiunt"; desires that if captured he may be treated as a public enemy. Had sent very lately one of her servants to explain all this, but he was taken by the English on the coast of Norway, despoiled of his goods and letters, and has returned home by being with difficulty ransomed. Believes that English pirates assume the Scottish name and bring this shame upon Scotland; and the more so since they even dared to seize and despoil the messenger of King Christian. Signed. [Ib.]

- Same date.* The same to the same, signed by the Regent, explaining that the reason why Capt. Thanks him for the permission given to the latter to levy troops. With regard to the enemies of the truth [in religion], trusts that God will protect his Church. Is grieved to hear of the misfortune ("vicem") of the Queen, "eujus hactenus non obscuræ fuerunt virtutes et ornamenta." [Ib.]

See Schiern, u.s., pp. 351-2, where, however, a clause is inserted about Clerk's being employed by the Scots which does not appear in this letter.

1567. 13 Nov. Copenh. Peder Oxe of Gislefeld and Johan Friiss of Hesselager to Fred. II. They have the Scottish Earl [Bothwell], the husband of the Scottish Queen, in their custody here in the castle, but he is so cunning and crafty ("listig og anslagisk," i.e., Germ., anschlägig) that they recommend the King to transfer him to one of his castles in Jutland. He asked leave to write to the King, which they permitted on condition they saw the letter; and lest there should be no one with the King who understands French, they enclose a Danish translation.

Enclosure:—

Transl. of Bothwell's letter; his flight from Scotland; desires an interview with the King. [Scotl., 82 App.]

1567. 30 Dec. Copenh. Copy of the reply by Fred. II. to Murray's letter of 30 Sept., sent by the hands of the herald who brought that letter. The Earl "Boithvallus" denies the charges brought against him, asserts that he was legally acquitted in Scotland, and declares that he is the King of Scotland and that the contrary faction are rebels. The question of his surrender requires therefore careful consideration. Liberty was granted to the bearer of prosecuting the accusation before the Council of the Kingdom at its next meeting, but as he desires to hasten his return, it is hoped it will be sufficient for the present that the Earl be kept in safe and close custody until a just determination can be made.  Dated, like the paper of 28 Dec., "1568."
 In English, in Berry's Schiern, u.s., pp. 337-9.
1568. 30 March. Westm. Queen Elizabeth to Fred. II. (in Ascham's handwriting). There is very little doubt, if common discourse is to be believed, but that the Earl of Bothwell, who is now detained in Denmark, was both the author and the doer of the crime of the death of Henry, consort of Queen Mary of Scotland; a crime plainly intolerable to all men in its example, but especially to Kings. Urges therefore that Bothwell be given up to those who are sent from Scotland to claim him, pledging her royal word that she will take care that he shall have a just trial. Signed. [Scotl., 38 f.]

1568. 21 Aug. Edinb. The same ("Jacobus Regens") to the same. Capt. Axel Wefart has no doubt reported that all that he desired in King Frederick's name has been granted. Has given to the bearer, for delivery to the King, a full account of the trial of the notoriously cruel murderer Bodwall before the three Estates of the realm, at which he had been duly cited to appear; not appearing, he was by most certain evidence and the confessions of his accomplices unanimously convicted and sentenced to death, his property to be confiscated, and his family attainted. It concerns the public welfare that his execution should take place in Scotland rather than in a foreign kingdom; but since the seas are so infested with pirates that he could not safely be brought to Scotland without a strong convoy of ships and men, which cannot be done conveniently at this time, Capt. John Clerk is authorised to behead Bodwall in Denmark, and to send his head to Scotland to be fixed (according to custom) on a pole in the place where the murder was committed. Desires that leave may be given for this infliction of punishment; and how it will be regarded by other princes can be easily seen by the letter of the English Queen. Lat., with a German translation. 1570. 17 July. Edinb. “Mathw Regens,” (the Earl of Lennox) to Fred. II., requesting that he will permit John Clerk to return to Scotland, where, in consequence of the murder of the late Regent, foreign auxiliaries are needed to assist in subduing commotions. Hears that some are endeavouring to demonstrate Bothwell’s innocence; begs that no credence may be given to them, but that Bothwell may be kept in safe custody, until messengers can be sent to refute the false statements made on his behalf. [Ib.] 1570. 18 July. Edinb. The same to the same, in behalf of Alexander Campbell and Archibald Steuart who have been imprisoned on account of false charges brought against them. All their accusers are men infamous at home; the first, Gawin Elphinstoun, for robbing his patron with whom he had lived honourably for some years; the second, Richard Skowgall, fled the country, after being imprisoned for adultery; and the third, Walter Aikman, was notorious in France for his rapacity, and at home was an agent in all Bothwell’s crimes. On the other hand, Campbell is of the noble family of Argyle, and Steuart, of the equally noble family of Uchiltre, and both of untarnished character at home. [Scotl., 38 f.]

1570. 3 Aug. “Ex ædibus Cheynensibus.” Queen Elizabeth to Fred. II. Is informed by the Regent of Scotland that John Clerk is accused of heinous offences by some ill-willers, chief amongst whom is the Earl of “Bodouell ;” and therefore at his request writes to certify that Clerk was long and favourably known in England for courage [“virtute”], fidelity, and integrity; and does not doubt but that all the charges against him are forged by Bothwell. As to the latter, she has before now applied for his being sent to Scotland to undergo trial; begs that at any rate he may be kept in close confinement; for it cannot be creditable to the King that a regicide should wander about at liberty, much less that he should be able to contrive plots against the innocent. 1570. 26 Aug. Strivling. “Mathw Regens” to the same. Hearing that, contrary to all expectation, Bothwell is not only set at liberty, but is endeavouring the injury of good men and the infliction on his accusers of the punishments which he himself deserves, he sends Thomas Buchannan, to remove all doubts on the matter, and to effectually obtain what has before been asked. If there is any nation so barbarous as to reckon of little moment the misfortunes of supreme magistrates, “quos Deus ipse in deorum numero recenset et cogno-mento sibi adæquat,” yet surely King Fred. will not himself, by tardiness in punishing the murder of one King, weaken and well-nigh overthrow the authority of all. With regard to Clerk, his accusers are men whose whole lives are stained with crime, while everything in his whole course of life among various nations redounds to his glory. Lat., with a German translation. 1570. 30 Nov. Copenh. T. Buchanan to Fred. II., explaining that he cannot, consistently with the precise instructions he has received, deliver the letters with which he is charged by the Queen of England and the Regent of Scotland to any one but the King himself. As he hears from the Secretary that the King’s health and the difficulty of travelling prevent at present this personal audience, he will patiently wait until it can be granted. [Ib.]
- Received at Fredrichsburg, 2 Dec.

1570. 31 Dec. Copenh. Buchanan to the King. Hearing that he is about to go on a journey, begs for an answer to his propositions of Dec. 14; or if that cannot now be given, and he must wait for the King’s return, begs that meanwhile Clerk may be set at liberty, and allowed to live in the city at his own expense. [Ib.]
1571. 9 March. Frederichsborg. Reply on the part of the King of Denmark to Buchanan’s application. Bothwell denies the charges alleged against him; nevertheless, the King will be willing to surrender him if sufficient security be given by the Queen of England and the Government of Scotland that he shall have a fair trial, that no prejudice shall accrue in any way to Denmark or any Danish subject by the surrender, and that like extradition will be made if in any case it be required by Denmark. Clark is in prison, and is to be brought to trial, for several offences of which he is accused. [Scotl., 38 f.]

No. 5.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark—continued.Scottish Papers. 1551—1604.

1571. 19 Mar. Copenh. Representation from Buchanan to Fred. II. in reply to the preceding answer of 9 Mar. (received on 12 Mar.). The Queen of England has already given the desired guarantee with respect to Bothwell's trial if he be surrendered; but if the King of Denmark will draw up the form in which he wishes that guarantee to be given, Buchanan will endeavour to get it signed. Replies to the counter-statements made by Bothwell in his own defence; Bothwell cannot deny the violence offered by him to the Queen of Scotland, "scelus meo iudicio inexpressibile; nam princeps illa
" illustrissima potentissimaque, summis Dei donis ornata, meritque inter præ-

" illa tandem in hæc calamitates veluti cæca inciderit." Vindicates Capt. John Clark's action with regard to Bothwell as being that of the duly accredited agent from the King of Scotland for this purpose; and replies to the various charges brought against him, seriatim, but hopes to be excused if he does not answer as completely as the case requires, "cum mihi hætenus cum eo loqui
" denegatum sit denegeturque," while he has to give a report alike to the government of Scotland and to the Queen of England on the matters entrusted to him. [Scotl., 38 f.]

1571. 5 July. Leith. "Mathw Regens" (the Earl of Lennox) in the name of the King, to Fred. II. Having received a report from the ambassador Thomas Buchanan, he defers for a while the case of Bothwell until a reply is received from the Queen of England, with whom he has communicated. But with regard to John Clerk, whom he hears "adhuc arcta custodia premi," and whom he cannot neglect, "præsertim cum legati personam (eujus sacrosanctum corpus

" reddendis nentiquam discessisse persuasum habeamus," he desires that he may be sent back to Scotland, since now in this time of civil war he will be extremely useful through his military skill and fidelity, there being no less need now for his services at home than there was for them abroad when he was permitted to go to the assistance of Denmark in the war with Sweden. Received at Copenh. about the end of May, 1574.

1574. 12 June. Copenh. Copy of the reply of Fred. II. to the preceding letter, a few days after the reception of which he received also a bond, sealed with the seal of the King of Scotland, giving security that Clerk's release should not be to the prejudice of any Danish subject. Has stated in former communications that Clerk was accused rather by his own Scottish comrades than by others, and that he has given cause for experiencing the severity of justice; but would be willing to extend the desired mercy were it not insinuated in the proposed form of bond that Clerk is unjustly treated; care must therefore be taken to guard against any reprisals, and the bond must be refused as insufficient and prejudicial, and Clerk's case must be referred to legal decision should it be required. [Ib.]

1574. 19 Aug. Striviling. Reply of the Regent (in the King's name) to the preceding. Sends another, and fitter, form of bond, sealed, “ne ulla in re hominis saluti deesse videremur,” and trusts that Clerk will consequently in a short time be set at liberty. [Ib.]

1574. St. Luke's day (18 Oct.). Schanderburg. Copy of the answer of Fred. II. to the preceding. The transmitted form contains no mention of the offences of Clerk and his companions. If a clause be inserted to this effect; “si forte Clericus vel ipsius complices et adharentes subditos nostros damno vel injuria ulla adfecerint, ut . . . libera nobis sit facultas et potestas Scotorum naves et bona, in salo ac statione nostra, tantisper arrestandi detinendique donec subditis de damnis istis illatis, ex æquo et bono, plane satisfiat,” and if Clerk himself gives up the royal letters about his soldiers' pay which he wrongfully obtained, he shall be released. See Schiern, p. 384 n.

1575. 26 June. Edinb. “James Regent,” in the King's name, to Peter Oxe. The death of the King's grandfather (the Earl of Lennox) hindered the prosecution of the application made some time ago by the ambassador Buchanan either for the surrender of Bothwell, “damnatae memoriæ, parricida nostro,” or for his punishment in Denmark. Desires to know, as speedily as possible, whether if the conditions then stipulated for by the King of Denmark be accepted and due security given, that application will now be granted. [Ib.]

1576. 8 Oct. Edinb. “James Regent,” in the King's name, to Fred. II., on behalf of William Lumisdan, who served under Capt. John Clerk against the Swedes. Clerk's unexpected death (“inopina e vita discessio”) has proved a great hindrance to Lumisdan's receiving his arrears of pay; begs that he may receive the payment he has so well earned, for which he has waited seven years, and for which he has his captain's certificate. Will send 60 chosen men as soon as possible for the garrison of Cronenburg; but being now in charge of Brussels which is surrounded by enemies, has to send for leave to the Prince of Orange, who is now in Campen. He will appoint a distinguished captain who will keep the men to their duty, as the King has at great cost experienced how necessary it is that all soldiers, but especially those of the Scottish nation, should be under the command of a good captain. 1590. 28 May. Dysart. Certificate (on parchment) in the name of the King that Adam Boduell, of Dysart, has paid the duty on six lasts of white salt in the ship The Grace of God, of Brintiland, going to Dantzic. Scottish. [82 App.]
1590. 21 Apr.—5 June. Diary, in German, signed and sealed by Peter Munck, Sten Brake, and Breide Rantzow, containing the narrative of their proceedings during their mission in Scotland. Twenty-three leaves, in folio. [53a.]
1590. 8 June. Holyrood. James VI. to the Regents of Denmark. In consideration of the misery which the Spanish, English, and French war may cause to the Christian world, he sends William Stuart, of Pittenweme, and John Skene as his ambassadors to Denmark and to the German princes who are now assembled in Diet, to propose mediation. If thereafter the King of France and Queen of England hinder the peace of Europe, they must, as disturbers of peace, be abandoned and left to themselves; if the King of Spain rejects fair conditions, then there must be a common league to defend the pure religion of Christ. When he was in Denmark some months ago, he communicated his ideas on this subject through his Chancellor, John Maitland, of Thirlestane. [39b.]
Received 26 July.
- Same date.* The same to Christ. IV.; a shorter letter to the same effect. [Ib.]

1590. 14 Sept. Hamburg. William Stuart and John Skene to Christ. IV., reporting the result of their communications with the Protestant princes of Germany respecting the proposed mediation. Copy. [40b.]
- Same date.* The same to the Chancellor and Council of Denmark, on the same subject; sent by David Barclay. The common enemy hopes to destroy all who profess the true religion through an universal Spanish monarchy. Urge that Denmark should, together with Scotland, send ambassadors to England, France, and Spain. Orig. [Ib.]
1590. 29 Dec. Holyrood. James VI. to Christ. IV. While awaiting reply to his last letter, the Sieur de Morlans, ambassador from the King of France, has arrived, with the news that two Spanish armies have entered France, that the forces of the Dukes of Lorraine and Savoy are at hand, that the veteran army of the Duke of Parma is wintering at Soissons, that another Spanish fleet is being prepared for the spring, and that the whole power of the Popish faction is to be poured out on France, in the hope of accomplishing, with fire and sword, the plotted destruction of all religious persons throughout the Christian world, and fulfilling the conspiracy of the Council of Trent. Vehemently urges the King of Denmark to join, according to the proposal of the Queen of England, with the German princes, and to assist them with as large a sum of money as possible, laying aside what is now the useless proposal of an embassy. [39b.]
Received at Copenh. in June 1591.

The owners, impoverished by this loss, were obliged to abandon commerce; but now that 12 years have elapsed and peace has been for some time restored, they send the bearers, John Blacburne and John Cudbert, to recover their property and to attempt to renew their trade. 1592. 13 May. Dalkeith. James VI. to Christ. IV., with an account of the Earl of Bothwell’s attack upon Holyrood.

“ Pervenit ad Serenitatis vestræ aures inhumanæ contra nos conjurationis rumor: res sane gesta est, cujus artifex præcipuus erat Bothwellius, homo quidem ut cujus vita antehac nullo non scelere fuit inhonesta, sic suæ nequitia cumulum tam vitæ quam honoris nostri periculo imponere volebat. Sed ne Seren. vestram ad perpetuum tantæ audaciæ horrorem tam immane et indignum lateat facinus, ab initio rem omnem expedite referemus. Sicut maximus erat maleficarum utriusque regni concursus ad omnem dilectissimæ conjugii nostræ, Seren. vestræ sorori charissimæ, ad regnum nostrum prohibendum accessum, ita quamprimum susceptam a nobis in Norvegiam vidit expeditionem, non citius navem conscendimus quin homo iste impurus, nostræ autoritatis æmulus, in caput nostrum omnem artem veneficam tentavit. Sed tam scelerati, Dei Opt. Max., qua regum ac principum majestatem servatur, providentia, vani irritique cecidere conatus. Nobis itaque reversis, deprehensæ sunt incantatrices; veneficii accusantur; crimen confitentur; tanti denique sceleris autorem fuisse Bothwellium morte confirmarunt. Accersitur Bothwellius; accusatur; custodiæ, sed inter conjunctissimos, traditur; donec plenius de crimine cognosceremus, non pro gravitate sceleris vel suo merito a nobis tractatur. Sed cum tot tantorumque criminum esset conscius, nec minus suæ causæ quam nostræ clementiæ diffideret, violata custodia, et hominibus optime de eo meritis in suspitionem (word lost through damp), subtiliter excessit, erupit, evasit. Et cum potius clementiam ambire debuisset quam novum aliquod facinus aggredi, ulterius adhuc prorupit audacia; neque enim tanto scelere pollutum pectus a maximo inhumanitatis officio se potuit coercere, quodimo prius patratum nefas recentiori scelere tanquam teste comprobaret, quod in utriusque et nostrum et dulcissimæ conjugis nostræ caput concinnavit. Statim quosdam homines seditiosos, quorum nulla pars vitæ ab immuni scelere erat immunis, ad suam factionem convocavit: clanculum concurrunt: ad totius reipublicæ status subversionem in nostra cæde fidem pollicentur, paciscuntur, conjurant. Occasione tandem arrepta ex nostra plusquam solita cum dilectissima conjuge solitudine, sceleratum opus sceleratius aggrediuntur. Armata manu de nocte in regiam nostram audacissime irrupunt; ubi imminente fere expugnatione ferro et igne grassantes nullam immanissimorum hostium prætermittunt crudelitatem. Sed Deus Opt. Max., cujus beneficio regum majestas inimicis parturit terrorem, nostrum animum ad vim prohibendam et justissimam tam vitæ quam honoris propugnationem excitavit, quo terrefacti hostes, cum improba expectatione frustrarentur, repente se in fugam conjecerunt. Speramus tamen, eadem Dei Opt. Max. gratia qua ab eorum furore conservati fuimus, nisi nostras dereliquerint terras, quamprimum fore apprehendendos, ut justum tanti sceleris supplicium patiantur. Si autem ad externas convolaverint nationes, omnium profecto regum interest et principum in hujusmodi immanes salutis regiæ proditores animadvertere. Sic lex, natura, sic tanti exempli periculum, quod ad plures potest pertinere, postulat et efflagitat. Hæc itaque sunt quæ potissimum Seren. vestræ de immanissima Bothuellii conjuratione communicare operæ pretium existimavimus, sed prolixius fortasse, quod non minus in totius negotii commemoratione Seren. vestræ rogatis plene satisfacere studuimus, quam eandem de ipsa facti veritate certiore efficere; cum plerumque eò facinorosorum hominum provehatur audacia ut suorum scelerum gravitatem fictis rationibus studeant diminuere.” [39*b*.]

1592. 16 July. Holyrood. The same to the same, on behalf of Walter Williamson and some others, of Karkaldy (sic), who, having gone in a ship called The Trinity, without cargo, to Colberg to repair and refit it, were seized as robbers, and their ship carried to Coopmenholme. [1*b*.]

1592. 17 Aug. Dalkeith. James VI. to Christ. IV. with an account of Bothwell's attack at Falkland. Uncertain weather and distance prevent his writing so often as he would; but he seizes this opportunity “per . . . dominum a Dignivalle” [Dingwall] of telling him of their general safe and quiet condition, “si immane scelus molientis Bothuellii effrenata pateretur audacia, qui rem

1592. 15 Sept. Dalkeith. Letter to Nic. Kaas, of which the signature has been lost through damp, but bearing the seal of Will. Stewart. Nothing was done at the meeting of Parliament about the promises made to the Queen. Advises the sending an embassy. Purposes coming to Denmark. [53 b.]

1592. 15 Oct. Holyrood. James VI. to Christ. IV., on behalf of Capt. John Dallochy, who, while serving in France with some Scottish auxiliaries, heard that the stipends of certain “beneficiariorum” of Denmark were to be finally paid off; is returning therefore to Denmark, but fears that because he never received a summons which was sent him to attend King James when there, and consequently did not then appear (being also at the time engaged in defending a besieged city), he may be regarded as being in fault. [39 b.]

1592. 31 Nov. Holyrood. The same to the same, asking his good offices for William Steuart of Pytinueme, who is journeying to Belgium to recover arrears of pay due to him for service as colonel in the Scottish legions in the United Provinces; and who has never been found acting otherwise than as becomes a good and honourable man, although often committed on suspicion of disloyalty; (“licet sæpius de suspectæ sui erga nos officii integritate fuerit custodiæ com-

Received at Copenh., 10 Mar. 1593.

1592. 8 Dec. Edinb. [William Stewart of Pittenweem] to the same. The bearer brings letters from the King and Queen with accounts of affairs (“vix bene gestis”) in Scotland, and is also instructed as to the favour which the writer begs with regard to his business in Belgium. [Ib.]

The signature has been lost through damp, by which many of the papers of this period are injured: the letter itself is written in a secretary’s hand, but is shown to be from Stewart by the reference to his Flemish application, and also (as is noted in an endorsement) by the seal of arms (faintly impressed), which is found also on a subsequent letter from Stewart of 29 Mar. 1603.

Received at Copenh., 10 Mar. 1593.

1592[-3]. 29 Mar. Holyrood. James VI. to the same, with an account of the conspiracy on the part of the Papists, who, after having perfidiously abjured the Pope and subscribed the articles of the reformed religion, invited the Spaniard to come over as soon as possible, and prepared themselves to fight with him against their country: but some letters being intercepted and some persons arrested, the conspiracy was discovered. “Ad perduelles istos perse-

Informs him of this lest any ambassadors should come meanwhile, who might go in vain search for him in these remote islands, or be wearied by delay in waiting for his return. The leaders of the conspiracy were these: William Earl of Angus, George Earl of Huntley, Francis Earl of Errol, and Patrick Gordon of Achindoun, together with an obscure crowd of Jesuits. Begs that if any of these should be found in Denmark, they may be arrested and committed to closest confinement. [Ib.]

1593. (31 July: see following art.) Holyrood. The same to the same, and to the Governors ("gubernatoribus") of Denmark, giving a full and confidential account of Bothwell's renewed and successful conspiracy; in the handwriting of the Danish ambassador, [Nic. Crag, as appears from the narrative in the next article].

"Serenissime Rex, consanguinee, affinis et frater conjunctissime, illustres et amplissimi viri, sincere nobis dilecti: Quod a subditis quibusdam nostris septi et circumdati simus, qui omnia dicta et facta nostra instar coryceorum observant, eo factum est ut opera legatorum, quo hæc tutius et liberius scriberemus, uti cogere[mur]. Ac tametsi potuissent legati satis, quæ eorum est fides et diligentia, oretenus omnia referre quæ operæ pretium esset vos super hisce resciscere, tamen ad majorem fidem nos simul et ipsi pertinere judicavimus ut a nobis ipsis omnia intelligeretis. Petierunt quidem illi, nostro consilio et rogatu, ab Ordinibus et Consiliariis nostris scripto sibi omnia hæc declarari: sed quod ipsi, delegantes ad nos respondendi munus, levius et brevius responderint, eo vobis non satisfactum in existimavimus. Itaque nos ipsi committere (sic) non volumus quin prolixius paulo vobis exponeremus, quomodo res circa perturbationem quandam et rerum mutationem quæ in aula nostra, legatis hic oportune præsentibus, contigit, habeat. Notum autem jam pridem vobis esse putamus quomodo quidem ex nostris, Franciscus Bodwelliæ quondam comes, reus factus diabolicarum artium et veneficii, eoque nomine accusatus, in carcerem duobus ab hinc annis missus sit. Is tum diem judicii imminere videns, quum causa . . . fortean non satis confideret, extremam judicii . . . sententiam fuga antevertit atque e carcere evas[it], unde jam biennio integro, publico judicio damnatus, exulavit. Quo temporis spatio bis terve ubi nos eramus irrupere tentavit, dolo hoc sæpius machinatus, quamvis frustrato conatu aditus ad nos ipsi non patuerit. At xxiii Julii, mane, circa horam octavam, quum jam vix induti essemus, accidit ut per posticum palatii clam, cum duobus vel tribus comitibus, irreperit, et in cœnaculum nostrum, ubi alii a conjuratis ejus addicti ipsum præstolabantur, per gradus, nostris incognitus, ascenderit, ac tandem perfectit quod voluit. Nam ibi tum pulsatis foribus cubiculi nostri, quum puer qui eas aperuerat, visis strictis gladiis, denuo claudere, obnitentibus ejus ministris, non posset, irruit ipse cum ministris suis, hominibus facinorosis perditis, ac perduellionis aliorumque criminum convictis et damnatis, ita ut quadraginta aut eo plures nos stupefactos et attonitos evaginatis gladiis cinxerunt. Ac tametsi unus aut alter nobis tum adfuerint qui vicissim arma contra tam apertam vim corripuerint, tamen res visa ita ex composito agi, ut magis ab illis ipsis periculum quam defensionem paratam existimarem. Cæptum ibi tunc est nobiscum de condonatione agi; sed quum non statim cederemus eorum precibus, haud dissimularunt quid animi haberent, quidve propositum illis esset, si constanter in deneganda gratia persisteremus. Id quod tum maxime indicarunt quum nobilem quidam, accurrentes in auxilium, portam palatii effracturos se minitarentur. Nam in faciem nobis ipse Bodwellius proterve dixit, se suspendi prorsus nolle. Quod quo pertineret, et in quam sententiam dictum esset, latere certe nos non potuit. Itaque nos ipsi quominus auxilio essent, aut vim in portam facerent, vetare eos coacti sumus qui, præsentibus satis animis, periculo vitæ suæ metu nos liberassent et exemissent; quemadmodum et civium armatas pro nobis copias, nulla ope præstita, literis nostris, e cubiculi fenestra projectis, eadem de causa ut dimitteremus adducti sumus. Quum ergo tandem nihil restare videremus consilii, nec alia manus violentas, impias et sceleratas, evadendi extaret ratio, Bodwellio supplici atque ad genua nostra provoluto, tradentique gladium nobis in manus ut supplicium sumeremus, gratiam eorum fecimus quæ in palatium nostrum toties irrumpendo commenerat. De veneficii seu magicæ crimine obtulit ipse se iudicio, ac quod in reatu tantisper maneret dum advenerit dies decimus Augusti, quo ille se iudiciis sisteret ac causam diceret, luiturus tum pœnas perpetui exilii si religio iudicantium ita censuerit, aut restituendus in integrum si absolvi contingerit. Itemque postea reliquis, utpote ejus sociis, complicitibus et conjuratis, scelerum omnium venia a nobis promissa, quorum e numero quidam nefarius latro et sicarius una nocte ducentos homines promiseue, sine discrimine sexus et ætatis, mares et fœminas, pueros et adultos, trucidaverat. Atque de his omnibus, literis in securitatem ipsorum confectis manu nostra subscripsimus. Ac tandem a meridie, pacato jam tumultu, voce præconis promulgari omnes illi perduelles voluerunt se restitui patriæ, honori et bonis, gratiamque nostram jam recuperasse. Sed quam non lubentes in hæc omnia consenserimus, ac quam non grata ea habuerimus, qui non ignari sumus quid Deus Optimus Maximus officii regii nomine a nobis exigat, vestræ prudentiæ meditandum relinquimus. Eo certe animo eramus nos, ad incitas, ut aiunt, hoc modo redacti, ut nobis faciendum fuerit quod navigantes solent, qui, tempestatibus sævientibus et urgentibus, jacturam faciunt quorundam ut vitam servent et navem incolumem in portum adducant. Nam eodem fere modo, nisi, perdita Repub[lica], extremo vitæ periculo nos exponere voluissemus, æquo animo ignoscenda et ferenda, promissa insuper impunitate, nobis injuria ista fuit. Nec vero idecirco nobis promissorum fidem rumpere in animo est, quod ad honorem nostrum et reputationem id facere arbitremur, dummodo illi vicissim præstent quæ promiserunt. Quod si minus fiat, aut si illi pactis contraveniant, nos, soluti ab obligatione et promissis nostris, quid postea facere eis, data oportunitate, possimus, dispiciemus. Interim vero quid de libertate et securitate nostra sperare queamus, quamvis prolixè fidem, obedientiam et pacificam subjectionem promiserint qui in gratiam recepti, (nam reliquis domesticis proditoribus nullo promissio sumus obligati aut obstricti) non possumus satis tuto affirmare. Etenim cingimur ab iis qui ejus factionis sese nobis invitis ingerunt, quique avelli a nostris lateribus et dimitti nolunt. Ac si qua nobis egredi necesse, aut exire volupe est (in his enim aliqua species etiamnum superest libertatis), aut ipsi, aut eorum aliqui, nos stipantes comitantur et observant, nec fere sine illis quoquam commeare integrum est. Profugerunt autem ex aula consilarii priores et quotidiani ministri plerique nobis fidi, partim metu, partim hujus tumultus et mutationis tædio. Nec nos, per effrænem horum hominum in quorum fere potestate sumus inverecundiam et projectam audaciam, vocare ad nos in aulam quos volumus, nec item consiliarios nobis adhibere, nisi eorum arbitrio, possumus; ita perditis isti nostra auctoritate abutuntur. Sed et eo ipsorum sceleratissima audacia processit, ut de custodia et satellitio ipsi statuere et disponere non veriti sint, dimissis ex veteribus satellitibus nostris compluribus, et conductis aliis qui ipsorum libidini promptum obsequium præstare parati sint. Immo vero officia aulicæ eorum qui nobis inservient suæ quodammodo etiam potestatis facere satagunt, et, tanquam in capta republica, munia his et illis promittunt. Ac tametsi Bodwellius ipse cum paucis quibusdam discesserit ex palatio nostro, ubi a die reditus ad xxviii. ejusdem mensis, quasi in hostico, castra sua posuit; tamen, præterquam quod ille aut in urbe aut in vicinia haud longe hinc se subduxerit, adsunt ejus factionis semper m . . . [word lost through damp: multi?] reliqui in pal[atio], nec inde se excludi aut extrudi patiuntur. Atque hæc omnia pro pace Ecclesiæ et Reipublicæ, quæ magis quam nostra cordi nobis est, patienter hactenus tulimus, indigne illa quidem, et fere in conspectu legatorum vestrorum passi, in quorum præsentia unica fere sita nostra fuit consolatio et auxilium. Nam fortean iis præsentibus non] eruperunt adhuc omnia quæ machinantur: suspiciones certe non leves sunt illos majora et fediora cogitare, et undique vires comparare; sicut et alii quidam, qui pro nobis faciunt, quidam etiam qui adversæ factionis sunt, clientes et subditos suos in armis habent. Quid itaque futurum post discessum legatorum, Deus Optimus Maximus noverit, in cuius manibus vitam et fortunas constanti animæ fiducia collocamus. Nos hæc tanto æquiore animo et meliore spe perferimus quod nullius culpæ et injuriæ erga peruelles istos nobis conscii sumus, in quorum plerosque cumulavimus complura beneficia, parati ideo ad respondendum coram Deo, regibus et principibus, itemque summis regni nostri Ordinibus et iudicibus, si quam justam accusationem adversum nos habere poterunt. Quo magis hanc insignem injuriam nobis illatam, cum summa ignominia et perfidia, vos ad animum admissuros confido (sic), rogantes vos ne auxilio aut consilio vestro nobis, a quibus omnia vicissim officia expectabitis, in hoc afflictissimo et perturbatissimo rerum nostrarum statu deesse velitis. Speramus certe vestra auctoritate motus hos magna ex parte sedari posse, aut saltem plebem, metuentem ob commercia potentiam regni Danici, quæ late mari patet, in officio futuram. Atque hæc vobis, utpote præ aliis omnibus nobis propinquis, fidis, et dilectis, de rebus nostris non sine summo nostro dolore indicata, quantocius propinquis et affinis nostris, patri nostro longe carissimo illustrissimo Megapolensium duci, itemque fratri nostro carissimo, Brunsvicensi duci, innotescere velitis, vestræ voluntatis et iudicii facimus; commendantes vobis unico, post Deum, nostram et conjugis dilectissimæ salutem et incolumitatem, ac vos summis votis obsecrantes, perque Dei gloriam obstantes, ut si quid homines isti perditissimi et sceleratissimi in vitam nostram attentarint, ne id inultum sinatis, sed omnibus modis nostram injuriam non a vobis alienam, sed cum vestra aliqua etiam injuria (ut existimamus) conjunctam, severe vindicetis. Vale frater, affinis et consanguinee longe nobis conjunctissime; et vos item, illustres et amplissimi viri, multum valete.”

To an application relative to pensions payable to monks which were charged upon Dumfermline and the possibility of these being compounded for by the King, the following answer was returned: “Quod primo quaeritur an non transigi possit cum monachis et aliis, quibus annua ex redditibus domini de Dumfermling beneficio veterum abbatum præstantur, ut iis in præsentia Serenissimæ Reginae cedant, utque quod superest ætatis, accepta a nobis aliunde compositione, sine egestate aut inopia degere possint: Id quidem nulla ratione a nobis præstari potest: Quia pauperes monachi, senio et ægritudine confecti, domos antiquas hostulosque et alia in quibus optimam ætatis partem consumpserunt deserere induci nullo pacto possunt: Præterea, quia monachi cum abbate partem collegii constituunt, et sunt de gremio loci, jus annuæ pensionis suæ sibi quisque monachus adeo libere quaesitum existimat, atque ipse abbas, aut alius quis dominus totius domini de Dumfermeling, integrum dominium possidet; neque sperant sibi quicquam posse esse tutum si e suis sedibus dimoveantur. Cum itaque superstitem monachorum exiguus sit numerus, et eorum annua sunt in necessariis totius domini impensis computanda, quæ, ut quondam ab abbate, sic in præsentia a Serenissima Regina (quæ virtute doni morganicæ in illius jure succedit) necessario sunt exsolvenda. Non est quod in eo magnifici domini legati multum laborent, quia ut eorum quisque fatis concedet, illius annua pensio Serenissimæ Reginae et patrimonio domini accrescet.”

On 24 July Bothwell's attack upon the King in Holyrood Palace occurred, and the following narrative is given:—“Vespere ejusdem diei fuimus legati Anglici convivæ, quum Bodwellius in urbem invecus est perinde ac si re bene gesta triumpharet, qui et ex domo proxima hospitio legati tubicines canere jussit. Inter viam autem plurimi accessere amplectentes eum et gratulantes.

“ autem factum id volente et sciente S. Rege, idque consilii sibi propositum ut “ supplex S. Regi factus impetraret delictorum veniam, et noxam purgaret “ quam commeruerat elabendo ex carcere et irrumpendo semel atque iterum
 “ in palatium S. Regis. De crimine veneficii se paratum causam dicere, et vel
 “ ex vinculis, si S. Rex ita jubeat. Nam velle se in carcerem ire libenter donec
 “ de ea causa sententia ferretur. Præstiturum se eum modo ut S. Rex nihil “ fidei, diligentiae, sinceritatis et observantiae in eo desideraret. De Cancellario “ aiebat nunquam se passurum ut in aulam redeat.

“ A prandio S. Rex in hortum suum nos vocavit, ubi exposuit nobis seriem “ totius rei gestae, ac quomodo gratiam Bodwelio fecerat, et quod Bodwelius “ vicissim multa promiserat. Quum autem interrogaretur a nobis an ipso “ volente et sciente essent ea facta, ut Bodwelius nobis persuadere voluerat, “ respondit S. Rex Bodwellium petiisse quidem ut id nobis affirmaret, se tamen “ non potuisse adduci ut in seipsum mentiretur. Quæsivimus deinde an metu “ vel vi expressa fuissent illi aliqua promissa, qui respondit totum ipsius “ cubiculum plenum fuisse nudatis gladiis, nec potuisse satis internoscere
 “ a quibus metueret, vel quibus fideret, ita quasi in theatro res ex composito “ modo inter hos, modo inter illos, agebatur; promisisse autem se gratiam et “ protectionem Bodwelio, illum vicissim multa pollicitem, utpote fidem, stu-
 “ dium, &c. Addidit deinde quod quum cives accessissent ad palatium, et ipse “ paulum recusaret Bodwellii petitioni consentire, dixisse Bodwellium se nolle “ suspendi; id sibi S. Rex persuaderet, inde nos colligere posse, quid expec-“ tandum ei fuisset si denegasset constanter Bodwelio gratiam usque ad

“ Tertio interrogavimus, an vetarent ipsius maj^{em}. agere et imperare quae “ vellet. Tum dixit, promisisse eos obedientiam et subjectionem, sed nescire

“ Quarto quæsivimus, quare Bodwellius non in hospitio suo ubi antea diverte“ batur maneret. Tum respondit S. Rex illum petiisse ut liceret in cubiculo “ esse ducis, eo prætextu ac si pertineret hoc ad ipsius securitatem; se autem “ hoc omnino animadvertere quod non omnes ejus factionis simul ab eo disce“ derent, sicut et in ipso horto modo adessent qui observarent. Atque hæc “ dicebat posse nos ad S. Regem nostrum referre.

“ Die XXVI. Questus S. Rex nobis quod petiissent recentes adversarii “ magistrum of Glams (sic) discedere, quod quum S. Rex negasset se facturum, “ venisse ab eo famulum qui missionem ejus nomine peteret, cui tum abeundi “ veniam dederit. Tum nos, digressi a S. Rege, duximus nobiscum domum “ legatum Anglicum, quem invitaveramus ad prandium. Ibi legatus nobis “ ipse quædam dixit de oratione a se apud S. Regem habita, quod consilium “ dederat uti reconciliatio fieret inter Bodwellium et adversarios, sed S. Regem “ minus hoc probasse; si nos vellemus una se præstituram sedulam operam,

“ Die XXVII. De Bodwellii causa aliquid actum apud Ordines, petente
 “ S. Rege a nobis hoc officii, qui hoc ad securitatem suam pertinere existimavit.

“ Die XXVIII. A meridie Bodwelius ipse per Colvinum misit scripto quæ
 “ S. Regi promiserat, et se causam suam nobis commendavit. Extat illud inter “ reliqua instrumenta a nobis allata. Deinde dixit nobis Colvinus paratum “ Bodwelium ad causam dicendam die dicto, modo et illi causam dicerent qui “ injuste eum accusaverant. Affirmabat serio omnia promissa eum servaturum, “ ac fidum utilemque servum S. Regi se præstiturum, rogabatque ut si qui “ aliter sentirent aut dicerent de ipso, susciperemus ejus patrocinium. Res“ pondimus nos lubenter ea audire, et sedulo S. Regis nostri nomine monere, “ ut fidem datam S. Regi suo præstet, nec in animum inducat omnes a S. Rege “ depellere quos ipse odisset, sed ut facta reconciliatio et pace manerent illi “ suo loco; ipse autem eo loco quo S. Rex vellet contentus esset. Qui tum “ respondit, cum omnibus aliis amicitiam resarciri posse præterquam cum “ Cancellario. Qua de re nihil amplius tum dicere voluimus.

“ Die XXIX. Rogavit nos S. Rex ut ipsi historiam totius rei gestae concipere “ vellemus, ea forma qua indicari S. Regi nostro et Gubernatoribus posset, “ sicut ipse eam nobis commemoraverat, et formam qua causam suam S. Regi “ et illustribus Daniae Gubernatoribus commendari voluit dictavit. Sibi hoc “ aiebat tutum non esse in Regia scribere, quod pauci adessent qui id præstare “ possent, et illi ipsi ita observarentur ut nihil secretius scribere possent quod

“ Die XXX. Attulimus ad S. Regem literas quas scribi voluit, easque “ correctas rogavit ejus Maj. a nobis ad mundum scribi.

“ Die XXXI. Ad mundum scripsit Cragius literas quas S. Rex voluit de
 “ tumultu Bodwellii in Daniam mittere. Fuimus convivæ S. Regis in cœna.”

The volume is bound in a fragment of a 13th or early 14th cent. Antiphonarium, with music, of which another fragment seems to have been used by Crag for his narrative of his mission to England in 1598.* [53 b.]

1593. 18 Sept. Falkland. James VI. to Christ. IV., thanking him for the gift of a lion, “donum vere regium.” The state of affairs here will be told by Steno Bylde, who left not long ago, and who is fully informed thereon. [39 b.]
Received at Colding, 24 Oct.

1594. 16 Apr. Edinb. William Stewart to Christ. IV. Has given to the bearer his answer to the King’s letter of last October, which has been delayed by the difficulty of travelling in winter. Professes continuance of that devotion to his service which for sixteen years past he has always displayed. [39 b.]
Received at Cronenborg, 13 May.

1594. 19 Apr. Sterling Castle. James VI. to the same, announcing the birth of a son [Henry]. Peter Junius [Young] of Setoun (his almoner, and formerly ambassador to King Fred.), will explain why the news was not sooner sent. [Ib.]

1594. 4 Sept. Sterling Castle. The same to the same, thanking him for the reception given to Peter Junius, and for sending Christian Bernicou and Steno Bilde to represent him at the prince’s baptism; who now on their return will give a full account of public and private affairs, and especially of the steps taken to crush the papal Scoto-Spanish faction. [Ib.]

No. 5.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark—continued.Scottish Papers. 1551—1604.

1594. 14 Sept. Holyrood. The same to the same, on behalf of Capt. John Dallachy, who for his services to King Frederick was promised an annual pension of 400 thalers, but has never received anything. [Ib.]
1595. 25 May. Edinb. “Johannes Seringius, Thuringus, Reginae Scotorum minister,” to the same. Has served for some years as preacher to the Queen of Scots, although at first he was only appointed for one year. Begg now to be recalled, as he thinks the Queen will consent to it; and if there is no post vacant to which he can at once be appointed, will be glad to be enabled to prosecute his theological studies by the continuance of his annual pension of 100 thalers and clothing. [Engl., 27.]
- Same date.* The same to the Chancellor and Council of Denmark with the same petition. The Queen, “nunc tam Scotice loquitur quam aliqua princeps fœmina in hoc regno nata.” [Ib.]
1596. 26 March. St. Andrew’s. James VI. to Christ. IV., on behalf of John Buckston, an Englishman, who having fished for many years near Iceland without interruption, has now been stopped by some people of Hamburg, on the ground that they alone have had the right granted them of fishing there. [Scotl., 39 b.]
1596. 19 June. Holyrood. The same to the same, acknowledging the invitation brought by his ambassador Steno Bilde to attend his coronation on 24 Aug. Would most gladly do so were he not hindered by affairs of State which are a much heavier burden to him since the death of the Chancellor; the people would most certainly hinder his leaving the kingdom, as they would have done when he formerly visited Denmark, had he not secretly embarked without their knowledge, with very few followers. The new Chancellor is not yet elected; the papists who were expelled from the kingdom threaten a speedy return, in reliance on the help of Spain; and, further, before the arrival of the ambassador, an expedition against some rebels in the Hebrides had been fixed for 1 Aug. Yet in spite of all these hindrances, he would have endeavoured to go, were not the Queen near her confinement, and she cannot, on the one hand, bear the tossing of a voyage and sea-sickness, nor, on the other hand, can any woman willingly suffer separation from her husband at such a time. Will therefore send ambassadors in his place. [Ib.]
1596. 13 July. St. Andrew’s. The same to the same, on behalf of one Alan Lenton (at the petition of his father Thomas Lenton of St. Andrew’s), who a year ago was summoned by the Admiral (“Thalassiarchæ vestri”) to Denmark, and appointed captain of the ship called The Neptune; which being wrecked near Zarmouth [Yarmouth?] Lenton, on his return to Denmark, was thrown into prison, tried, convicted, and sentenced to pay double the value of the ship and its contents; and being unable to do this, he was sentenced to perpetual imprisonment. But witnesses examined in Scotland throw all the blame on the negligence of a Danish pilot named Anthony, who had been put in charge of the ship by the Admiral himself. [Ib.]
1596. 30 July. Falkland. The same to the same, applying again for payment to Capt. John Dalochie of his annual pension of 600 thalers (400 in the letter of 14 Sept. 1594). [Ib.]
1596. 31 July. Falkland. The same to the same, recommending James Murray, who from his boyhood has been one of his servants, and whom in Norway he made a page of the bed-chamber to the Queen; who now desires to spend a year or two in the court of King Christian. [Ib.]
1596. 19 Aug. “e venatione nostra Dumferliana.” The same to the same, announcing the birth of a daughter [Elizabeth]. [Ib.]
Received at Copenh., 28 Aug.
1596. 10 Dec. Holyrood. The same to the same, applying for satisfaction to Andrew Keith, Lord Dingwall (“dominus a Dignavalle”), for a ship which was given to him for 13,000 thalers by the late King of Sweden, but which was seized and carried to Denmark by Eric Munck, then governor of Norway. That the ship belonged to him alone was certified by letters from the King of Sweden and his council to King Frederick, who promised satisfaction thereon; and when in 1589 Keith was ambassador in Denmark, some brass guns were given him as an instalment; King James has also seen the copy of a letter written by Regent Murray on Keith’s behalf. [Ib.]

No. 5.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark—continued.Scottish Papers. 1551—1604.

1596. 26 Dec. Sterling Castle. The same to the same. The bearer Adam Kindy ["Kindius"], an Englishman, complains that whereas Elend Magnison, the governor of East Iceland, was bound to him for payment of 1,000*l.*, for which, after long delays, he went to Iceland two years ago with a letter from King Christian, he was then compelled to take in payment some merchandise of little or no value, by which he has lost about 500*l.*; peremptory letters are therefore desired to the said governor. [Ib.]

Endorsed, "Hæ literæ anno 1596 datæ, perductæ sunt anno 1602, mense Februario."

1597. 11 June. "Facland." The same to the same, recommending a French gentleman, — Jessey, a servant to the sister of the King of France, who has been spending some months in Scotland, and now desires to travel through Denmark and Germany. [Ib.]

1597. 4 Aug. "Falcoland." The same to the same, re-accrediting Christian's ambassador, Nich. Crag. "Si nihil aliud, fortunatus certe successus qui in charissimæ nostræ conjugis rebus dicti Nicholai maxime opera et consilio sapienter constitutis apparet, ejus fidem prudentiamque abunde testatur. His accedit insignis animi magnitudo, qua, turbulentum et periculoso tempore, seditiosis aliquot qui in palatium nostrum per insidias tum forte irruperant, Seren. vestræ nomine sese fortiter opposuit, quod nobis magno usui fuit." [Ib.]

Followed by a copy.

Same date. The same to the same, asking for some falcons again this year, since from those which he sent last year "non exiguam voluptatem percepimus, nam et volatus altitudine et vivido in prædam impetu generosi apparebant." [Ib.]

1597[-8]. 25 March. Holyrood. The same to the same. Delight of himself and his wife at meeting their brother Udalric, Duke of Holstein, who has come to Scotland, after travelling through France and England. But he declares that he is bound by Christian's order to be back in Denmark before 1 Apr., so that he has no sooner entered Scotland than he must leave. Begg that at any rate he may be allowed to remain until the season of the year may make his voyage safer. If he was allowed nearly a whole year for France, why should so little time be granted for seeing his brother and sister and their children? [Ib.]

1598. 31 May. Holyrood. The same to the same, on the departure of the Duke of Holstein. Thanks him for his reply to the former letter, written the day after its receipt. Desires that the want of magnificence in the Duke's reception may be ascribed to his being treated not as a foreign prince but as a dear brother; and wishes that, as he has no brothers of his own, he may be often refreshed by the company of those whom he regards as brothers-german. Sends with him Sir William Stuart of Houstoun, whose return as speedily as possible is desired on account of an intended expedition in the summer against some islanders, a share in which is entrusted to him. [Ib.]

Received 18 June.

[Same date.] Holograph letter from the same to the same, accrediting Sir William Steuart, who was often sent to Fred. II., and whom "cum secretioribus quibusdem mandatis instruximus," upon which he begs him to consult one or two of his councillors. [Ib.]

Same date. The same to the Chancellor of Denmark, recommending Sir William Stuart and his mission, and requesting his speedy despatch back. [23.]

Same date. The same to Christ. IV., recommending the bearer, the Baron of Burlie, of Balgarvie, who attaches himself to the company of the Duke of Holstein out of a desire to travel. [39 b.]

Received 18 June.

1598. 13 June. Certificate (on parchment) that John Gibson, master of the ship St. Peter, has paid the duty on a cargo of coal to be transported to Denmark. [72 b.]

1598. 18 June. Representation by Sir "William Steuart" to Christ. IV. as to King James' right of succession to the Crown of England, for which Christian's support is desired. Germ. [71.]

No. 5.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark—continued.Scottish Papers. 1551—1604.

1598. "19 [9?] Cal. Quint." [23 June?] Rough draft of a reply to Sir W. Stuart. [72 a, ii.]
1598. 7 July. Holyrood. James VI. to Christ. IV., with a complaint preferred by Robert Flescher, "Taodunensem," that in Aug. 1573 Nigell Zout, the commander of a Danish fleet, seized a ship belonging to Flescher's father when lawfully sailing from Scotland to Sweden, and sold it and all its contents by auction at Copenhagen; the owner afterwards in vain went to Denmark to obtain compensation, although provided with documents from the magistrates of Edinburgh, and died worn out with affliction, leaving a wife and seven children in poverty. [39 b.]
Countersigned, "J. Elphinstoun, secret."
- Same date.* The same to the same, accrediting David [Cunningham] Bishop of Aberdeen and Peter Young ("Junium") of Seton as his ambassadors, sent to consult Christian (whose judgment he values above that of all others) on some weighty affairs. [Ib.]
Countersigned, "J. Elphinstoun, secret."
1598. 2 Aug. Reply of Christ. IV. to the application of the Scottish ambassadors. Would be unable, in the present disturbed state of Europe, to assist King James with troops in case of a disputed succession to the Crown of England. Copy. [72 a.]
1598. 10 Aug. "Falcoland." James VI. to Christ. IV. Sends the bearer to procure some falcons, "ex eo præsertim genere qui nullius industriæ ferociam deposuerunt." [Ib.] Received 16 Sept.
1598. 26 Oct. Dalkeith. The same to the same, thanking him for the falcons received on 23 Oct., which were sent by Joachim Braon. Regrets that he cannot at once send the twenty English greyhounds [?"Molossi"] which he desires, because he seldom or never hunts in that way, and therefore has none at hand, while Braon desires to return at once lest his voyage should be blocked by ice; but will take care to forward twenty of the best kind in early spring. [Ib.]
Received at Cronenburg, 8 Nov.
1599. 29 July. "Falcoland." The same to the same, sending the twenty dogs he desired. The delay in writing has been caused by the violent north winds which have prevailed almost for the whole half year, so that sailing to Denmark was attended with the utmost danger, and partly also by ignorance as to where, outside Denmark, Christian was to be found. [Ib.]
- [1599.] Not dated. The same to the same. Hears that he has prohibited to the English their fishing at Iceland; asks that he will give leave to George Bruce of Culros to fish there for the next ten years with ships manned by English crews. [Ib.]
1600. 26 Apr. Holyrood. The same to the same. The severity of the winter has hitherto prevented the communication of his thanks for the hawks which were sent. His wife (who is expecting her fourth confinement) and their three children are well. [23.]
Received at Cronnisborg, 24 May.
1600. 26 May. Holyrood. The same to the same, recommending the two sons of the Baron de Vitry, Colonel of the French Guards, who are coming to visit Denmark. About two years ago they travelled through Britain, with letters commendatory from the King of France, and were kindly received by King James; and on their return to France made such mention of him and all his "ut nullum unquam tam exile beneficium utilius collocatum merito existimaverimus," and both father and sons have been since then as much interested in Scotland as if they had been born there. [39 b.]
Received at Helmstadt, 5 July.
1600. 6 July. Sterling. The same to the same, recommending Guy Galde, a young Dane, who, after some years spent in James' service, desires now to return home. [Ib.]
Received at Copenh., 1 Jan. 1601.

No. 5.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark—continued.Scottish Papers. 1551—1604.

1600. 31 Aug. Glasgow. The same to the same, on the Gowrie conspiracy.

 “ manibus ceciderit.” Sends the bearer, James Chalmers, to give a full narrative “ a capite ad calcem.” [Ib.] 1600. 28 Nov. Holyrood. The same to the same. Thanks him for letters brought by Chalmers on 20 Nov. and by Reyter on the 24th, and for some falcons. Is greatly troubled at the news of the dispute between the King of Poland and Christian’s father-in-law [the Elector of Brandenburg], since the absolute right of the latter to the dukedom of Prussia is most evident. Cannot send an embassy himself to Poland on account of the navigation being blocked by ice, but desires that Christian’s ambassadors should also represent him; and sends letters patent (“diploma”), sealed with the great seal, confirming in his name whatever they may do or say in the matter, in the senate of Poland. [Ib.] Received at Copenh. 21 March 1601.
1601. 24 March. Holyrood. The same to the same, asking for some hawks, and also that two places, “Danice legers dicunt,” in Denmark or Norway, may be assigned to the bearer, exclusively, for procuring them. [Ib.] 1601. 12 July. Holyrood. The same to the same. Sends James Durram on an embassy (according to his letter sent by Blakater not long ago), but as it is about a small matter he does not wish much time or expense to be bestowed on it, and therefore asks for Durram’s return as soon as possible.
 The following postscript is added by King James himself: “Mi frater, servo “ isti nostro in suis negotiis, sua gratia et autoritate, nostra causa, affuturum
 “ certo confidimus.” [Ib.]
 Received at Cronenberg 26 July.
1601. 8 Aug. Falkland. The same to the same. Letter commendatory, in the highest terms, for Sir William Stuart, with whose services he is very unwilling to dispense, and only does so because he knows how carefully and honourably
 Stuart is summoned by King Christian as if he were one of his own. [Ib.]
 Received at Cronenberg 26 Aug.
1602. 2 March. Dumfermline (“Fermelinodunum”). The same to the same, announcing the birth of his third son [Charles], “qui tam insignem suæ indolis “ speciem, etiam a tenerrimis unguiculis, prodit, ut formæ elegantia et mem-
 “ brorum decenti symmetria cæteros fratres longe exsuperet.” [Ib.]
 Received 28 Apr. 1602.
1602. 7 May. “ad Fermelinodunum.” The same to the same. Was greatly pleased by the arrival from Denmark of the bearer in time to be present “in “ solenni actu quo filius noster natu tertius . . . sacrosancti Baptismatis “ lavacro erat abluendus.” [23.]
1602. 1 Aug. Falkland. The same to the same. Sends James Durram, to give and receive tidings of their mutual welfare. [Ib.]
1602. 19 Aug. Falkland. The same to the same, recommending Hennink Mildenitz (who has been from his youth one of his wife’s servants) on his return to Denmark. Sends with him two horses, “quos gradarios vocant.”
 [Ib.]
1602. 22 Dec. [“xi. cal. Jan. anni 1603.”] Holyrood. The same to the same, on behalf of David Logan, who had gone to Bergen to claim the surviving son (not five years old) and the goods of his brother William Logan, who with the rest of his family had died of the plague; but who, as being unknown at Bergen, had met with refusal. [Ib.]

Many of the Queen's letters simply contain sisterly and family greetings.

Not dated. Petition to the King of Denmark from Gilbert Menzes and George Young, citizens of Aberdeen, about the seizure of a ship. Dan. Copy. [40 b.]

A volume of official transcripts of diplomatic papers between Scotland and Denmark, from 1426 to 1564, chiefly relating to the question of the Orkneys. [81.]

Sealed; the cord attached to the seal runs through the lower margin of the whole volume, which is bound in a parchment cover. It commences with the treaty for marriage between James III. and Margaret, 8 Sept. 1468; upon which follow copies of the commission of the Earl of Rothes, and letters and papers relating to his embassy and that of the French ambassador in 1549-50, with a few later documents; and ends with the treaty between King Eric and James I. of Scotland, at Bergen, 29 July 1426, containing an exemplification of the treaty between King Magnus and Alex. III. in 1266.

1751. Copy, on parchment, of an official reply in Latin from John Berg, governor of Christiania, to an application from John Traill on behalf of the inhabitants of Orkney and Shetland, who still use the old Norwegian weights and measures (dated at Edinb. 1 July 1751), in which he requested to be informed of the capacity of the Norwegian dolium or barrel, and how many barrels make a last. The Norwegian barrel, used for butter, oil, fish, liquid pitch, &c., contains three ankers; each anker = 15 kans; a kan = 4 lbs. 8 oz. of water; and 12 barrels make one Norwegian last. [83.]

“Memorandum on the impignoration of the Orkney and Zetland islands, and on the “right of redemption retained by the Crown of Denmark”: a paper written by Mr. Arthur Laurensen, of Lerwick, in 1859. [82.]

II.—SUPPLEMENTAL ENGLISH PAPERS. 1548–1607.

Contained in a parcel of papers chiefly relating to English mercantile affairs in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, numbered “82 E. 40a.”

1548. 22 Sept. }
1549. 12 May. } Dantzic. Two letters from English merchants at Dantzic (Thomas Bannister, Rob. Sibston, &c.) to Christ. III. Germ.

1549. 5 July. Copenh. Strongly-worded complaint addressed to Christ. III. by merchants of Copenhagen against the piracies of the English; one John Wulf, while claiming in England his stolen goods, and provided even with a letter from the King, has lost not only his ship and his goods, but his life.

Various other papers relating to complaints of Danish merchants, with lists and particulars of cases, going back in one instance to 1519.

1552. 26 March. Lond. Letter to the same from Thomas Bannister (“Bansther”) Germ.

Not dated. Memorial to the same from Robert Owen, of Dantzic. Germ.

1552. 1 June. Lond. “Jacobus Deidonanus” (an agent sent from Denmark to claim satisfaction for the wrongs done to merchants) to the same. “Quod ad causas subditorum vestre maj. attinet, in quibusdam accepi satisfactionem, in aliis expecto satisfactionem, aut responsum regis Anglie et senatorum regni ad vestre maj. literas;” but some cases are too old, and some too uncertain. Sixty ships go annually from England to Iceland. Parliament has been sitting for some months at London: “collecta est, primo, regi bona summa pecuniaria; moneta nova argentea facta; constituti mille equites qui semper parati erunt ad aulam ad vitandas seditiones; ordinati trecenti anteambulones, qui ad custodiendum regem semper adsint, rubeis tunicis induti. Quatuor equites aurati, preter ducem olim protectorem, decollati ac suspensi sunt, propter conspirationem contra dominos consiliarios regis; varii nobiles et episcopi in turrim conjecti; tanta est hic animadversio et punitio in seditiosos, ut nullibi terrarum major. Prohibita est legibus omnis usura. Constituta remedia pro pauperibus, nimirum hospitalitatis edes ordinate, pro claudis, cecis et egrotis pauperibus. Alios senes et decrepitos alunt suos ibi notos singule parochie; robusti et juvenes mendicantes extenduntur ad labores.” General European news; the war between France and Germany; in France cardinales, episcopi, cum tota nobilitate civili, non solum reliquias suas ac calices, sed etiam argentea sua vasa, potius quam eorum dominus hoc bello succumbat, promiserunt; tanta est subditorum in Gallia erga regem suum dilectio. Quod ad religionem attinet in Anglia, per omnia consentiunt cum Germanis, nisi quod in sacramento sunt Swingliani, 2°, nullas habent imagines in templis, tertio, omnia canunt vernacula lingua, quarto, monasteria omnia dejecta, nulli monachi.”

Received 29 June.

See App. to 46th Report, 1884, Royal Libr., p. 68.

1552. 10 July. Lond. The same to the same; a further report of his proceedings. “In quibusdam causis Alexandri Lyall accepi satisfactionem; quedam ipse Rex promisit se satisfacturum, literasque mihi ad questores suos dedit ut mihi satisfacerent summam fere mille dalerorum pro bonis quibusdam captis que ad sue maj. usum pervenerint.” But in some cases the debtors are dead, some are abroad; the pirate who had the goods of Andrew Byld is in prison in Flanders for piracy; some cases too old, some too vague, some very unjust in their claims, even asking 300 thalers per cent., some bringing charges against innocent persons, which would have involved the writer in serious trouble had he not been favoured by the Council. There is great goodwill shown, not only an account of the old alliances between the two kingdoms, but chiefly on account of their agreement in religion. Thomas Banister, a citizen of London, has, on bended knees, asked for and obtained the King’s letters on his behalf to King Christian, for the restoration of some ships and goods detained at Dantzic; his petition is enclosed.

Received 8 Aug.

No. 5.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark—continued.Supplemental English Papers. 1548—1607.

1557. 7 Feb. See under 1567—8.
1560. 8 Sept. Windsor. Queen Elizabeth to Adolphus, duke of Schleswig-Holstein, for the recovery of a ship of Bremen, wrecked on the coast of Ditmarsh, and laden with arms procured for her service by Sir Thomas Gresham, her agent at Antwerp, viz., 745 “corselettes,” 584 “ex illo bombardarum” “genere quas curriers vocant,” and 557 morions.
1561. 11 July. Gottorf. Duke Adolph of Holstein to King Fred. II. of Denmark, about the preceding. Germ.
1561. 12 July. Greenwich. Queen Elizabeth to Fred. II., forwarding a petition from Cuthbert Vaughan about some wrong done to him by the King’s officers in Norway.
The petition of Vaughan to Queen Elizabeth.
Certificate by Will. Cecill as to the truth of the particulars; Vaughan having laded his ship with arms, shoes, shirts, &c., bought for the use of the garrison at Berwick.
1561. 8 Oct. St. James’s. The same to the same, about acts of piracy committed three years before in the port of Wespemde upon the ships of Will. Causton and others, by some Scotchmen named Thos. Nicolson and John Hogge, and about satisfaction for which the King had written to the Queen of Scotland.
- [1564?] Petition to Queen Eliz. from Will. Peterson, Geo. and Franc Chatfeilde, and others, of London, about the capture of a ship of Whitby belonging to them, by the Lubeckers [in 1563]; with an answer by Barthol. Busman, of Lubeck, in German.
1564. 25 Apr. Windsor. Queen Eliz. to Fred. II. for protection to the English merchants trading with the Hanse Towns, during the war with Sweden.
1565. 3 Apr. Westm. Queen Eliz. to Fred. II., complaining strongly of the detention of Thomas Valentine at Copenhagen while on his way to Sweden, about whom she wrote in last Sept. (see Report for 1883, App., p. 23), and whose business in no way concerns either Denmark or Sweden.
Received 14 May.
1565. 4 Dec. Westm. The same to the same, thanking him for his answer last summer to her letter about the trading with the Hanse Towns, and renewing her application for the ensuing year.
Received 28 Jan. 1566.
1566. 28 Nov. Westm. The same to the same, on behalf of some merchants of Exeter, whose ship and agents have been seized in Norway, and are now detained at Copenhagen.
1566. 1 Dec. Lond. E. Clynton to the same, about a ship of his own named Juliana, under the command of his servant Rodolph Clayton, which is detained at Copenhagen under false charges of defrauding the customs and of assisting the Swedes.
1566. 7 Dec. Lond. John Hawkyns to the same. Asks for release of two merchant vessels belonging to him, which, when returning from Dantzic, were seized as pirates; whatever his friend John Foxall may promise on his behalf, he will fulfil; hopes, unless otherwise employed by his sovereign, soon to be able to come with a good ship well furnished, to serve the King of Denmark.
See Report for 1884, p. 22.
1566. 8 Dec. Westm. Queen Eliz. to same. The true owners of the ship, about which she wrote in Nov., are not the merchants of Exeter whom she named, but the brothers John and William Haukins, “e quibus Joan Haukinus, “famulus noster, suo quidem merito, multis justis de causis, percharus nobis “existit.”” Begg that their ship, the William Joanna of Plymouth, may be forthwith dismissed.*

* This letter (as well as some others of the Elizabethan series) is noted in the Calendar of the Clarendon S. P., Vol. I., p. 492, but Haukins is erroneously there printed as Hankoy.

No. 5.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark—continued.Supplemental English Papers. 1548—1607.

- 1566[-7] an. ix. 20 Feb. Westm. The same to the same, renewing the annual application on behalf of the merchants trading with the Hanse Towns, and enclosing the following list of their ships :

| The Bonaventura of London ; | — John Roo. |
| The Elizabeth of Newcastle ; | — Rob. Law. |
1567. 13 Apr. Lond. John Hawkyns to the same, thanking him for the restoration of his ship ; but 14 lasts of rye and seven great anchor-cables, of the value of 700 thalers, have been taken out, for which he asks compensation. Had intended to come to serve under his admiral, but the Queen orders him to go elsewhere.
1567. 1 June. Westm. Queen Eliz. to Fred. II. about compensation to Rodolph Clayton, for a ship which (after having been at first detained on two false charges) was impressed for the Danish fleet, and lost.

The same to the same, on behalf of a ship called Philip of Sandwich, belonging to Philip Lewes and chartered by Roger Jenkins of London, which, having been itself captured by pirates, is now detained by the Danish fleet which had in turn captured the pirates.
Received 3 July 1570.

very ports of Denmark, and of the uselessness of appeals to English courts; has given a schedule of the complaints to Dr. Chr. Pareking, and agents of the complainants bring this letter; must have recourse to “extrema remedia” if appeals should be in vain. Two Copies.

1592. 4 June. Greenw. Queen Eliz. to Christ. IV. in reply to an answer in the case of Harvey and others.

Enclosure:—

Petition to the Queen, signed by Will. Harvye, Will. Wolloson, and Christoph. Reade.

Received 12 July.

1592. “Summa mandatorum a ser. Daniæ Rege Christ. IV. ad ser. Reg. Angliæ Paulo Knibbio, J.U.D., datorum.” In the handwriting of Knibbe’s secretary.

1592. 12 Sept. Oxford. Paul Knibbe to chanc. Kaas. “Oxoniam veni 10 Sept., postquam cum d. Christ. Parkingo in Stockesii villa fuisset collocutus, a quo intellexi Reginam adhuc apud plerosque illustres viros, tam comites quam barones, Walliæ proximam diversari, quod vulgo hic vocant, esse in progressu; neque Oxoniam venturum ante 21 hujus mensis, et augurabatur pestis causa (quam illa vehementissime horret) me vix ante mensem unum ex eo tempore auditum iri.” He therefore resolved to leave London at once for better and purer air. He is told he certainly will not be able to return before winter, as there are many persons in prison who are all first to be examined, and those who cannot give satisfaction in money will be executed. But the Queen is said to be extremely angry with some agents of the Danish merchants, who have obstinately refused to accept the offers which were made by her command. Is now awaiting answers to letters which he has written to the Lord Treasurer and to Parcking. General French and English news. “*Heri huc allatum est mille Hispanos, qui non procul ab his littoribus, aliquot menses oberrantes, multas Anglicas naves expoliarunt, tandem in continentem insulæ expositos tres arcis igni tradidisse inter Falmuthum et Plemmuthum; qui an ibi pedem figere in animo habeant, adhuc incertum est. Accurritur uadique sedulo ad illud incendium restinguendum, et haud scio an illa nova non sint mææ negotiationi remoram aliquam interjectura. Præter hæc nihil habeo, nisi quod certissime confirmatur Furbacherum, Ipswicensem capitaneum, navem illam Hispanicam, præmonitricem adventus ceterarum (quam vocant Caravella d’avisio) magnitudinis 1,500 tonnarum, vel 750 lastarum, ut vocant, captam in portum Plemmuthensem introduxisse; in qua repertæ sunt 700 tonnæ piperis, octingentæ massarum auri et argenti; quin et Comitum Cumberlandiæ cum majore numero subsequi.*”

1592. 1 Oct. Lond. “In ædibus Meetkerchicis.” The same to the same. On 22 Sept. the Queen came to Oxford; “misit ad me postridie qui mihi significarent me circa horam pomeridianam secundam, die Dominico, auditum iri: dictaque hora nobiles aliquot misit qui me ad Reg. ipsius Ma. sisterent: qui cum me reluctantem et renitentem in currum Reg. ipsius Ma. sublevare vellent (cum tamen vix decem passibus ab eo ipso loco ubi rursus desiliendum fuisset abessemus) vi aliqua utentes, me, qui tenello sum corpore, ita compresserunt, ut fere quod supererat adhuc vitalis spiritus una expresserint. Itaque me semianimem, brachiis ipsorum innixum, in domum retulerunt, et quibuscunque potuerunt modis refocillantes, spiritum fugientem revocarunt, et quid mihi evenisset serenissimæ Reginæ significarunt. Ea, misso viro nobili una cum d. Parekingo, cum simul utrumque et casum meum et spem superesse convalescentiæ intellexisset; qui hunc meum casum quidem condolerent, sed tamen jubere esse bono animo; nihil enim mihi defore rerum ad morbi mei curationem necessarium, nec medicorum operam, nec pharmaca; tantummodo valetudinem imprimis curarem, se paratam esse singulis diebus, cum cognoverit me rectius habere, audire me, et hinc expedire quo adhuc ante hyemem domum redire liceat. Ego, gratis Reg. ipsius Ma. actis quas debui, statui differendam rem in crastinum dum paulo plus virium accessisset.” But in the night he thought what affright it would cause to the Queen, “alioquin natura pertimida;” if anything should unexpectedly happen to him when in her presence; and therefore proposed to submit to her in writing what he had to say. This she approved, and he therefore sent the speech which he had intended to deliver, with all its salutation, “quæ cum illa corporis motu grata sibi esse significasset (miseram enim, cum d. Parckingo, qui hæc omnia “observarent)”; she then sent back to him for fuller particulars of the various complaints, saying that she would take care this time to give full satisfaction. Afterwards, having read these twice, she returned them for insertion of dates, and the names of the judges before whom the cases were tried, against whom she vehemently inveighed, and said she would on this occasion herself discharge the office of a Commissary, and when the examination was complete would appoint those who should make final settlement. But as she was about to go further on her progress, and he was not able to follow, she desired him to await at Kingston her return to Hampton Court. This is all he has done in two months; one month being occupied in his journey, the other in waiting for the Queen. “Hisce amanuensis mei manu, cum mea, ob corporis ingravescentem “imbecillitatem, uti non possem, subscripsi.”

See Report for 1883, App., pp. 50, 51.

Has communicated to the ambassadors some complaints about non-observance of the commercial treaty.

Thanking him for his mediation with the King of Hungary and Duke of Bavaria on behalf of the Palatine, and for his endeavours to procure the liberation of Charles' nephew Robert. 95. 1642. 28 July. York. Sends Joseph Avery, at the desire of the Company of Eastland merchants, instructed on their behalf.
96. 1642. 28 Nov. “Redding.” Thanking King Christian for sending his ambassador Cornifix “Ulfil”;—“eundem, prout Ser^{tes} vestra postulabat, certiozem fecimus tam de rø quam causa tumultus regnum hoc nostrum infestantis, unde innotessere (sic) possit non nisi post “omnes benigni Principis populum seductum reducendi contritas vias, “ad arina non defensandæ magis personæ et dignitatis propriæ quam “religionis et libertatis subditorum vindicandæ justa et necessaria “amplicasse” (sic). Holograph.
97. 1643. 10 March. Oxford. Thanks King Christian for the help offered through “Wlfil” in his late embassy; begs that this may be realized now in this spring, and for this purpose sends John Pooley, “loco Juliani “Fontaney, egregii nostri equisonis, jam Londini per rebelles incar- “cerati, dum eo cum literis nostris, in hunc sensum, ad Ser^{tes} vestram “munitis, iter in Daniam parabat.” Holograph.
98. 1643. 10 June. Oxford. Thanks King Christian for his reception of John Pooley, whom he sends again fully instructed. Holograph.
Endorsed, “Haderslebiæ, 31 Octobris 1643, mihi traditæ.”
Not dated. Queen Henrietta Maria to the same. Since the gentleman whom the King sends can hardly execute his mission, on account of the difficulty of the passage and the fact that he was known to have come from King Christian, men being consequently sent to apprehend him, she is obliged to instruct another who is not so well known, to bring his reply. His instructions are obliged to be in cipher, on account of the danger of the journey: “vous ne croyres (sic) pas, sil vous plait, que le “Roy aye autre intantion que de vous satisfaire dans ce que “vous desires: seullemant la deligance et le secret est require “dans la faire, pour les raisons que ce jantilhomme vous dira.”
Holograph.
Endorsed with the same date as the preceding.
99. 1643[-4]. 15 Feb. Oxford. Sends John Cochran to represent the state of affairs and to ask for assistance, “latius in dies grassante rebellione, “subditis etiam nostris Scotiis non modo in conscientiam sceleris sed “in participationem armorum et violentiæ ascitis.”
100. 1644[-5]. 16 Jan. Oxford. Recommending Col. Sir James Murray, who, having suffered much from the rebels, desires now, on being released from prison at London, to visit Denmark.
Countersigned by Lord George Digby.
Received at Copenh., 2 Apr. 1645.

No. 5.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark—continued.Letters of Charles I.

101. 1644[-5]. 12 March. Oxford. Has received King Christian's letter, dated at Copenh., 30 Nov., from his agent John Henderson, but unhappily cannot furnish him with the naval supplies which he desires; for his own fleet and most of the merchant-vessels, and all the best-frequented ports, are in the hands of the rebels; and of those merchant-vessels which are in the western ports some are not fit for war, others are employed in the transport of arms and ammunition and the defence of the coasts and harbours, and many are fitted out at private expense under letters of marque to harass the rebels' commerce, and cannot be compelled to undertake other service.

Countersigned by Digby.

Received at Copenh., 2 Aug. 1645.

For Henderson's arrest, see under date 30 June, among the miscellaneous papers following.

102. 1645. 20 July. Hereford. It is a great consolation to him in the unfortunate condition of his affairs to learn that King Christian is freed, by the peace which has been made, from those things which hitherto have hindered him from asking Christian's help. Sends therefore "le Chevalier Cokran" to communicate now his requests. Holograph. French.

Received 10 Apr. 1646.

103. 1645[-6]. 26 Feb. Oxford. In the last summer suffered such reverses that he is reduced to the last extremity. The rebels are now endeavouring to overthrow the monarchy altogether, and to substitute an aristocracy, or rather a democracy. "Hæc moliri elucide nunc apparet, rejectis imo et spretis nunciis nostris, in quibus nihil a nobis denegatum est quod sine interitu imperii, vel salva conscientia, concedi potuerimus; imo ibi omnia concessa sunt quæ ad rationem securitatis ipsorum et solamen populi referri potuerint." If the rebellion prevail, the interest of all the neighbouring monarchs is concerned; but material help can only be looked for from Christian. Begg that he will send 3,000 or 4,000 foot soldiers, with cannon and powder, to be landed at Yarmouth or Lynn about the end of March, at which time and place he will be there himself in person with an equal number of cavalry to receive them. Sends this letter by Curtius, his Resident at Frankfort, through whom he begs the reply may be sent.

Holograph, countersigned by Nicholas; almost entirely in cipher, but with two deciphered copies.

1646. $\frac{2}{12}$ May. Frankfort. Letter from Sir Will. Curtius to King Christian, enclosing the preceding, which he only received on 28 Apr.; the vigilance of besiegers having prevented its leaving Oxford or coming from London. It is written in the cipher he uses, and he sends, as commanded, a deciphered copy. Does not doubt but that some easier and shorter way may be found for forwarding the reply, but if sent through him suggests that it should be directed to Paris, "eo enim pleraque momentosa ad Reginam Dominam nostram mittere solent Ministri qui sub auspiciis Majestatis suæ in partibus cismarinis versantur, sæpius experti cuncta quæ speciem saltem regii servitii ferunt, per Londinenses in itinere elidi."

A table of the cipher is added.

Same date. The same to M. Klein, secretary to the King of Denmark, enclosing the two preceding letters as he is not personally known to the King. King Charles' letter was delayed at Oxford "jusques à ce qu'un cavallier du general Farfaix l'ait portée dans Londres," whence Curtius received it on 28 Apr. Begg that the answer may show that there has been no neglect on his part; it may be sent for secrecy through M. Langerman, merchant at Hamburg, to whom this packet is entrusted, who will forward it to one who is a faithful friend. Hopes that Sir John Henderson will soon come through these parts on his return from the Emperor, and will give Klein more information by word of mouth. French.

104. 1647. 30 Aug. Hampton Court. Recommending the case of John Ellmore, whose ship, The White Lyon of London, was seized and confiscated in Norway four years ago. [49 b.]
105. 1647. 25 Oct. Hampton Court. Thanking King Christian for his sympathy and affection as shown in his letter of 5 Sept., and condoling with him on the death of Prince Christian, for whom he has shown his grief outwardly by black clothes “pro more,” but has grieved much more inwardly. As Christian desires to know exactly the state of affairs, in order to see how he can give assistance and advice, sends therefore to him Sir John Henderson, who is fully instructed.

1644. 28 March. Durham. The Marq. of Newcastle (“Guil. Novi-Castriensis”) to Christ. IV. Success of the King’s forces in the north; “cum pæne actum est de rebellibus domesticis, tum Scoticæ res in lubrico sunt.” Sends Col. Sir John Cockeran to give information. All that is wanting is abundance of arms and gunpowder. [27.]
Received at Copenh. 26 June.
1644. 25 June. Memorial given by Cochrane to Christ. IV. of the condition of affairs in England. The Scotch have made a league with Sweden, and have promised in return to allow the Swedes to levy troops; they have already 1,000 seamen and 2,000 foot soldiers ready for transportation to Sweden as soon as a stipulated sum is paid, and when Cochrane was at Hamburgh he found there a Scot named Mowett, who was commissioned from Sweden to receive 40,000 thalers at Amsterdam for the purpose. The Parliament of England has rejected propositions from the King three times made; and, on the urgent mediation of the French ambassador, has consented to treat only on condition of the preliminary concession of three points: 1. That the treaty between the Parliament and the Scottish rebels be ratified; 2. That episcopacy be abolished; 3. That the Assembly of Divines (“perniciosorum et infimæ notæ hominum synodum”) be sanctioned. But the King’s affairs are prospering in Scotland and the north, where all that is needed is a supply of ammunition, which cannot be sent from other parts for want of ships.

III., which is found in the register of royal letters, is dated 19 July 1651. See also a letter from Christ. IV. to Charles I. of 20 Nov. 1647, infra, p. 67.

- In letters in Nov. 1654 Petkum writes in depreciation of the former ambassador from Denmark in England, who was still living in London, Hannibal Schested. On 16 Apr. 1658 he commences his letter thus:—"Quoy que par ordre des Parlements les jours de festes soyent abolis, et que l'on ne vaque pas au service divin ces jours la, si est ce que ce peuple fort adonné a la luxe et aux plaisirs, ne laisse pas de les chomer pour faire la desbauche et se rejouir avecq leurs amis, soit dans la ville, soit a la campagne, comme l'on a fait cette semaine de Pasque, c'est pour quoy il ne s'est rien passé icy depuis ma dernière despesche a votre Majesté du 9^e de ce mois." On 7 May following he writes that, the Protector having on the Sunday previous ordered all ministers who preached the Gospel and administered the Sacraments with the ceremonies which were in use before the change of government, no longer to preach in London, they and their hearers complain of the wrong done to them while the Anabaptists, who are subdivided into 20 or 22 sects, are tolerated. On 25 March 1659 he declares with strong protestations, in self-vindication, with reference to the departure of the English fleet for the Sound (which he was, it seems, accused of having caused), that he has never said or done anything to give offence to the English Government.
1654. 13 March. Paris. Charles II. to Fred. III., respecting the money sent through Uhlefeld; explaining the fact of his non-knowledge of it, as in the enclosures in Petkum's letter of 31 July, infra. [59.]

1654. 31 July. Hague. Simon Petkum to Fred. III. Encloses as desired the original letters of the Chancellor of the King of England; is ready to go, as commanded, to London, but begs to be furnished with such a passport as may guarantee him against the dangers and affronts to which he would otherwise be subject. Fr. [55.]

Enclosures:—

1. 1654. 19 June. Paris. Sir Edw. Hyde to Petkum. Thanks him for his letter of the 11th; the King will remove to Germany as soon as he receives some money assigned to him by France; sends an extract containing the truth of the case about Mons. Vulfelt, which was only writ to vindicate the King from the reproach of not acknowledging King Frederick's good offices; whereas in truth the first information of that kindness of the King of Denmark came from Lord Wentworth, or the acknowledgment would not have been deferred so long; believes Lord Montrose received the value of what was designed for his Majesty, which would have been as much acknowledged, though at that time the King would rather have had the money for himself. Signed. Engl.

2. "Extract of my [Hyde's] letter to Sir William Bellenden of 24 Apr. 1654." The King never heard of the gift of 24,000 rix-dollars from the King of Denmark until told of it by Lord Wentworth; and then he knew nothing about it, for during the many months Vulfelt was with the King at the Hague and in the many conferences they had together, he never made the least mention of it; had the King received it then, he would have gone to Ireland, whence he was only kept by the want of money. It was true that the King wrote letters often for Lord Montrose, to assist his preparations; but had he received this sum, he would have kept it for his own necessities.

These two papers are in the handwriting of Hyde's secretary, W. Edgeman.

1654. 10 Sept. Hamb. Rich. Bradshawe to the Chanc. of Denmark. Germ. [Commercial papers, 82.]
1654. 3, 10, 17 Nov. } Lond. Four letters of news from Petkum to Fred. III.
1 Dec. } Rosenvinge has sent a translation of a request from the officers of the army to the Protector; "c'est une pièce bien couchée, mais tres dangereuse, et comme un avant-courreur de quelque grand emotion." The fleet also is mutinous. Pride of Hannibal Schested; he is regarded by the people as the first man in Denmark, and as an ambassador. Hears from Paris that the Protector will not make peace with France except on condition of the expulsion of the English royal family. If Blake's fleet, which is in the Mediterranean, should encounter that of the Duke of Guise (fitted out by him at his own expense, for which he has sold or pledged all his property) it will be the ruin of the family of the latter. Schested is in want of money and is trying to borrow, but people will not lend to strangers; the living in London is very dear. [55.]
1654. 2 Sept. Westm. Plain-pouvoir from Cromwell to Sir A. Ashley-Cooper, Sir Charles Wolseley, and Walter Strickland, to treat with Rosenwinge. The initial letter contains a fine Indian-ink portrait of the Protector. Great Seal perfect. On parchment, mounted on silk. [33.]

- Same date.* Answer given to Poley. The King has twice sent supplies of arms and ammunition to King Charles, but as on the last occasion they were seized by the Parliament, does not think it prudent to do anything further until it is known what course the latter may take hereon, and especially if, as reported, they are about to send an embassy.
1643. 4 Nov. “Resolutio secunda M. Brit. regis legato Joh. Poley exhibitâ”; four brass guns and sufficient armament for two ships shall be given him, to secure his safe return; order shall be sent to Ulefeldt to set Will. Craforth at liberty; &c.

No. 5.—Report on Royal Archives of Denmark—continued.Letters of Christ. IV.

1644. 11 March. To Charles I. Deputies from the Parliament have come twice since Poley's departure. The first explained and excused the confiscation of the Danish ship and the injuries done to the ambassador, at the same time declaring that they were only in arms to preserve their religion and their liberty, professing in other things (and indeed boasting "verborum immoderatione, et "magnifice") all reverence and obedience to King Charles, "dummodo iniqui "consiliarii atque hostes religionis et patriæ, ut illos appellant, a consiliis et "regimine arcerentur." The second deputies complained of the inequality of the tolls paid by the English at the Sound, and asked for the restitution of the ships and goods seized on account of the capture of the King's ship. The second request was refused; the first was granted, viz., that English ships should pay no more than those of other nations, "hac tamen addita conditione, "ut quod verbis de obedientissimo suo erga Seren. vestram animo promiserunt, "re ipsa et opere imposterum comprobent demonstrantque, sicuti et ea intentione et spe singulare hoc beneficium a nobis tanquam Seren. vestræ avunculo "iis exhibitum, ut inde commoti, . . . ad pristinum et debitum obsequium "haud inviti redeant."
1644. 12 March. To the Parliament, re-accrediting Will. Barker and Rich. Jenks.
1644. 26 June. To Charles I., re-accrediting John Cochran; together with the answer given the same day to the latter, viz., that on account of the unexpected war with Sweden, the help asked for cannot be given.
1644. 27 Nov. To the same. Hears that some of Charles' ships are lying idle in harbour; sends therefore Sir John Henderson to ask for them, as the increase of the Danish fleet is specially required.
- Same date.* To Earl Patrick Ruthven, requesting him to promote Henderson's application.
1644. 30 Nov. Instructions for Sir John Henderson. He is to ask for eight ships fully equipped, in accordance with the terms of the treaty made in 1621, and also for 4,000 Scottish soldiers; if the latter cannot be sent, he is to enquire whether soldiers can be enlisted in Scotland at a cheaper rate than in Germany.
1644. 10 Dec. To Charles, Prince of Wales, requesting him to promote Henderson's application.
1645. 21 Apr. To the Parliament of England, re-accrediting Rich. Jenks and Thomas Skinner.
1645. 30 May. To the Parliament of Scotland. He commissioned Donald Mackay, Baron de Rees, a year and a half ago, to enlist a regiment in Scotland, who in consequence went to Newcastle, but was shut up there during the siege, and on the surrender was taken and imprisoned "quasi consiliorum hostilium socius." But as he, being a minister and colonel of another King, "nullis partis consilii "et actionibus, quamvis sæpius sollicitatus, se addixerit," his immediate release and safe departure are required.
1645. 5 June. To the Parliament of England. Hears that they have arrested Sir John Henderson, whom he had sent to the King on business in no way injurious to either side of the belligerents in England, on the ground of his having in former years opposed them; knows nothing of these former acts, but as Henderson was now simply commissioned as his envoy on his business, requires his immediate release.
1645. 10 Sept. To King Charles, and, mutatis mutandis, to the Parliament of England, offering his mediation, and a third and longer letter to the Parliament of Scotland pressing for their co-operation herein; sends Sir John Henderson now as preliminary agent, and will presently send others fully instructed.
1646. 23 Feb. Testimonial in behalf of John Taylor, who in the late war with Sweden served in Norway for 13 months.
1646. 3 June. To the Parliament of England. Learns from the letters brought by their agent [Rich.] Jenck, their objections against Henderson, and that his mediation at this time appeared to them to be of no use as they had forwarded to King Charles their proposed articles for a treaty. For Henderson, he can only say that he ought to have been treated better when he came before them in the writer's name. On the other matter their deputy will represent his reasons for his offered mediation.

1646. Same date. To the same, with reference to their letter of 24 Nov. 1645, respecting some points in the agreement of 26 Apr. 1645; has commissioned some of the senators to treat thereupon with their deputy.
1646. 20 Aug. Letters patent on behalf of certain persons who having let out some farms in Shetland, “nostræ Bergensis præposituræ cathedralis pertinentias,” cannot now obtain their rents; appealing to the officers there of the King of Great Britain to assist in the recovery.
1646. 13 Sept. To Queen Henr. Maria, and to Prince Charles, in answer to letters brought by the Chamberlain of the latter, John Poley.
The answer given to Poley; Approves of the Prince’s resolution to go to France, and will be willing to contribute to his maintenance; but the expense of the late sudden (though short) war with Sweden has involved Denmark in debt which it will require years to discharge, and he cannot therefore at present do what he would.
1647. 13 June. To the Parliament of England, acknowledging a letter brought by Rich. Jencks announcing the confirmation of the treaty made last year. Cannot at once make payment of the sums due to some merchants, but has proposed to Jencks the way and conditions under which it shall hereafter be done.
1647. 9 Sept. Answer to an appeal from Lord Mackay for payment of a pension; the pension was never actually granted, but only proposed.
1647. 20 Nov. To Charles I., asking for safe conduct for two Portuguese Jews, brothers, Simon and Henry de Casseres to trade at the island of Barbados; and to Philip Belke, governor of the island, in behalf of the same.
1648. 15 Feb. To Col. Henderson. Hearing that peace is likely to be made in England, desires him to take care that nothing be admitted in any treaty that may be prejudicial to the treaties existing between Denmark and England, and, if he thinks it advisable, to communicate this to King Charles.

Has received from Lord Wentworth the communications with which he was charged; has appointed two senators to confer with him, on the understanding that nothing will be proposed that can involve the kingdom of Denmark in any danger.

NO. 6.—LISTS OF CREATIONS OF PEERS AND BARONETS, COMPILED FROM ORIGINAL DOCUMENTS IN THE PUBLIC RECORD OFFICE.
 —RICHARD III. TO CHARLES I. (1483—1646.)

DESCRIPTIVE NOTES.

The following list of creations of Peers (including Earls Marshal), prepared from the Patent and Charter Rolls and other original sources of information preserved in the Public Record Office, has been undertaken in continuation—in a concise form—of Appendix No. 2 to the "Reports from the Lords Committees appointed to search the Journals of the House, Rolls of Parliament, and other Records and Documents for all matters touching the Dignity of a Peer of the Realm, &c., &c., presented to the House 12 July 1819."

That Appendix contains creations to the end of the reign of Edward IV., and—as no creations have been found during the reign of Edward V.—the present list commences from the accession of Richard III. It concludes with the end of the reign of Charles I.

The Patent Roll Calendars have been searched for entries of creations enrolled on the Patent Rolls, the Rolls themselves being consulted only for purposes of verification and detailed information.

In addition to creations by Patent, the list includes the first-recorded mention of Baronies created by Writ of Summons to Parliament: this information has been taken from the enrolment of Summons on the dorse of the Close Rolls till the 21st year of the reign of Henry VIII., after which date, as such enrolments are no longer found, the Parliamentary Pawns (Petty Bag Office) have been used. The series of Pawns is very imperfect, and, consequently, the names of certain Baronies, mentioned in "Dugdale's Summons" and other printed works, have been altogether omitted from this list, while others do not appear under the date given in those works for their first summons. For instance:—Henry Compton is stated by Dugdale, on the authority of the Journals of the House of Lords, to have been summoned to the Parliaments of 14 and 18 Elizabeth, but his name does not appear in this list till the Parliament of 28 Elizabeth, as no Pawns have been found for any earlier year of her reign.

Such Baronies created by Writ as, through failure of male heirs, passed through the female line, have also been recorded in this list, in order to account for the introduction of new family names—as also cases of husbands summoned to Parliament in right of their wives.

The names also of such eldest sons of Peers as were summoned to Parliament by titles of honour really belonging to their fathers—who were summoned under higher titles—have been included.

The Parliament Rolls have been consulted for matter relative to restoration in blood and honours corrupted and forfeited by attainder—as Private Acts were not recorded on these Rolls after the reign of Queen Elizabeth information from that period has been taken from the Acts of Parliament contained in the Certiorari Bundles among the Rolls Chapel Records.

Several enrolments of confirmation of Patents and Charters have been found on the Confirmation Rolls and are here included.

An exhaustive examination of all the Privy Seals and Signed Bills in the Public Record Office for the period has not been undertaken. It has, however, been considered expedient to consult them with regard to certain dignities which are either mentioned on the Summons to Parliament (as above described) or are stated in certain printed works to have been created, but for which no Patents or Charters have hitherto been found. In a few cases in which all these sources have failed the State Papers have been consulted.

As to the dates of creations, it should be borne in mind that the Enrolments on the Patent Rolls generally give only the day and the month—the year, therefore, is supplied from the ancient official endorsements on the Rolls, which give the regnal years only. In connexion with this point, attention is drawn to the Patents of creation of the Earls of Dorset and Northampton in the years 1603-4 and 1604-5, which were apparently enrolled twice, the earlier Patent in each case being, presumably, the true date of the creation.

The spelling of the Records has been retained as regards the Surnames of the Grantees—the usually accepted spelling has been adopted as regards Titles.

As several dignities are known to have been created in the latter years of the reign of Charles I. for which enrolments of Patents are wanting, such of them have been appended to this list as are mentioned in the work of Mr. Black, late an Assistant Keeper of the Public Records, entitled "Docquets of Letters Patent and other instruments passed under the Great Seal of King Charles I. at Oxford in the years 1642, 1643, 1644, 1645, and 1646," edited from the original Crown Office Docquet Book which (at the time he consulted it) was preserved in the Ashmolean Museum at Oxford. Copies of the patents of creation of most of the dignities mentioned in this Docquet Book are to be found among the Ashmolean MSS., and the reference numbers to them, copied from Mr. Black's printed Catalogue of these MSS., are given in this list.

In addition to the foregoing, a list of Baronets—the enrolments of whose Patents of creation have been found on the Patent Rolls of the reigns of James I. and Charles I.,—has been appended. Record evidence of the creation of certain other Baronets, whose names are included in Betham's Baronetage, has been found among the Privy Seals and Signed Bills (Chancery Series) and the Signet Bills (Chapter House Series). Some names also have been supplied from "Black's Docquets."

"	Thomas Ormond alias Thomas Botyller, Knt.	Earl of Ormond in Ireland.	By an Act of this Parl. he was restored to certain honours lost by the attainder of James Ormond, late Earl of Wiltshire, John Ormond alias John Botyller, Knt. (brothers of the petitioner), and himself in the Parl. of 1 Edw. IV., and the Act contains the following words:—"and that youre said suppliant and his heires be restored " enabled and have all such dignitie estate and preeminence the " name only of the Erle of Wiltshire except." No mention is made in this Act of the earldom of Ormond, but the name of Thomas Botiller, Earl of Ormont, appears among others on a Signed Bill [Signed Bills, Chancery, Bundle 5 A., 19 July, 1 Hen. VII., No. 51] as one of the ambassadors appointed by Hen. VII. to treat with the ambassadors of Francis Duke of Brittany relative to certain treaties between the two countries. It appears obvious that this earldom is the dignity referred to in the said Act. The said James and John had died without issue. The limitation of the English earldom to the heirs male of the body of the said James.— See Charter Roll [No. 197] 27 to 39 Hen. VI., No. 44,—prevented the said Thomas from succeeding to it. The limitation of the Irish earldom was to the heirs of the original grantee. See Charter Roll [No. 123] 2 Edw. III., No. 16.	Parliament Roll [No. 123] 1 Hen. VII., p. 1, No. 27.

VIII., No. 32—when his father Henry Neville was restored in name and blood. By a further Act— See Parliament Roll [164] 2 & 3 Phil. & Mary, No. 22—the said Edward Neville, the father, was enabled to succeed to certain estates pursuant to the will of George formerly Baron Abergavenny, on failure of male issue of Henry then Baron Abergavenny, who died on 10 Feb. 1586-87 without male issue; but the name of the said Edward has not been found on the list of summons to Parl., and it appears very doubtful whether he ever claimed the dignity. See Inq. p. m., 31 Eliz., part 2, No. 58. His son, however, and Lady Fane, daughter of the said Henry, the late Baron, both claimed it, and the King, on recommendation of the House of Lords, recognised the said Edward as Baron Abergavenny by issuing to him a writ of summons to Parl. under that title, and restored Lady Fane to the barony of le Despenser by Patent. * The following information—in the absence of the enrolled Patents, Privy Seals, and Signed Bills—has been supplied from the work of Mr. Black, late an Assistant Keeper of the Public Records, entitled "Docquets of Letters Patent and other instruments passed under the Great Seal of King Charles I. at Oxford in the years 1642, 1643, 1644, 1645, and 1646." It was edited by him from the original Crown Office Docquet Book, which (at the time he consulted it) was preserved in the Ashmolean Museum at Oxford.

By an Act of the Long Parliament passed 4 Feb. 1651-2, cap. 26, intitled "Titles of Honor, Dignities, or Precedencies given by the late King, made void," setting forth that the King "to promote his wicked and traitorous designs against the Parliament and People of England, did use all ways and means to draw unto himself a party to assist him, and did, contrary to the end for which he was entrusted, take upon him to confer upon, and give Titles of Honor, Dignities, and Precedencies, by Patents or otherwise unto such persons as he thought were or might be serviceable to him in the work he did intend to put in execution," it was enacted "That all and every Honors, Titles, Dignities, and Precedencies whatsoever, granted, conferred, or given by the said King since the fourth day of January 1641 should be null and void, and not be assumed, by writing or otherwise, after the 25 March 1652.

Commissioners were "authorised and required to cause to be cancelled and defaced" the said Patents, which the holders were directed to produce in the Court of Chancery. Mr. Black states (preface, page 44) "not only as an authentic Register of Baronetries is the Docquet-book of the Crown Office important, but much more so as it affords proof of the creation of higher dignities, those of the Peerage. For, as the Patents of all such creations are ingrossed in the Office of the Clerk of the Crown, and as it is his duty to procure the sealing of them with the Great Seal, the entry of a docquet in his book is regarded as sufficient evidence that letters patent, described therein, actually passed the Seal and took full effect as a grant from the Crown. The enrolment or non-enrolment of a patent affects not its validity; the sealing of it is everything. If, therefore, no enrolment of a patent can be found, nor the writ of privy seal or the signed bill by which it passed, the next step is to prove the fact of its passing, (if it ever did pass) by reference to the Docquet-book. This was the course adopted in the case of the Leigh Peerage, which was a Barony created by letters patent, not by a writ of summons: no enrolment of the patent could be found, nor was the original known to exist."
